Dief Accuses Gordon Of Encouraging Reds

China Backs Rioters

Hong Kong Curfew Lifted

HONG KONG (AP) — China put pressure on Britain today to meet tough Communist demands in Hong Kong, and Communist newspapers in the British colony urged Chinese residents to renew anti-British fighting.

But Hong Kong was generally quiet. The British government lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday in the six - square-mile industrial district on the outskirts of Kowloon where three days of violence resulted in 118 reported injuries and the death of an 18-year-old Chinese youth, hit by a rock thrown from a rooftop.

Of the 389 persons arrested since the outbreak of violence Thursday, 115 have been sentenced from one to 18 months in jail after waiving trial and pleading guilty to such charges as breaking curfew, unlawful assembly and rioting.

The Communist campaign against Hong Kong unfolded similarly to that in the neighboring colony of Macao.

After anti - Portuguese rioting in Macao and ominous patrols by Chinese gunboats, the colonial administration capitulated to demands for admissions of guilt and compensation to victims.

CALLS FOR REPRIMANDS

A Chinese foreign ministry statement handed to D. C. Hopson, the British charge d'affaires in Peking, accused the British of "fascist atrocities against Chinese workers and residents" and demanded punishment of "all those responsible."

Both major Communist newspapers in Hong Kong, Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Pao, said in front page red-ink stories:

"We are not afraid of their concentration camps. They are not big enough to imprison all our Chinese compatriots. We must dare to fight at any time and any place."

The stories were addressed to the colony's 4,000,000 Chinese—98 per cent of its population.

The Chinese note told the British: "The Chinese government and the 700,000,000 Chinese people firmly support their compatriots in Hong Kong in their heroic and just struggle and resolutely stand behind them."

ITEMS FROM STRIKE

The anti - British demonstrations resulted from a strike by Chinese workers in factories that make artificial flowers.

The Communist New China news agency said British authorities had a factory foreman beat up the workers and then sent in five carloads of police in a "premeditated sanguinary suppression of workers."

The statement handed to Hopson demanded that the British government "instruct British authorities in Hong Kong that they must accept all the just demands put forward by Chinese workers and residents in Hong Kong."

HANDLING OF UNREST CONDEMNED

PEKING (Reuters) — Chinese demonstrators marched to the office of the British charge d'affaires here tonight shouting slogans condemning the British authorities' handling of unrest among Chinese workers in Hong Kong.

The demonstration came after China dramatically entered the troubled Hong Kong situation today with a tough demand that Britain meet all the claims of Chinese workers there

British sources said about 50 demonstrators with flags and placards marched up and down in the street outside the British office and the neighboring residence of the charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson.

The demonstration lasted a few minutes, the sources added.

TEEN-AGED CHINESE SMASH BANK WINDOWS

HONG KONG (UPI) — Apparently inflamed by Red Chinese intervention in a local leftist labor dispute, teen-age Chinese youths staged another riot today in the Kowloon district.

The youths smashed windows in an American Express Bank and a post office, smashed traffic signs and lights and put up "wall posters" denouncing the British and praised Communist Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

NEGOTIATORS WORK ALL NIGHT

Expect Agreement Tonight In Tariff Round Haggling

By HAROLD MORRISON

GENEVA (CP)—Amid alternating hope and gloom, key negotiators in the world's most crucial tariff bargaining continued today to search for compromises to ward off the collapse of four years of effort to trim restrictions affecting billions of dollars in trade and millions of jobs.

Canadian officials said the big struggle has narrowed to a straight fight between the United States and the European Common Market with most other world trading countries sitting on the sidelines praying for a final compromise.

The big four of the Kennedy round—the U.S., the Common Market, Britain and Japan—made a brief attempt at a four-way settlement early today following an all-night session that failed to overcome transatlantic difficulties. They came out of the conference grim-faced without responding to reporters' questions.

Canadian and other negotiators were waiting today for a call to another wider round of talks under the chairmanship of Eric Wyndham White, British-born expert presiding at the tariff talks, but the expected noon call did not arrive. Wyndham White's office said a time for such a meeting could not as yet be fixed.

Canadian Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene, standing by for a decision, commented in an interview that the new wheat pact, hammered out by the Kennedy round negotiators, could fall to the ground if the over-all tariff bargaining collapsed.

He was still hopeful, but made clear that if no agreement could be reached here, efforts would be made elsewhere to put a new higher-priced wheat pact into operation.

The wheat agreement worked out here and awaiting final approval is tied to an international grain pool, financed by industrialized countries to supply needy nations from available commercial stocks. Some of the agreed participants had been enticed by other tariff concessions.

But Japan still held out as a donor participant despite reported high-level direct consultations between Washington and Tokyo.

GENEVA (Reuters) — The European Common Market's chief negotiator said today agreement would be reached tonight on the four-year Kennedy Round talks to liberalize world trade.

Asked at the end of a negotiating session here whether agreement was in sight, Jean Rey replied:

"Soon—this evening."

Rey made his brief comment after emerging from a 40-minute talk with negotiators from the United States, Britain and Japan.

Rousing Welcome For Queen Juliana

MONTREAL (CP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard arrived Saturday night in Montreal aboard a KLM Royal Dutch Airline aircraft on a flight from Amsterdam. They are making a two-week visit to Canada.

The royal couple was met at Montreal's international airport by W. F. Bull, Canadian ambassador to the Netherlands, Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal and a group of other officials.

The Queen and the Prince — in Montreal on a private visit before visiting Ottawa — received a rousing welcome from about 200 spectators on the airport observation roof as they walked across the tarmac to the VIP reception lounge.

Highlight of the visit will be the Queen's unveiling of a memorial in Ottawa commemorating her stay there during the German occupation of Holland in the Second World War.

U.S. MID-EAST POLICY CONDEMNED BY NASSER

LONDON (AP) — Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser charged Sunday that the United States is leading a counter-revolution in the Middle East and trying to inherit British imperialism in the area.

In a message to a Palestine Day conference organized by Arab students in Britain, Nasser said "our other enemies are nothing but subordinates moving in her (America's) orbit and following in her footsteps; they are weak without her, helpless when deprived of her counsel and leadership."

"Britain," he added, "would never remain an hour on Arab soil without American support. Israel could not exist a day without American and military aid."

School Shifts Still Threaten

Two Referendums Pass Easily But Time Short for Work

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

Greater Victoria schools still face the possibility of a shift system in September.

School board chairman Peter Bunn said today that although "everything possible will be done to avoid that situation, we are now in the hands of contractors and manufacturers."

Mr. Bunn sounded the warning in the afterglow of general rejoicing following the solid approval of $14 million in school construction referendums Saturday.

"We shall call for tenders immediately for 26 portable classrooms to solve the pressing problem," he said. "We hope contractors can come up with satisfactory tenders and that the manufacturers of portable classrooms can fill our needs before September."

CLASSROOMS

The classrooms are needed to take care of increased student registration in September.

Without them — and the possibility is real that delivery could be delayed — many schools will be forced to teach in shifts until the prefabricated portable rooms can be erected.

"But we are hopeful that such will not be the case," Mr. Bunn said. "We optimistically did all the preparatory work prior to Saturday's vote and we are all set to go. It's just a matter of getting the tenders in and then hoping that the manufacturers can supply our needs in time."

In the meantime the board isn't losing any time in establishing a list of construction priorities.

A special board meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to decide which schools get the favored spot at the top of the list.

"It's a matter of sorting out which needs are the most urgent," said schools superintendent Joseph Chell. "The entire list is composed of priorities. Now we have to decide which priorities take precedent over others."

Tonight's meeting will probably be the first in a series of special meeting to hammer out construction schedules.

TECHNICIANS

"There are many things to consider," said Mr. Chell. "Not the least of which is the limited number of skilled technicians in the community.

"There are only so many architects, so many construction firms, so many skilled workmen. We have to plan the work so that the program can move smoothly."

Mr. Bunn and Mr. Chell agreed that whatever problems

Manhunt in Calgary For Girl's Killer

CALGARY (CP) — Police searched today for the murderer of Christine Cullen, 7½, whose partly-clad body was found early Sunday on a hill across the Elbow River from the Exhibition and Stampede Grounds.

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine cause of death but a police official said it appeared the girl had been sexually assaulted and strangled, possibly by a skipping rope.

The girl, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cullen, was reported missing late Saturday night after she and four girl friends went for a walk during the afternoon.

The girls told police they went to a parking lot and then attempted to climb a steep path which leads to what is known as Scotsman's Hill. Half way up they met a young man who stopped to talk to them. At this point, one of the girls fell. The man picked her up and told the others to return home.

The girls said the man asked Christine to stay behind for fear of slipping on the steep muddy path, and he would see that she reached home safely. Christine and the man were still on the hill when the other girls reached the road below.

'Reveals Enmity Toward the U.S.'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker attempted without success today to obtain an emergency debate in the Commons on Privy Council President Walter Gordon's weekend speech critical of United States policy on Vietnam.

He accused Mr. Gordon of damaging international confidence, encouraging the Communists in Vietnam, stirring up trouble between Canada and the U.S. and opposing official government policy.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux rejected Mr. Diefenbaker's motion, saying the current throne speech debate provided ample opportunity for MPs to discuss Vietnam.

Spokesmen for all opposition parties backed the Conservative leader's appeal for a special debate.

Mr. Gordon's speech, delivered Saturday in Toronto, called for the full withdrawal of Canadian support for U.S. policies in Vietnam.

The speech, Mr. Diefenbaker said, created a crisis in international affairs "of greatest national and international significance," because it reveals a deep enmity towards the U.S.

The Opposition leader also criticized Mr. Gordon for making the speech outside Parliament while the House is sitting, thus creating a travesty of the principle that ministers' policy statements should be made in the Commons.

WANTS TOP VIEWS

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was of the utmost importance to hear the views of Prime Minister Pearson or External Affairs Minister Martin — "whichever one is directing the foreign affairs of this country."

"The expurgated brushoffs we have been receiving" would no longer suffice.

"I take it that what he (Mr. Gordon) enunciated was government policy," the Conservative leader said.

The wording of Mr. Gordon's speech indicated that it was written elsewhere, "by those close to the external affairs department." It obviously was inspired by the government to create a smokescreen around Canadian policy on Vietnam.

Neither Mr. Pearson nor Mr. Martin was in the House when Mr. Diefenbaker presented his motion. Mr. Gordon was in his front-row seat and smiled when the Opposition leader began his attack.

T. C. Douglas, New Democrat Leader, said that while the NDP opposed the terms of the Diefenbaker motion it thought there should be a debate.

Mr. Diefenbaker, reading excerpts from the Gordon speech, called it a denial of Parliament.

Mr. Gordon's reference to "the weakness and corruption" of the Nationalist Chinese regime was a slap in the face to an ally—Nationalist China.

AIDS COMMUNISTS

His attitude on the U.S. involvement in Vietnam "brings hope to Communists in every part of the world," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The Gordon speech made a debate urgent because no minister could sit in the cabinet and make policy statements that were contrary to cabinet views.

The matter couldn't be effectively raised by the opposition in the throne speech debate.

New Battle Building Up Near Viet Zone

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy ground fighting and severe Communist barrages continued to cause sharply increasing American casualties as a new battle appeared to be building up between the U.S. marines and North Vietnamese regulars just south of the demilitarized zone.

The marines reported 12 dead and 92 wounded in attacks Sunday, and that did not include casualty reports from one of the day's sharpest battles with the North Vietnamese.

Only 27 Communists were reported killed.

In the air, the U.S. command announced the loss of three planes Sunday — matching the number of Soviet-built Mig jets downed by American airmen in dogfights over the North.

One U.S. jet was lost to ground fire in the South, making 179 combat planes downed there since the war began. In the North, one jet was lost to ground fire and one to unknown causes, making 541 combat planes lost over North Vietnam.

HANOI CLAIMS 7

Hanoi claimed seven U.S. jets were downed Sunday.

The three MiGs reported downed brought the American score for the weekend to 10 kills and two probables. The air force announced seven MiG jets were downed Saturday and two probably were brought down.

The three MiGs were downed Sunday during raids four miles from the heart of Hanoi.

SHOWS FLAIR FOR FASHION

Alexandra Arrives, Scores Hit

TORONTO (CP) — Princess Alexandra, stylishly - dressed and thrilling children and adults by talking to members of the welcoming crowd, arrived by plane Sunday to start a 25-day royal tour of Canada.

Accompanied by her husband, financier Angus Ogilvy, the Queen's cousin was met at Toronto International Airport by federal Trade Minister Robert Winters and Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe of Ontario.

She showed her flair for fashion with a tangerine-pink woollen coat. The hemline showed her kneecaps. She wore a matching turban.

After inspecting a 100-man guard of honor of the 3rd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, the princess asked Mrs. William James, a spectator, if she had any relatives in the guard.

"We have—my brother, Staff Sgt. John Martin," said Mrs. James.

Nine - year - old Gweneth Crook of Oakville could hardly wait to get to school to tell her mates "how pretty Princess Alexandra is."

The couple made a private visit to the home of Col. J. G. K. Strathroy, of the Queen's Own, in King, Ont., 21 miles north of Toronto. The princess is the regiment's colonel-in-chief.

Tuesday, the princess will visit the Toronto Public Library with its collection of 47 children's books formerly belonging to members of the Royal Family.

Later, the royal visitor is scheduled to be met by Metro Chairman William Allen and Mayor William Dennison at city hall with a tour to follow presentation ceremonies.

Other stops include a tour of the 57-storey Toronto-Dominion Centre, the Royal Ontario Museum and Maple Leaf Gardens to attend an Ontario folk art festival.

Wednesday, the princess and her husband are scheduled to visit Ryerson Polytechnical Institute to attend a Canadian Red Cross youth concert featuring a choir, orchestra and folksingers.

The couple will leave Thursday, May 18, for Vancouver.

face the board now, the major obstacle was removed Saturday with the 67.5 per cent vote in favor of the referenda.

"The people saw the need and voted 'yes'", said Mr. Bunn. "In spite of what we all feel is a wrong way to collect the money needed for schools they were able to sort the chaff from the wheat."

SUPPORT

"It was especially gratifying to see all municipal leaders come out so strongly in favor of the referendums. Their statements and their support did a tremendous amount of good and helped us immeasurably.

"And I am sure that their final plea for a 'yes' vote spiked what could have turned into a last-minute rash of Edgelow-isms."

Last Thursday Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow issued a statement condemning the school board budget and saying that close to $2 million could be trimmed from the referendums without harming education.

ESSENTIALS

In answer to his ciriticism, school board officials said the entire $14 million program had been vetted by the provincial government and approved as essential.

Mr. Chell said in spite of Ald. Edgelow's last-minute attack he was sure the referendums would pass.

"The just had to go," he said. "There was no alternative. I got a little worried when I saw Friday morning's newspaper, but I was still confident that people were aware of the seriousness of the situation."

Both referendums passed without trouble.

Referendum No 10 for $13,187,450 for school buildings and equipment passed with a 67.53 majority.

Referendum No. 11 for $742,784 to build storage space for school equipment passed with a 67.59 majority.

"It was a tremendous all-round effort," said Mr. Bunn. "Just about every section of the community helped to get the voters out — even high school youngsters who provided drivers for cars and baby sitters for parents with young children. They really turned in a fantastic amount of work."

PHONE DRIVE

Mr. Bunn had warm praise, too, for Parent Teachers' Associations in the area who, with representatives of the League of Women Voters manned a massive telephone campaign which saw 25,000 "get out and vote" calls made.

Although Saturday's vote was successful only 26.37 of the people eligible to vote turned out cast ballots.

There were 56,180 owner-electors on the list, Referendum No. 10 pulled 14,813 to the polls (26.37) while Referendum No. 11 drew 14-807 (26.36).

The difference in the two votes was made up by spoiled ballots.

. . . TARIFF

Meanwhile, Common Market negotiators complained to reporters that Canada, which has a free-trade agreement with the U.S. on automobiles and also provides preferences to Commonwealth countries, is not providing sufficient concessions to Europe. A Common Market spokesman said the U.S. is making too many demands for access to Europe.

Wyndham White estimated that annual trade in some $40,000,000,000 worth of products would be affected by the package of proposed tariff cuts which delegates tore apart before dawn today and then moved into country-by-country haggling to attempt new compromises.

The negotiators had pledged themselves to a midnight Sunday night deadline but by early afternoon today there still seemed to be a great abyss to be crossed before final agreement could be reached.

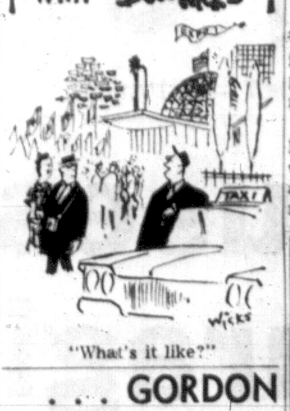
FIRST CALL with Ben Wicks



"What's it like?"

. . . GORDON

"We can talk but we can't get an answer from the government," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"If ever there was a case for an instant debate . . . it is now."

Mr. Douglas said he welcomed the Gordon statement and thought there should be" some opportunity for the House to echo that call" for a frank discussion on the matter. He hoped MPs would endorse Mr. Gordon's position.

POLICY UNCHANGED

Trade Minister Winters said he had discussed the speech today with Prime Minister Pearson, External Affairs Minister Martin and Mr. Gordon. He was authorized to tell the House that the government's position on Vietnam "remains unaltered." Mr. Gordon's opinion was strictly a personal one.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Martin were absent from the House because of the state visit of President Novotny of Czechoslovakia and debate should not take place while they were unable to speak, Mr. Winters added.

Mr. Gordon, former finance minister who returned to the political advisers. He also has been an outspoken critic of some government policies.

In Toronto Saturday Mr. Gordon was asked by reporters whether the picture was as dark as U Thant, secretary-general of the UN, had described in a recent speech warning of the dangers of a third world war, Mr. Gordon said:

"U Thant is certainly in a better position than any of us to realize the full potentialities of the threat that confronts us."

Mr. Gordon admitted his speech went further than those of other government ministers but said he feels deeply about the danger of a world war and it was "something that had to be said."

Many leading Americans have said that stopping the bombing unilaterally was the only basis upon which a Vietnam peace could be based, said Mr. Gordon.

SYMPATHIZES

"With that almost everybody agrees except the U.S. government. I'm sure we all sympathize with the crisis the U.S. government faces, but we have to speak out when we are facing this awful threat of World War III."

He said Canadians wishing to protest against the war should bombard their MPs with letters.

"We are in very great danger and I think it is everybody's obligation to let politicians know how they feel about it."

Mass Resignation of Nurses Being Ignored

The provincial government today appeared intent on ignoring a mass-resignation planned by its 900 psychiatric nurses.

A delegation of 15 Psychiatric Nurses' Association members was to arrive in Victoria this afternoon and present the mass resignations, effective June 1, to Civil Service Commission chairman Dr. Hugh Morrison.

Despite a telegram from J. G. Roberts, president of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, and a call by the NDP caucus for quick government action to head off the walkout, there was no indication this morning of a provincial response.

Health Minister W. D. Black was still in hospital recovering from a back operation last month and acting health minister Dan Campbell was in Sointula to open a school. Mr. Campbell is not due back at his desk until the end of the week.

Dr. Morrison said he didn't know anything about the resignation threat and, apart from telling them he was always willing to talk with them, had no message for the delegation and no instructions from the government.

D. L. Wenham, head of the Psychiatric Nurses' Association, said the resignations were being submitted because Dr. Morrison, appointed during the last session to mediate a dispute between the association and mental hospital administrators, has refused to recommend binding arbitration.

He said the association's professional nurses are not bluffing.

EXPO VISITOR President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia listens as an interpreter, left, translates Governor-General Michener's welcoming address on Parliament Hill Sunday. President Novotny will leave this afternoon for Montreal to visit Expo 67 Tuesday.

Czech Seem Cool At Formal Start

OTTAWA (CP) — President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia, whose industrialized Communist state is trying some capitalistic incentives to help production, began a five-day state visit to Canada Sunday.

He will talk trade, cultural affairs and technology in Ottawa and Quebec City, and visit Expo 67, where the popular Czech pavilion is proving to be a $10,000,000 triumph.

Mr. Novotny appeared to meet Sunday's official welcoming ceremony on Parliament Hill without much relish. Governor-General Michener and Prime Minister Pearson were less formal in their remarks and won a wry smile from their guest by praising Czech emigrants to Canada, including pro hockey star Stan Mikita.

But the Czech president and his wife both warmed to Canadian hospitality Sunday evening, when they were Mr. Michener's guests at a dinner where 40 guests were served Arctic char.

Today, Madame Novotny will visit an Ottawa shopping centre and housing development while her husband holds a press conference, and meets briefly with Trade Minister Winters and External Affairs Minister Martin.

Both are guests of Mr. Martin at a luncheon before they leave by train for Expo.

At Sunday's ceremony, one of 100-members of the red-coated guard of honor collapsed after standing rigidly for 45 minutes. He lay unconscious through the playing of the Czech national anthem, then was revived by an RCMP sub-inspector.

MARCHERS BACK VIET WAR

'Spontaneous Show Of Simple Patriotism'

By LEROY F. AARONS
The Washington Post

NEW YORK — It was red, white and blue day. A day of beer and flags and "God Bless America." A throwback to times when the whole town turned out for the Fourth of July parade and people hung flags on the holidays and everyone knew precisely who the enemy was.

They marched down Fifth Avenue by the tens of thousands — perhaps as many as 250,000 —in a spontaneous outpouring of simple, homey patriotism, unfettered by doubt or skepticism. They carried signs saying "My Country, Right or Wrong," or "If You Don't Have Your (picture of a heart) in Your Country, Get Your (picture of a jackass) Out."

In the vanguard were 10 medal of honor winners and behind them 50 South Vietnamese, and then endless flanks of proud, aging veterans, cheering teenyboppers, policemen, firemen, union delegations, Knights of Columbus, drum and bugle corps and majorettes.

REACTION TO RALLY

More than anything else, Saturday's parade in support of the U.S. role in the Vietnam war was a product of the huge April 15 peace rally here, which for the first time gave massive evidence of revulsion against the war.

The extent of the reaction to that rally flabbergasted the organizers of Saturday's parade. Raymond Grommler, a New York city fire captain who almost singlehandedly planned the march, watched jubilantly as the procession filed past the reviewing stand on 69th street.

"This is the biggest grassroots parade in the history of the United States," he said. "We'll have 250,000 before the day is out, and it's likely to last into the evening. You've got to remember, this parade was not organized like the so-called peace march was. We didn't even open a headquarters until 17 days ago."

The police had estimated 125,000 at the peace rally, far below thee 300,000 claimed by rally organizers. Saturday, some police observers — obviously in sympathy with the marchers — agreed with Grimmler's quarter of a million figure.

LACK OF PLANNING

But the numbers game aside, the turnout was nevertheless impressive, particularly when the lack of advance publicity and planning is taken into account. Hours after the parade started, there were as many people waiting at the assembly point as had been there at the beginning.

The march, like the April 15 event, was orderly and well-controlled. There were a few skirmishes. One spectator holding a poster saying "Vietnam Veteran Against War" was attacked by some of the marchers and roughed up. Late in the day a man was tarred and feathered at 79th Street and had been taken to a hospital.

But the most telling thing about Saturday's parade was the sense it gave of single-minded unanimity among the participants. The power of the parade was the power of a single voice, bold and confident, impatient with questioning, hostile of self-doubt. ("Get the Sissies Out of Vietnam, Bomb Haiphong," read one of the signs.)

More and more, the war is becoming an overriding domestic political issue which neither local nor national candidates can escape. Saturday's parade asked, in impressive numbers, "which side are you on?" The answer seems certain to echo in the ballot booths for years to come.

ELIGIBILITY of Republican George Romney to be president of U.S. has been questioned by Emanuel Celler (Democrat—New York), chairman of the House of Representatives' judiciary committee. Romney's parents are American but he was born in Mexico.

GUNNED TO DEATH

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Col. Enrique Trinidad-Oliva, a central figure in the 1954 revolt that toppled the pro-Communist regime of Col. Jacabo Arbenz, was shot to death Saturday by unidentified gunmen.

Witnesses said the assasins fled on a motorcycle after firing a number of shots at the 47-year-old colonel.

Red Guards Copy Secrets During Raid on Ministry

PEKING (Reuters) — Several hundred Red Guards broke into the Chinese foreign ministry during the weekend, stole confidential documents and beat up officials and soldiers guarding the building, wall posters reported today.

The posters said the intruders broke doors and windows in the ministry and copied details in notebooks from confidential documents. Some of them shouted: "What's so terrific about secrets anyway?"

The fullest account of weekend fighting around the ministry compound said the raiders were armed with knives and metal instruments.

A number of persons were injured and 10 were taken to hospital.

Some foreign residents here saw fighting last Saturday, apparently among foreign ministry officials, Red Guards and others from groups pursuing a campaign of criticism against Foreign Minister Chen Yi.

The posters today said Red Guards of the Peking Foreign Language Institute broke into ministry twice during the early hours of Saturday.

The posters signed by cultural revolution organizations within the foreign ministry described the Red Guards who broke in as "deluded masses."

They came from a group known as the Red Flag Unit.

The posters suggested that the reason for the violence was that they had not been named among 10 Red Guard groups authorized by Premier Chou En-lai to carry out a campaign against Chen Yi.

Your first Volvo will get you out from under car payments for life.

Your second Volvo will give you a bank account.

Your third Volvo will put one of your kids through two years of college. Clothes and all.

No, we're not pulling your leg. We're merely doing simple mathematics. Like this:

First Volvo. Drive it six years. That gives you three years to pay for it, three years to make payments to yourself after you've paid for it.

Second Volvo. Take the payments you've made to yourself and pay cash for the second Volvo. Drive it six years and continue making payments to yourself during that time. (At, say, $80 a month for six years you'll end up with a nice round $6,000.)

Third Volvo. Take some of that $6,000 and pay cash for your third Volvo too. (You'll still have about $3,0000 left.) Continue making payments to yourself for six more years. You now have nearly $9,000. Enough for college, and your fourth Volvo. And you can take it from here.

Will it actually work? It will if you want it to. Will Volvos actually hold up for six years? In Sweden Volvos hold up an average of 11 years. In Sweden there are no speed limits on the highways; there are over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads.

See a nearby Volvo dealer. He can have a Volvo Canadian in your garage tomorrow. It's the only genuine do-it-yourself money-making machine we know of that the Government doesn't frown upon.

A Clear Affirmative

ALTHOUGH A 26 PER CENT turnout of eligible voters was disappointing, there could be no mistaking the significance of the 67 per cent majority registered Saturday in the two school-building referendums. The property-owners of District 61 showed emphatically that they are in favor of the program of construction that will create new school rooms and better facilities for the rapidly increasing school population.

In this public demonstration of conviction, the people of this community made clear once again that they have thrown off the lethargy and lack of purpose which once characterized the approach to public issues here. They recognize that costs are high in this era but that educational needs take the highest priority, and they acted accordingly in Saturday's voting.

That calls for congratulations all round. It also calls for a continuation of the high sense of responsibility and competence which the members of the school board under Mr. Peter Bunn have shown: the public has clearly indicated its confidence in them and deserves the best effort possible.

* * *

Victoria city voters registered an approximately 61 per cent majority in favor of both building programs—a margin perhaps narrowed by the eleventh-hour shilly-shallying of a city council member. But it is interesting to note that the other municipalities showed up to 70 per cent assent and better. The areas of greatest support embraced the Saanich and rural polls and this suggests gratifyingly that the parts of the community that are building up the most rapidly are awake to the need for adequate school facilities and are ready to pay for them.

There can be no doubt that the new policy of opening the schools more freely to public use—including after-hours enjoyment of library and gymnasium premises and playing fields—had a favorable effect on the voters and heralds the development of the schools toward their proper function of serving as neighborhood centres rather than merely as school-hour classrooms for children.

The school trustees and teachers—and a good many adult and school-age citizens—showed their faith and enthusiasm by working hard to present this public issue in a clear and authoritative way, and to get out a representative number of voters. The public responded to this frank approach, with the result that the whole community can now move ahead with its educational projects to meet the needs of the next three years.

* * *

A factor which might have imperilled the success of the referendums was the resentment of many Greater Victorians against the provincial government policy on financing municipalities. As with last year's hospital construction vote, some persons urged a negative response intended to serve as a protest against the government. But this—as in the case of the hospital poll—would have been only a method of cutting off the civic nose to spite its face. The Social Credit government does not respond to such gestures by the public—it is firmly wedded to its inadequate, Santa-Claus type of largess in its treatment of the municipalities.

This is a larger issue which must be fought out in public debate, through critcism in the legislature and, most important, at the general election polls. The voters wisely rejected the use of our school children as sacrificial lambs; but that does not mean that they are satisfied with the present financial set-up whereby property is forced to carry an inhibitive burden of public costs.

* * *

In the broader sense, the favorable reply of the voters to a public need indicates that this community is determined to keep up with the educational requirements of its youth and face the demands of twentieth-century living. In this, the people appear to be well ahead of their provincial government ministers.

On the March

OVERSHADOWED BY THE larger issue presented by the school building referendums but marked by an equally decisive public response was the Esquimalt voters' decision to join the Capital Region in purchasing parklands for use of the whole area.

A number of choice sites have already been bought and others are in prospect. These acquisitions will ensure that the region will not lack essential public recreation areas in the future when such property will be at a premium.

Esquimalt's decision to join with the other municipalities in joint purchasing of land is a doubly welcome development. It shows an admirable approach by this historic municipality to matters affecting the whole region, and it promises a new future for regional co-operation that tended to be stifled under restrictive, even parochial, decisions by earlier Esquimalt leaders. The region needs the able contribution that Esquimalt's people can provide, and Saturday's parks vote indicates a most gratifying trend.

John Masefield

HIS WRITINGS OF RECENT years had added little lustre to the reputation of John Masefield as a poet. Royal and national events set his pen in motion to produce rhymes — a task of poets laureate. And in large part Masefield justified his own comment: "Were it not for laureates, the anthologists of bad verse would be hard-put to fill their volumes."

Yet the verse of the younger man—verse that carried the tang of the salt spray, the lift of tall masts, the artist's touch defining a sunset, the hard realities of the downtrodden among men, some sublimities of life and some of its common tragedy—has earned an honored place among collections of fine works in English. This work brought him royal favor.

On his death at 88 these writings are remembered. They were the outpourings of talent from a man whose "Consecration" declared "Not of the princes and prelates with periwigged charioteers, riding triumphantly forward to lap the fat of the years; Rather the scorned, the rejected, the men hemmed in with the spears . . ." would his songs be written.

An incongruous consecration, this, by one who accepted the post of poet laureate, the official rhymemaker of the monarch, but perhaps true in a literary sense. The songs by which he will be remembered largely predated the royal appointment.

Inviting Conflict on Educational TV

The speech from the throne was followed within 24 hours by a demand from Mr. Daniel Johnson, the Quebec premier, for provincial control and censorship of television films. This Quebec reaction is remarkable only for its speed. It must now be apparent in Ottawa that Miss LaMarsh, in her zeal for an educational television network outside the CBC, is leading her colleagues straight into a political, and probably constitutional morass.

Western

The federal government, in the normal course, would have no reason to fear an agitation in one or more provinces for a transfer of jurisdiction. In our history such demands have been as frequent as the snows of winter. Any national government, with a sense of responsibility, will defend its jurisdiction and there ought to be no difficulty whatsoever in the present case.

Quebec and Court

It is well known that some Quebec theorists regard the Supreme Court of Canada as an unsuitable constitutional tribunal because its members are appointed by the federal government. But it is part of their case that this Privy Council was free of this defect and was thus not suspect of partiality in its decision. The fact is that the question of jurisdiction over broadcasting was settled by the Privy Council in a famous judgment in 1932.

Although television at that time was of purely academic interest to Canadians, their lordships demonstrated some prescience by specifically including in their judgment the transmission of pictures. In finding for the federal authority they relied partly on the treaty power but they also drew special attention to matters specifically excepted from the exclusive powers of provincial legislatures in Section 92 (10).

Broadcasting, they concluded, was a matter comparable from a constitutional standpoint to "lines of steam or other ships, railways, canals, telegraphs, and other works and undertakings connecting the province with any other or others of the provinces, or extending beyond the limits of the province."

Thus the government has only to stand on the Privy Council decision of 1932 and its position is unassailable. The CBC, as its agent, cannot be subject to provincial legislation or to censorship based upon it.

Coverall

Television, up to now, has covered practically everything. There is, of course, some departmentalization within the CBC (or, for that matter, CTV) for administrative purposes. Thus CBC, at its discretion may set up a branch to deal with news, or public affairs, or educational broadcasts. But such arrangements do not alter the fact that the whole spectrum is television and thus within the proper jurisdiction of the federal government.

Miss LaMarsh, for reasons never satisfactorily explained, has now decided that ETV must be separated from other television. It is a distinct subject matter, so different that it must be entrusted to a new Crown corporation providing physical facilities for rental to provincial institutions controlling the programming.

As the federal government should have foreseen, this plays directly into Mr. Johnson's hands. It makes an argument for him and this at the very time when the Quebec colleagues of Miss LaMarsh are making spirited attempts to counter potentially disruptive Quebec nationalism.

According to Mr. Johnson, "television content is a matter of education and, education being a provincial jurisdiction, we are going to have to assume responsibility and prerogative in this area. He hopes Ottawa will be agreeable about this but affirms in any case that "we are determined to recuperate what is of provincial jurisdiction, particularly in the field of education."

What is education? Julius Caesar, perhaps, if it is presented on a school broadcast. But the same play may be entertainment for a vast audience watching the CBC of an evening. What of the thousands of other plays on television? How is the line to be drawn between entertainment, still presumably a proper concern of the CBC and education, henceforth a forbidden field. The difficulties of definition are so obvious and so formidable that the LaMarsh policy appears an invitation to certain trouble.

In a sense it has already arrived. For while the problem may well prove baffling, federal policy makes sense only if a valid distinction between ordinary television and educational television can be drawn. This is the basic premise. And Mr. Johnson, an alert man, by no means ignorant of the 1932 decision, has been quick to seize his opportunity. As he told the Quebec legislature, the Privy Council did not take content into account.

Miss LaMarsh, however is generously prepared to do so. What is to be the basis of the sharing? What content is to be deemed educational and what not? We can assume, no doubt, that the secretary of state has in mind some fairly narrow definition which will not greatly interfere with normal operations of the CBC. Mr. Johnson, quite certainly, is thinking in different terms. He entered a debate which had to do with the activities of Quebec cinema censors. "Television," he objected, "is undoing what parents are trying to do." Parents were mistaken if they thought they had influence over young children because "television always wins."

Thus it is the total influence of television which the Quebec premier considers in relation to educational processes. His government intends "to recover provincial jurisdiction on everything in the domain of education." But it would not be at all difficult to argue that news, public affairs, perhaps even athletic broadcasts fall within that domain. Many schools encourage discussion of current events.

Miss LaMarsh is thrusting herself into a debate in which she must be at a disadvantage. She proposes to create by legislation a separate category of educational television. Which government, the federal or the provincial, is best qualified to be the judge of what constitutes education? Ever since the failure of remedial action in the 1890s, Ottawa has been extremely chary of challenging the right expressed in Section 93 of the BNA Act that "in and for each province, the legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to education . . ."

Unnecessary

This debate is totally unnecessary and so dangerous that Miss LaMarsh cannot possibly justify action on the score that some provinces are eager to get ahead with educational broadcasts. The CBC is perfectly capable of providing the additional services not on the basis of separate legislation, with all the risks flowing from it, but as part of its overall mandate from Parliament. It has never relied solely on its own production and there is no reason why it should not broadcast programs produced by the universities.

It is awkward that the government has given notice in the throne speech of its intention to introduce legislation dealing with educational television. But our history is littered with throne speech items which were permitted, often prudently, to fall by the wayside. If Miss LaMarsh is not dissuaded from her present course, Parliament will be asked to enshrine in law the notion that educational television is a category apart, reserved except in so far as physical assets are concerned, for provincial authorities. What was won in 1932 will be well on the way to being lost. The end of this policy, almost certainly not intended, may be the destruction of the CBC and national broadcasting.

No minister cares to retreat in Parliament. But Miss LaMarsh is not yet under pressure. She ought now to have been placed on her guard by the news from Quebec. The way out is not to proceed.

To the Editor

The Unwed Mother

I feel obliged to fly to the defence of society in general which was condemned as punitive recently by a panel on "illegitimacy."

There is no such thing as an illegitimate child in Canada. All children are legitimate but some happen to have unmarried mothers. It is one thing for the panel to wish the term "illegitimate" to be eliminated from personal vocabularies, but it is much worse that they as professionals should use this invalid terminology in public.

The panel bandied about expressions such as "condemning society," "public stigma' — this sort of rubbish is mainly in the minds of social workers steeped in theory. Text books love to dwell on it. So does Ann Landers.

I know many unwed mothers. None have complained of any public stigma — admittedly their families were sticky at the start. Certainly there has been no stigma given the child.

The public does not ask questions and those who know soon forget.

The public in general is very considerate of any woman who is shouldering her responsibilities, be she a widow, deserted wife or unwed mother, particularly if she has no chip on her shoulder or martyr complex.

The public is not too keen on those women who couldn't care less and casually hand over their babies to public welfare and public expense.

The public is not too patient or understanding toward children with behavior problems. Vandals, bullies, unwanted children from unloving homes, alcoholic homes, or wards of welfare from a series of homes.

I agree with the panel that unwed mothers don't need communal homes. They do need civic day nurseries as do other types of mothers who prefer to work than live on welfare. Nurseries that are accessible, inexpensive, well run and stimulating; not the dreary, unimaginative, over-crowded home of a neighbor that many working mothers must now make do with, particularly in the industrial districts.

Yes, it is hard work for any woman alone to raise a child, but it's not misery. It's a challenge. It is fun. And it is purposeful. It is better than raising hell, raising dogs or going to the dogs. It's one way to learn to appreciate the kind people around you.—Unmarried Mother.

Larger War

By WILLIAM R. FRYE
From United Nations, N.Y.

DOES the United States have — and if so, does it dare use — the military power to force North Vietnam to the conference table? Would anything short of an invasion and successful occupation of North Vietnam accomplish this result? These are, the questions being asked here in the light of a virtually total diplomatic deadlock over peace negotiations.

Frye

The deadlock is contained in the following set of premises, now widely accepted here: (1) that the United States will not halt the bombing without counter-concessions (which Hanoi has refused to make); and (2) that while the bombing continues, North Vietnam will not parley.

Washington has repeatedly made the first of these two premises clear. UN Secretary-General U Thant stated the second May 10.

"It is not only obvious," Thant said, "it has been reiterated by leaders of Hanoi from time to time . . . that so long as the bombing of North Vietnam is going on there will be no talks.'

What Thant is saying is that, as a source of political leverage — a means of forcing meaningful peace negotiations — the bombing is of no affirmative value and may indeed be counter-productive.

If this is so, and if abandonment of the bombing is ruled out as a practical alternative, UN diplomats say the United States clearly must seek additional sources of leverage.

There is increasing speculation here that this leverage can be found only in a ground invasion of North Vietnam.

Such an invasion would transform the war from one of attrition to an all-out, climactic showdown, and would run the obvious risk of full-scale Chinese counter-intervention.

But it is increasingly being asked here if this is, indeed, the direction in which events are moving.

Recent heavy fighting in the vicinity of the demilitarized zone is viewed by some in this light.

It was originally assumed the United States was seeking to pre-empt and frustrate a planned North Vietnamese attack. Now UN people are asking whether the shoe is not on the other foot — whether North Vietnam is trying to disrupt what it believes are long-range preparations by the United States and South Vietnam for an assault to the North.

Would Create Crisis

Any fundamental change in the character of the war would create a major new international crisis, it is agreed here.

Quite apart from possilbe Chinese intervention, which some tend to discount, there is considered to be a real likelihood of Soviet and East European involvement in the form of fighting "volunteers."

Having been humiliated and rebuffed by the United States in the Cuba-missile crisis of 1962 and in the Berlin crises of 1948 and 1958-1962, the Kremlin would not be willing to swallow another major cold-war defeat such as an American conquest of North Vietnam, it is felt here.

The Soviet Union is credited by some with having made genuine efforts some months ago to nudge Hanoi toward the conference table. But if it did indeed make such efforts, they came to nothing.

Since February, Hanoi not only has been more rigid than ever before on peace negotiations, but has been steadily taking over the conduct of the war from the Viet Cong, it is believed here.

Recent intelligence information describes North Vietnamese generals as in direct battlefield control of operations in the northern two-thirds of South Vietnam.

With diplomacy at a dead end, therefore, and the present war of attrition giving no promise of decisive results in the foreseeable future, expectation — and fear — of a very different, and larger, war is growing.

The only visible alternative for President Johnson, it is said, is to continue with present frustrations until after the American presidential elections of 1968, when, assuming he is re-elected, Hanoi might be prepared to deal with him.

Because of the obvious political risks of such a course, few here think it is the probable result.

Looking Back

From the Times, of May 15, 1907.

OTTAWA: Within a few weeks Canada will be in charge of the naval station at Esquimalt.

Final terms of the transfer were arranged in a conference between Hon. L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine, and Lord Tweedmouth.

When Canada took over the Halifax station it was understood that Esquimalt was to be taken over, but the naval authorities did not facilitate the transfer.

Foreign Broadcasts Popular in Russia

By DEV MURARKA

MOSCOW — An increasing number of Russians are tuning in to foreign broadcasts — chiefly for news, but also for sport and other events — and the authorities are beginning to acknowledge the fact.

Most people heard of Svetlana Stalin's flight to the West from foreign broadcasts, and the news spread by word of mouth long before the Soviet press and radio had mentioned it.

But although there was curiosity about Stalin's daughter, she is still not regarded as a figure of special importance. On the whole, there is only contempt for her.

A few years ago such widespread attention to foreign broadcasts would have been difficult, because of jamming, lack of powerful receivers and the severe disapproval of the authorities. Today the official attitude is permissive, but the effect of the broadcasts does cause some worry, and the Russian press is beginning to reply to them.

From the beginning of this year the revamped Literary Gazette, weekly organ of the Writers' Union, has started a column entitled "On Alien Wavelengths." Comments are often made on items broadcast from Deutsche Welle, the West German foreign broadcasting service, the Voice of America, the BBC, and even Radio Tokyo.

●

The comments do not generally deal with what these stations are saying about the Soviet Union; more often than not, they are about matters concerning the countries themselves.

For instance, in recent months the Literary Gazette has repeatedly taken the German radio to task for implying that the extreme right-wing National Democratic Party in West Germany is of no significance.

Commentators in the Literary Gazette quote chapter and verse about the recent successes of the party, the abundance of its publications and the kind of nationalistic sentiments it is promoting.

In the case of the BBC, some speakers in the BBC Russian-language broadcasts had argued that the British authorities were doing quite a lot for the homeless. Literary Gazette claimed that this was an incorrect and misleading picture, since most of the work was being done by private charitable organizations and was woefully inadequate.

When the BBC took it up and remarked that it was nice to be written about in the Soviet Press, even if critically, Literary Gazette came back with the remark that it would continue to provide such pleasure for the BBC. Answering BBC speakers who had raised the question of Soviet housing policy, it said that in the Soviet Union the problem was not being treated by charitable institutions but by the state and on a scale big enough to impress even British visitors.

Last year at the Ukrainian Party Congress a Soviet dramatist, Alexander Korneichuk, lamented the fact that they had "more than just a few young men whose ears are swollen from listening during the night to sly and perfidious anti-Soviet propaganda."

●

The audience for foreign broadcasts is overwhelmingly in the younger age group. Often the young people are far ahead of their own press, radio and television in possessing information about events abroad, and sometimes even about events at home. The most striking evidence of this is to be found at lectures about international events which are given all over the Soviet Union by surprisingly well-informed lecturers. The lectures are often franker, more factual and outspoken than the press.

Questions at the lectures usually reveal that the audience has much information based on foreign broadcasts, and their questions cannot be easily dismissed. Recently, one lecturer wrote in Pravada that such questioners should not be warded off with derision or snubbed. Instead they should be faced squarely and answered.

It is obvious that criticism of foreign broadcasts is done to impress on Soviet readers that they should not be seduced into taking too favorable a view of outside conditions, and to stress the correctness of the image presented by the Soviet information media. Nevertheless, it is a subtle tribute to the fact that foreign broadcasts cannot be ignored any longer.

Indeed, there are some people who argue that, as a result, slowly but imperceptibly the treatment of news in the Soviet press is undergoing a change and events are far more promptly reported than they were before.

Sturdy bullocks pull carts in India, where cattle are everywhere—arrogant or indifferent, magnificent or mangy. Cattle pull the plows in millions of tiny fields too small for cultivation by more advanced mechanical methods. Without cattle, India's economy would collapse.

India's Sacred Cows: What's the Alternative?

By BETTY NICKERSON

(Betty Nickerson, a Winnipeg sociologist, has made a study of food production in India for the UN Food and Agriculture Organization. She writes here about the economic importance of the country's cattle.)

NEW DELHI — India's cattle are a menace by modern standards but they can be rationalized in the same way as North America rationalizes air pollution and the dumping of industrial waste — as economic necessities.

India's cattle are everywhere, arrogant or indifferent, magnificent or mangy. They forage on scanty pastures or await the huge bundles of grass devotedly collected and carried on the heads of women and children.

Whether or not a rib-bare, emaciated animal is a suitable object of worship is beside the point. The fact is that there is no readily available alternative to the cow, sacred or otherwise.

There are almost as many cattle as people in India, and appearances tend to substantiate this estimate. Certainly there are more cattle than necessary, almost all are underproductive, many are almost useless. The economic fact remains that without them the nation's economy would collapse.

Needed in Fields

Cattle pull the plows in millions of tiny fields too small for cultivation by more advanced mechanical methods even if these were available. Cattle can and do step over the centuries-old earthen dikes that hold the water in the rice fields. A tractor and plow would tear them down. Mechanization of farming must wait on large-scale land reform and redistribution, and greater affluence among farmers.

In teams of two, India's cattle, and in some regions camels, turn the Persian wheels to bring water to the waiting land. There are neither enough pumps nor sufficient power to replace the animals that now walk their endless circles around the wheels. Either cattle or men must raise the water to the surface, or both will starve.

Cattle are a vital link in the transportation system. They pull the great, lumbering wooden-wheeled carts that carry much of India's food, fuel, lumber. Where there are no cattle, men provide the draught power. Sometimes two children pull and two push the great carts, and sometimes old women fit themselves into the same straight yoke used for cattle.

Although an Indian cow gives only one-tenth as much milk as a European cow, a significant percentage of the nation's protein is provided by the underfed animals. Milk does not violate religious taboos that forbid use of other protein foods obtained by killing animals.

Protein Vital

Protein is vital to the economy for protein deficiency reduces the work capacity of people and perpetuates the apathy that plagues many present-day Indian adults. Chronic malnutrition in infancy and childhood produces lasting impairment of mental and physical abilities.

I visited half a dozen United Nations projects aimed at improving the cow population in hopes of eventually improving the human population. The addition of one glass of milk per day to the diet of children cures or prevents many debilitating diseases.

When you see the difference between children who receive milk and those who do not, it is easy to realize how important it would be to have good, productive animals to supply milk for the entire population.

India has done some worthy experiments, notably in Orissa state and near Bombay where stray city cattle have been rounded up, fed scientifically, and cross-bred to obtain significantly higher milk production. Among the villagers artificial insemination of cattle is readily accepted and the demand is often greater than the existing resources can supply.

The Byproduct

Milk production, plowing and pulling require strong, healthy animals. Yet India honors all cattle regardless of condition. This may originate from religious beliefs, but it results in at least one useful byproduct — dung. For the vast majority dung is the only readily available fuel for cooking or heating.

India's forests disappeared long ago. Hundreds of thousands of acres of hills and plains are bare of trees, creating conditions which aggravate the drought-and-flood cycle that plagues modern India. There is no wood and other kinds of fuel are inadequate, underdeveloped and too expensive. Cow dung is there for the taking. Women and children follow after the herds collecting the droppings in great baskets carried on the head.

In the north dung is stored in massive mounds, often atristically decorated with incised designs. Before using it must be worked into pancake-sized units. There is a whole range of environmentally conditioned methods of dung cake making. In parts of Uttar Pradesh it is kneaded, shaped and left to dry in geometrically perfect rows. In another region the chips are formed crudely and stuck diagonally into the earth to dry. Near Bangalore cakes are seen plastered on every elevated surface, while outside Calcutta they are arranged in neat rows on the sunny side of house walls.

Imperative Work

Hours of sustained effort are required to prepare this fuel. It is the work of women and children spending hot days up to the elbows in cow manure. Patiently kneading and shaping dung into fuel-sized patties is singularly appalling to those blessed with push-button culture. It is undoubtedly distasteful to an Indian woman, too, but her economic level makes such labor imperative.

It is true that dung cakes are a most inefficient source of fuel since it takes tons of plant matter to sustain the animal while it produces the dung, but this is difficult to explain to people who can't find wood, or who couldn't buy a basket of coal, and who know of no way to convert the grass to useful fuel without the intermediate efforts of the cow.

Bolivia Guerrilla Band Could Bring Military Rule

By JOHN M. GOSHKO
The Washington Post

LA PAZ, Bolivia — After six weeks of furious activity, the Bolivian army's campaign to wipe out a small band of Communist guerrillas has yet to produce even a tentative sign of success.

And, in the view of most observers here, this is a potentially greater danger to Bolivia's internal stability than any insurrectional trouble the guerrillas themselves are able to cause.

For the army's inability to bring the guerrillas to heel has hurt its prestige badly. Should this erosion of public confidence continue, the result could be the undoing of the delicate political balance that has been built up here since a 1964 coup shattered the previously monolithic nature of Bolivian politics.

During that time, there has been a transition from outright junta rule to an elected president, Rene Barrientos Ortuno, who although himself a former air force general has tried to give his government a predominantly civilian cast.

Now, however, there are indications that the armed forces leadership, shamed and frustrated by its lack of success in combatting the guerrillas, may be moving toward a reassertion of its muscle in the political area.

Army Pressure

Many high-ranking officers are known to be clinging to the irrational belief that the guerrillas represent not a Communist threat but some sort of plot by the political forces deposed in 1964. And within these circles there is increasing pressure for Barrientos to put the government on a "war" footing by replacing the civilians in this cabinet with military men.

Such a step would be tantamount to a reimposition of military dictatorship and probably would result in a new polarization between the military on one side and the rest of the country on the other. This, in turn, could set the stage for another of the clashes that have made Bolivia's history the bloodiest and most politically unstable of any country in South America.

In this harsh land inhabited mostly by wretchedly poor Indian peasants and tin miners, there is very little love or respect for the armed forces as an institution. To the average Bolivian, the military is an organization that managed to lose every war in Bolivia's history and functioned mainly as a private militia enabling a tiny white oligarchy to keep the Indian majority in virtual servitude.

Indeed, it was the humiliating defeat inflicted on the Bolivian army by Paraguay in the Chaco war of the early 1930s that set off the chain reaction culminating in the bloody revolution of 1952. That brought to power the radically inclined National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), which over the next 12 years was to subject Bolivia to the only true social revolution ever to take place on the South American continent.

Indians' Savior

During the course of its turbulent rule, the MNR proclaiming itself the savior of the Indians, attempted to transform the structure of Bolivian life through such far-reaching measures as nationalization of the tin mines on which the country depends for its livelihood.

By 1964, however, the MNR had become bogged down in power struggles between its leaders and opposition to its drive for economic retrenchment in the mines. In November, 1964, the armed forces, which had undergone a decade of quiet rebuilding after their dismantling in 1952, rose up to depose President Victor Paz Estensoro, maximum leader of the MNR.

The coup was to thrust to the forefront two men who have since continued to dominate Bolivian political life: Barrientos, who had been Paz's vice-president, and Alfredo Ovando Candia, commander in chief of the army.

Co-Presidents

During the ensuing period of junta rule, they served as co-presidents; and following Barrientos' election as president last July, Ovando became commander of all the armed forces.

It is still the armed forces that remain the principal pillar of Barrientos's administration and the ultimate source of power here. Until now, they have remained in the background, kept there both by a recognition of the country's historic mistrust of the military and by the nononsense leadership of Ovando.

Now, this balance that has allowed the military and the rest of the country to co-exist peacefully if uneasily the past year has been threatened by the discovery of a small guerrilla force in the jungle of southeastern Bolivia, by the army's frantic but thus far unavailing efforts to stamp it out and by the open snickering at the ineptness of the military repression campaign.

Both Hopeful

Both Ovando and Barrientos seem certain that the guerrillas will be run to ground and destroyed before the menace gets out of hand. But if they are wrong, then even their considerable skills at political manoeuvreing may not be sufficient to keep the rest of the armed forces leadership from turning back to political activity as an outlet for its frustrations.

And that could cause the guerrillas, whose apparent aim is the overthrow of Bolivia's established governmental order, to succeed without even coming out of their jungle hiding places to launch their campaign of insurrection.

Gee whiz: There are those unwashed motorcycle riders and those topless waitresses and all those pornographic books.

Gee whiz: and men are going to their own beauty parlors and a British writer named Jonathan Miller says we're creating "pleasure seeking children of a middle sex."

And gee whiz, there are Playboy Clubs with bunnies and a California woman has written a book called "The Housewife's Handbook of Sexual Promiscuity."

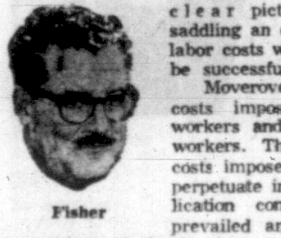
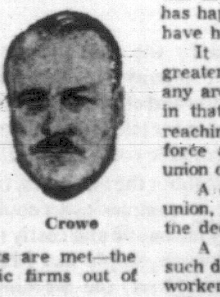
Heavy Labor Costs Killed N.Y. Newspaper

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE



Fisher



Crowe

Labor unions have killed another newspaper. Even after allowing for a generous discount of the figures released by the publishers of the New York World Journal Tribune one is left with a pretty clear picture of unions saddling an enterprise with labor costs which could not be successfully carried.

Moverover these were costs imposed for nonworkers and for marginal workers. They were also costs imposed by unions to perpetuate in the new bublication conditions which prevailed and might have been justifiable in the three merged papers—the Herald Tribune, the Journal American, and the World-Telegram and Sun.

The conclusion one has to come to should not come as a surprise. Printing unions have closed more newspapers than any other factor during the past 30 years. That in itself is not a condemnation.

As that statement stands it could be to the credit of the printing unions. It could mean that by resisting the residual theory of wages—the idea that workers should get only what is left over after all other costs including profits are met—the unions have driven uneconomic firms out of business.

Well that could be, but the evidence doesn't support it. Certainly not in the present case. Technological change and the rationalization of management are essential if the newspaper industry is to progress at the same rate as the rest of industry. The labor component of the enterprise cannot be immune from the rationalization.

Nothing is more natural than for unions to try to shield their members from the adverse effects of changes in technology and changes in management. But with a fragmented work force where the workers under one management are represented, as in the New York case, by 10 unions, it is inevitable that one or a few of them will seek to protect their members without concern for the interests of the other unions.

It is also inevitable that the more technical or mechanical unions will look upon a local of their workers more as a part of the total membership of their union than as a part of the total work force of the management concerned.

This is because the skills are readily transferrable to other print shops—if need be in other cities. On the other hand, the investment of a reporter for example, is not in a skill so immediatey transportable to another centre. He cannot take his multitude of contracts with him. Also job printers do not hire reporters.

Another pertinent observation is that the bulk of the mechanical workers are at a similar level of work and income while those who write or are otherwise ivolved are spread over a hierarchy of levels.

It is not possible for someone to read the stories now appearing in New York without thinking about the strike against the three Toronto newspapers. In New York a strike was won and as a result four newspapers (the Mirror was first) went under. In Toronto the strike was lost and the newspapers continue to publish.

★ ★ ★

One way of looking at it no doubt is to say that the unions (mainly the printers) forced a rationalization of the New York newspaper business. The International Typographical Union makes no attempt to hide its belief in this as at least a partial interpretation of what has happened. But is it really rational? Need it have happened?

It can be taken as an axiom that the greater the number of economic newspapers in any area, the greater the freedom of the press in that area. Should a decision of such far-reaching consequences to the whole of a work force and to a community be made by one union out of 10—if they can make it stick?

A closely related question is: Who in that union, and in each of the unions, should make tne decision for the members of that union?

A part of the folklore of unionism is that such decisions are made democratically by the workers involved. It is no more than folklore, although the workers are involved in the process of decision-making.

The role of international officers in the Toronto newspaper strike was probably greater than the role of the local workers and their elected officers when the critical decision was made (on two occasions) to stay out and to try to prevent at least for the time being a technological change.

The fact that these personages from higher up in the union came from Colorado Springs is really irrelevant, although Canadian nationalists will manage to find all kinds of sinister implications.

★ ★ ★

If they had come from Banff Springs, their role would have been equally open to criticism. But the fact that we are in Canada does open to us a means to sort out inter-union affairs and in our industrial relations to improve upon the business unionism and craft fragmenation and confusion which is at the heart of many of the most vexatious problems involving technological and management changes.

The primary need is the restructuring of the labor movement in Canada. We have too many unions The labor centre is too weak. Union officers and staff are too involved in the upper regions of their individual unions which are located in the United States and too few decisions in some unions are made close to the bottom.

U.S. Refused Talks Promise

Hanoi Offered Negotiations But U.S. Resumed Bombings

By CHALMERS M. ROBERTS
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin flatly promised during the February pause that North Vietnam would sit down at the conference table three or four weeks after the United States unconditionally halted bombing of the north.

Rumors of such an offer have been heard for some weeks, but this hitherto unconfirmed missing piece of the February pause story has now been authenticated by an authoritative American source.

In retrospect, American officials generally agree that Hanoi did make considerable concessions, from North Vietnam's own viewpoint. But the United States insisted then, as now, that they were insufficient. The United States sought, and still seeks, some reciprocal military act such as a halt in infiltration into the south before it would or will call off the bombing of the north.

The promise that Hanoi would come to a conference in a specific time was delivered by Kosygin to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson who in turn passed it to President Johnson.

This was the sequence of what turned out to be a fruitless effort at the time of the Lunar New Year pause to bring about a peace conference:

On Jan. 29, Hanoi Radio broadcast an interview given by North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh to Australian Communist journalist Wilfred Burchett. In it, Trinh declared that if the United States halted "unconditionally the bombing raids and all other acts of war" against the north, there "could" be talks between Hanoi and Washington.

By that date, the United States already had passed several direct messages, via Moscow, to North Vietnam urging direct talks. But the sole reply, on Jan. 27, was later publicly described here as "a diatribe against the United States."

However, Communist diplomats worldwide pointed to the Trinh interview, telling American diplomats that it represented a major new step by Hanoi. Especially active in this regard were Soviet diplomats.

On Feb. 8 and 9, Kosygin, by then visiting Wilson in London, expanded on Trinh's words by turning "could" into "would."

Underwriters Propose Medic-Alert

A suitable medallion should be worn as an alerting device by persons who have a medical problem, drug allergy or disability, the Life Underwriters' Association says.

The association thinks this identification necessary so that medical personnel, law officers and others can recognize the particular problem in an emergency.

The underwriters, as a centennial project, are encouraging those with a hidden medical problem to become members of the Canadian Medic-Alert Foundation.

A $6 fee gives a person a life membership and a necklace or bracelet which contains a warning message engraved on the back such as "Diabetes" or "Allergic to Penicillin." The insignia of the medical profession plus the words Medic-Alert are printed on the front.

The Medic-Alert Foundation maintains a central file containing full medical information on its members.

It accepts phone calls for information about members from anywhere in the world on a 24-hour basis. Each medallion has a serial number and the central telephone number engraved on the reverse side.

Six countries are now participating.

Moon Fault Discovered

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A closeup picture of the moon's south polar region, showing a fissure 200 miles long in the lunar surface, was under study today by scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The lunar fault was revealed in the latest photographs transmitted from Lunar Orbiter 4, which is circling the moon mapping the surface with a twin lensed camera.

Dr. Harold Masursky of the U.S. geological survey told a news conference that the giant crack was "similar to California's San Andreas fault."

He said it was about 200 miles long and 10 miles wide.

Masursky said the lunar valley was "a completely new feature, never before seen by man."

Hotels Target Of Bomber

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A bomb and a note demanding $75,000 were found in a tower room at the Sahara Hotel-Casino here today after thousands of guests were evacuated from hotels in Nevada and Arizona.

The Clark County sheriff's office said the bomb was found after a man called the Sahara and said the device was set to go off shortly after 4 a.m.

Deputies followed instructions in the note on how to handle the device and removed it from the multi-million-dollar hotel-casino without an explosion.

The note said other bombs were planted in hotels here and in Arizona, the sheriff's office said.

The bombs would go off, the note said, "if you don't cough up the money." Deputies said the other hotels were evacuated and searched but no more explosives were found.

LANDS AT GIBRALTAR

U.K. Airliner Avoids Testing Spanish Ban

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — A British airliner landed here today, the first to arrive in the face of new Spanish flying restrictions, but it stayed within the narrow zone left open by Madrid.

The Comet jet did not test Spanish reaction to a violation of the new rules, which Britain has rejected.

The forbidden zone cuts across the normal flight paths of Gibraltar, the subject of the drawn-out sovereignty dispute between Britain and Spain.

A spokesman for British European Airways said the company's scheduled flight landed safely, with its 80 seats fully booked.

The new Spanish ban ruled out overflights of most of Algerciras Bay, adjoining the colony.

Four RAF Hawker Hunter jet fighters arrived here last week, amid reports they might escort airlines in, but they remained on the ground as the airliner came in.

All are part of the immense bookkeeping task so essential to efficient operation and expansion of the B.C. Telephone Company's communications system, a $480 million enterprise with more than 7,200 employees.

The Girls Are Girls

The job is enormous; so large, in fact, that only through the proper application of human and machine talents can it be done economically and with the great speed required.

The machines are computers and related equipment, which are told what to do by the 120 men and women who make up the company's data processing team. These telephone people, who include Maureen Auld and Ingrid Orser, are not machines, a delightfully obvious fact emphasized by the photo above.

That's Maureen Auld on the right, a 25-year-old hazel-eyed brunette, born and raised in Chilliwack and educated at the University of B.C., where she obtained her Bachelor of Arts, majoring in mathematics and English.

She's been a member of B.C. Telephone's data processing staff since mid-1965 after spending three years with the National Research Council in Ottawa, where she also studied computer science at Carleton University.

The blonde on the left is Ingrid Orser, whose eyes also happen to be hazel in color. She is 21 and a native of West Vancouver, who studied keypunch operation at night classes while completing her high school in Winnipeg. Her earlier education came in schools in British Columbia, Quebec and France where she travelled with her Canadian serviceman father and family. She joined B.C. Telephone in 1964.

Miss Auld is a computer programmer assistant, one of more than 35 men and women who plan computer application, telling the machines what they are to do with the data fed into them.

She is more than that. Skilled with the English language, she has the rare ability to prepare manuals, which she is doing to guide others in the creation of computer programs to fit the needs of B.C. Telephone's operations.

Transcribe And Verify

Miss Orser is a keypunch operator, one of more than 30 people in this job with B.C. Telephone. She operates machines which transcribe written material to code on cards from which computers obtain the data they are to assemble and assimilate. She also verifies the punched cards to assure they are correct.

Together with the other members of the data processing staff, Ingrid and Maureen form an important team which enables B.C. Telephone to keep its records up to date and thus to keep tight rein on all aspects of its operations and expansion.

From the information sorted and assembled by the data processing department, the company's management can plan efficiently and effectively to assure high quality service for telephone customers at the most reasonable cost possible.

Without the machines, these so necessary and so complex tasks could be carried out only in chaotic and costly fashion. Without telephone people like Maureen Auld and Ingrid Orser, the machines could not do the job.

Combined, they do their job well, adding their special contribution to those of all the other telephone people and equipment employed to provide, unobtrusively and effectively, the communication service enjoyed by British Columbians.

TEE TO TARGET

The talents of Ingrid Orser and Maureen Auld extend far beyond the world of data processing.

Miss Orser is a fencing instructor's assistant at the YMCA, gives instruction in modelling, plays piano and organ, skis and hits the target regularly on the archery range.

Miss Auld is a 10-handicap golfer, a pianist and guitarist, part-time model and sports car enthusiast.

FORBIDDEN PLATEAU PRESERVED

New Park Realizes Early Guide's Hope

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

News that Forbidden Plateau has become a provincial park brings to memory a thin, dark-eyed man named Eugene Croteau.

He lived in or near Courtenay and he was among the early residents of that area who trekked into Forbidden Plateau long before it was known to vacation seekers.

With others he gouged out the way to the lakes and the mountain meadows that eventually became known as Dove Creek Trail—at the far end of the plateau from today's Mt. Beecher entrance.

If he is alive he will be a very happy man (if not then I'm sure he is sitting on cloud nine cheering) for he loved every inch of the new park and his desire was to see it preserved in its natural beauty for generations to come.

* * *

French-Canadian by birth and an outdoors man by inclination, Eugene Croteau acted as guide to parties going into the mountain area. Eventually he opened a camp at the end of Dove Creek Trail, on meadow land above what was known then—and I imagine still—as Croteau Lake.

It was no posh lodge with the comforts of home. It was a tent camp of cook houses, eating place and sleeping accommodation.

Greenhorns like myself had two choices as far as reaching the camp. You could take the pack train that went in once or twice a week and arrive saddle sore and unable to sit down, or you could send your duffel in on the horses and walk the trail. No matter which way you did it; you arrived bone weary and ready to call it "quits."

* * *

However, the minute you came up over the rise and looked down the slope to a sunset-touched lake, when you saw the lupins and rock roses and heathers in all their shadings of color and smelled the wood smoke of the camp mixed with the odor of strong coffee, you forgot tiredness in anticipation of the time ahead.

* * *

It's well over 30 years since I walked that Dove Creek trail and slept in a tent at Croteau Camp, but memories of the plateau are as clear as some of its lakes.

We swam at the foot of a small waterfall where Lake Beautiful tumbles to a lower pool. We watched trout feed as the sun went down on Lake Mackenzie and the scent of heather was strong in the air.

We saw Cruickshank Canyon with its sheer, straight drop of almost 1,200 feet along one face. I remember I crawled to the edge to look down at a river that wound like a narrow ribbon amongst the devil's club far below.

Under Mr. Croteaus' guidance we climbed Mt. Albert Edward to see the red snow (a form of algae we were told) that grows up above the 6,000-foot level. It was rust brown in color until you pressed it with hand or foot. Then it briefly turned a dull red.

* * *

At night in the main tent, Eugene Croteau told us of the myths and legends that had grown up around the area.

The one about the women and children of the Comox tribe who were taken up there for safety during the war with the Cowichans and were never seen again.

And the one about the hairy men who resented intruders to their domain and threw them over the lip of Cruickshank Canyon to their deaths. In earlier days bones could be found far down to verify this tale, we were told.

When we took the lanterns and climbed up the slope to our tents we were quite prepared to find one of these hairy beings had been there ahead of us. Instead, it would be a "whisky jack," who because we were new in the ways of this saucy bird, had taken our chocolate bars and gone through our extra rations.

* * *

Dove Creek Trail will be remembered, I'm certain, by many hikers. Eugene Croteau, too, short, slight, and wearing khaki pants tucked into strong walking boots, plaid flannel shirt, leather jacket and battered cowboy hat.

Forbidden Plateau was his love and his life. That it is now preserved as a park would surely earn his soft-spoken accolade, "Well done!"

Lunar Orbiter Has Camera Trouble

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A problem plaguing America's flying photographer — Lunar Orbiter IV—has proved to be that old cameraman's bugaboo, light struck film.

Scientists controlling the 600-pound lunar satellite said Sunday that "several frames of film previously exposed in the mission were light-struck, and some are unusable."

The scientists had reported earlier that they were having trouble with a thermal door that covers the camera lens, and decided to leave it open to avoid problems.

But that caused more problems, they said, explaining:

"It now seems likely that sunlight leaked inside the camera system through the open door, and over a long period of time it caused light to strike on some of the film frames. When these previously exposed frames were read back, the resulting degradation was apparent.

"Our immediate action was to manoeuvre the spacecraft so the camera faces away from the sun."

The craft's mission — obtaining photographs of most of the moon's surface — may be completed despite the problems, they said, because the spacecraft will pass over the same areas again, and the places "may be re-photographed before the mission is over."

Improved Contract Ends Strike Threat

A new two-year contract has been accepted by 200 employees of Macdonald's Consolidated, the wholesale arm of Safeway Stores.

It provides for wage increases of 25 to 40 cents an hour in the first year and 20 cents an hour in the second. Old rates were $2.79 for order packers and $2.94 for drivers.

There were improvements in vacation and night premium benefits and a new provision was included regarding automation with consideration to such matters as advance notice, retraining and severance pay.

The employees, members of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, accepted the new contract in weekend voting. They had earlier authorized strike action and posted strike notice.

About 25 of them work for Macdonald's Consolidated in Esquimalt.

FOR WORKMAN'S ACT CHANGES

NDP Seeks Special Session

A special session of the [illegible] to rewrite the Workmen's Compensation Act was demanded by the NDP caucus over the weekend.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan issued the demand after the party's MLAs held a precedent-making caucus in Port Alberni Saturday.

Mr. Strachan said there have been no major changes in the act since 1954 and there was no excuse for delaying implementation of Bill 69 which would bring immediate increases in compensation payments and improvements in administrative procedures.

(Bill 69, which would replace the present legislation with features recommended by the Tysoe Royal Commission, was introduced at the last session by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson but was given only first reading and tabled for action at the next session.)

The caucus was welcomed by Port Alberni Mayor Les Hammer and Alberni Mayor Fred Bishop and given the use of City Hall for its first public meeting.

After a private session, the MLAs held a luncheon for some 40 civic, medical, Indian, union, school board, clergy and other representatives of community groups for discussion of current problems.

It was the first time that the NDP caucus had held a public session, which was described as "not an NDP gathering but a meeting of the opposition party taking parliament to the people."

A fromal statement, drafted by the caucus at the end of its sitting, made two other demands besides the call for a special legislative session.

RESTORE BONUS

It said Premier Bennett should restore the provincial bonus to needy old age pensioners drawing the new $105 monthly payment under the federal government's guaranteed income plan.

The province used a means test to cut back its supplementary bonus after the federal government introduced the new payments, the statement said.

"The Social Crediters are behaving like a dollar-hungry landlord who makes money by jacking up rent when pensions are increased," the caucus charged.

The statement also urged the government to intervene in the threatened mass resignation of 900 provincial psychiatric nurses June 1. It said their requests for pay increases and better working conditions should be accepted by the cabinet.

The vacant deputy mental health minister post should be filled immediately, new procedures in mental health administration should be adopted and a crash program initiated to provide psychiatric beds in community hospitals, the statement said.

Fly-In Features Opening Rites For New Airport

DUNCAN — Loal Jaycees' dream of an airport to serve this community has been realized.

On Sunday, June 25, the Jaycees, Cowichan Airport Society and Duncan Flying Club will hold an official opening for the newly constructed airport.

Ceremonies will consist of the symbolic presentation of the airport by Jaycees to Cowichan Airport Society, and the presentation of an honorary life membership in the society to Claude Butler.

The Victoria businessman made construction of the airport possible by donating the Glenora site.

An aircraft "fly-in" is being arranged by Duncan Flying Club as well as other activities.

The airport is located less than two miles south of Duncan, is 1,800 feet long and ideally situated on top of a knoll.

Oregon Pair Place First

An Oregon pair won the final event of the B.C. Centennial Bridge tournament in the Empress Hotel on Sunday.

Frank Schaefers and Jeff Taylor took the Open Pairs over 180 opposing entries.

Victoria Harry Brawn, chairman of the six-day tournament, placed 11th — a notch good enough to make him a life master in the American Contract Bridge League.

In Friday's events, Leo Steil and Mrs. Phyllis Novak won the Master's pairs, a section limited to those who have at least 50 master's points in tournament play.

Total of 1,066 tables were played in the tourney.

Winners of the events over the weekend were:

Open Pairs—1, Frank Schaefer and Jeff Taylor of Oregon; 2, Joe Jabon and Tom Myers of Seattle; 3, Mike Strebinger of Vancouver and Ken Garfkle of Belleview, Wash.; 4, Jim Donaldson of North Vancouver and Paul Hagen of Vancouver; 5, Neil Sutherland and Dick McKinney of Edmonton.

Open Pairs, Second Flight—1, L. D. Madison and J. P. Mayberg of Port Alberni; 2, Jim Dickie and Robert MacDuff of Richmond; 3, Mrs. M. J. Condrin and Mrs. E. H. Erikson of Mercer Island, Wash.

Bert Kent, general chairman, said the organization is proceeding smoothly but manpower is still needed.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most grain prices were holding to a narrow range in late trading except in oilseeds where hedging sales produced an easier tone.

There were no reports of export business in oilseeds although there were indications that transactions may be developing.

Oats and barley traded along domestic lines. Spain was reported to have purchased a cargo lot of barley.

Rye prices were irregular with May contracts taking on a firmer tone, indicating there was some covering due in this commodity before the contracts close.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain future prices were mostly mixed and trade was slow on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat futures lacked support and were mostly lower throughout the session. Within minutes of the close, however, prices firmed up. The gain moved prices up to a cent above the previous close on short covering action.

Trade in soybeans was slow and prices closed about 1½ cents under the previous close in the May delivery. Oats and rye trade was slow and prices were mostly mixed.

Any agreement on merger would have to be approved by the directors and stockholders of both firms.

Studebaker, no longer an auto manufacturer, and Worthington both produce heavy machinery of a diversified nature.

The joint announcement was made by Frank Nunlist of Worthington and Randolph Guthrie of Studebaker.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Trading Sluggish

Prices were generally lower in sluggish pre-noon trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

Adera was the heaviest trader again and lost .02 to .80.

Highmont fell .10 to $3.70 and Western Mines was off .05 at $3.90.

However, Granduc was .10 stronger at $4.70 and TC explorations remained active and improved .02 to 70 on 30,000 shares.

In the oils Bata lost 2 cents to $1.48 and Share slipped .03 to .46.

Ocean Cement posted a 62-cent gain to $20.50 in the industrials.

AT NEW YORK the market retreated again late today. Trading was fairly active.

Losses of about 3 points for Du Pont and more than 2 for Eastman Kodak depressed the industrial average. Other blue chips affecting the popular averages were General Electric and Union Carbide, each down a point or more.

The most active issue was American Motors, up a fraction.

Studebaker showed early strength on news it is holding merger discussions with Worthington Corp.

Anaconda and General Foods, each up more than a point, were blue chips bucking the trend.

Among Canadians traded, International Nickel gained ½ and Canadian Pacific was up ⅛. McIntyre Porcupine fell a point, Walker Gooderham was off ½, Granby Mining and Hudson Bay Mining ⅜ each and Alcan ⅝.

AT TORONTO profit takers continued to slash prices in light mid-afternoon trading.

Brokers attributed the recent slump to a decline in first-quarter profits by a number of major companies.

They said the market will probably continue to stall until there is a general improvement in the earnings picture.

Oshawa A declined 1½ to 37½. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce 1⅜ to 72¼, R. L. Crain 1¼ to 46 and Alcan ⅝ to 31⅝.

As a result of the selloff declines outnumbered advances 194 to 175 with 249 issues unchanged.

Trading figures continued their dismal pattern and by 2 p.m. only 1,563,000 shares changed hands compared with 2,186,000 at the same time Friday.

Campbell Chibougamau highlighted base-metal activity, jumping 7.05 to 7.10 after the company announced that nine-months earnings climbed to $3,448,410 compared with $1,601,004 for the similar period last year.

AT MONTREAL the market was depressed in light trading towards 2 p.m. today.

Canadian Imperial Commerce led banks lower with a 1¼ point drop to 72½. Canadienne Nationale and Royal each lost ½ at 61 and 82½ respectively, and Provincial ⅜ at 47⅛.

MacMillant-Bloedel dipped one point to 28¾ and Consolidated ¼ to 41½ in the papers section.

Imperial Tobacco gained ½ to 14¾ and Du Pont ⅜ to 35⅝.

Despite a two-point win by Interprovincial Pipe Line, to 106, the utilities index showed shaded. B.C. Telephone and Calgary Power each slipped ¼ to 68¾ and 22¾, respectively.

Falconbridge Nickel lost ⅞ to 84⅝ and Noranda ¾ to 53, while International Nickel added ½ to 99¼, and Cominco ⅜ to 37⅞.

AT LONDON the market was unsettled today with Friday's weakness in gilt-edged stocks continuing.

Falls predominated in dollar stocks, although a few went against this trend. General Motors, Ford and Standard Oil of N.J. all lost ground, but New York Central put on a couple points.

Among Canadians, International Nickel was down 1½ points. Others moving lower included Canadian Husky, Alcan and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas.

Noranda was up 3½ points and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Hollinger and Massey-Ferguson improved.

Canadian banks were firm, chiefly Toronto Dominion and Bank of Montreal.

$386 Million Deficit

WASHINGTON (CP) — A trade deficit of $386,000,000 in farm produce was recorded with the U.S. by Canada last year.

The gap was identical a year earlier and about $40,000,00 higher than the average for the period 1960-64.

Canada sold the U.S. $240,100,000 worth of farm items in 1966, including $62,000,000 worth of cattle, $53,000,000 worth of meat, $20,000,000 worth of fruit and vegetables and $13,000,000 worth of feed and fodders.

Canadian purchases from the U.S. were exceeded only by Japan and totalled $626,000,000, a gain of $6,300,000

As usual, fruit and preparations led at $120,000,000 followed by: corn $85,000,000; soybeans $85,000,000; vegetables and preparations $73,00,000; and cotton 930,000,000. In terms of total farm trade with the Western Hemisphere, Canada took 53 per cent of all U.S. exports and 12 per cent of imports.

Prospects for 1967 indicate a larger Canadian deficit because shipments of feeder-class cattle from the West have dropped, owing to lower American prices.

Canadian shipments totalled 475,587 head against 560,105 in 1965 and only 183,300 a year earlier.

Dassault will take over Breguet, completing a major shake-up in the French aerospace industry which began earlier this year with the merger of the two big nationalized aircraft and missile manufacturing firms, Sud Aviation and Nord Aviation.

HIGHER LIMIT ON DEFICIT?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler said today the 1968 budget deficit, originally estimated to be $8.1 billion, might run as high as $24 billion, partly because of soaring Vietnam war costs.

Fowler is asking Congress to raise the national debt limit to a permanent level of $365 billion—$29 billion more than the present ceiling.

Lower Trade Barriers Needed if U.K. Joins ECM

MONTREAL (CP) — Progress in multilateral reduction of trade barriers will be essential to Canada and other countries if Britain joins the European Common Market, Prime Minister Pearson said today.

Mr. Pearson, speaking at the opening session of the 21st congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, said development of world trade is the best avenue to reducing poverty and raising the standards of underdeveloped countries.

"Access by the developing countries to the markets of the more prosperous countries must be made easier to help them strengthen their agriculture and establish their industrial capacities," he said.

"It is clear that only greater export earnings will provide these countries with the funds required for these purposes."

Mr. Pearson said it is illogical to encourage industrialization of underdeveloped countries with foreign aid programs and at the same time restrict trade in the products they can produce on a competitive basis.

"Further progress in the reduction of barriers to trade must be on a world-wide basis, with special consideration for the underdeveloped world," Mr. Pearson said.

Progress could be prejudiced by establishing new regional trade groups. Discriminatory, inward-looking trading groups must be avoided. They could distort international trade and prove wasteful and uneconomic.

"Even more serious, however," he added, "is the danger of political frictions which would arise from a significant distortion of traditional trade patterns and ties, frictions which would intensify if other countries entered into special trading arrangements devised largely as measures of defence and retaliation.

IMPORTANCE GROWS

"If Britain and other members of the European Free Trade Association join the European Common Market, therefore, it is all the more important to make further progress on the multilateral front as perhaps the best means of easing adjustments to new trading patterns."

The theme of the international conference is the study of private enterprise in a changing world. Mr. Pearson said the most crucial task is to ensure peace and enable men to devote their talents to development rather than destruction.

"The current efforts toward disarmament and nuclear non-proliferation are direct expressions of this objective. The fighting in Vietnam is tragic and dangerous evidence of how far we have to go to reach it.

"In any event, we cannot expect to achieve lasting peace or steady progress so long as most of the people of the world still live in poverty and distress."

STILL TALKING

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Pickersgill told the Commons today he is not yet prepared to make any announcement on a possible sale of western coal to Japan because negotiations "haven't quite been concluded."

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) asked about the status of the pending deal for $160,500,000 worth of coking coal for a 15-year period.

'Allow Retirement at 50'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Early retirement of senior manager to free them for work i government was advocatec today by William V. Moore, executive vice-president o International Business Machines Co. Ltd.

He also told delegates to the annual University of Western Ontario business conference that more money should be spent to augment pensions instead of reducing the work veek.

"Allow employees to retire at 5 or 50 with incomes which will not seriously affect their standard of living," he said.

"This could have many benefits. For example, we seem to be in general agreement that government is hurting the free enterprise system and, in the long run, the consumer. Why shouldn't some of business' top people retire on the basis I described and take their management talents to government?"

Mr. Moore said that by 1972, 51 per cent of the population will be under 25 and 63 per cent under 35.

"It means that as business continues to expand, more and more management positions will be occupied by relatively young men. Obviously the challenge will be greater and the opportunities available earlier in a man's career."

New Wheat Price Set At Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Winters said today a new international wheat agreement will give Canadian farmers a selling price range of $1.95½ to $2.35½ in Canadian funds for No. 1 Northern wheat at the Lakehead.

He also said the price range at shipping point in Vancouver will be $2.03½ to $2.43½.

These prices are the Canadian equivalents of the minimum and maximum prices agreed upon at the latest tariff-cutting negotiations in Geneva this weekend for a new wheat agreement.

Mr. Winters said a considerable amount of agreement has been reached in the negotiations but smaller issues are holding up final agreement.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said the new wheat prices represent a gain of only 21 cents a bushel over prices established six years ago. In the interval, the cost of producing wheat has risen more than 21 cents, he said.

PHONEY FOUL OR REAL THING?

Is referee Peter Rhodes actually laying down law to member of Pittsburgh Phantoms during Sunday's National Professional Soccer League match at Toronto? Rhodes said 11 of 21 fouls he called during game were phonies that allowed CBS to work in commercials during nationally televised game. Phantoms edged Toronto Falcons 2-1 in between commercials. REF TOOTS WHISTLE . . . . . . FOR TV COMERCIALS

Three Beeps for One Foul

TORONTO (CP)— Referee Peter Rhodes said Sunday that 11 of the 21 fouls he called in the nationally-televised Toronto Falcons-Pittsburgh Phantoms soccer game were phonies to allow CBS to work in its commercials.

Rhodes, a Yorkshire-born referee imported to handle games in the National Professional Soccer League, said he has an electronic unit and a small receiver unit strapped on his back for televised games.

"I get three beeps on the radar thing and then I hear the producer saying, 'a commercial is coming up' so I have to get the play stopped."

Rhodes said he visits each dressing room before the game and tells the players to lie down or feign protest at his call when he blows the whistle.

"The players all co-operate because it gives them a breather and at the same time its making money for the league."

Rhodes said the maximum number of commercials is 10, but told of an American referee in Los Angeles who got in only three commercials in a game earlier in the season.

"He was being booed by the spectators and forgot to listen to his receiver," said Rhodes. "I don't think he's around anymore."

Rhodes, who must carry a loaded starter's gun, a radar net, a receiver and a golf counter to keep count of commercials, complains he is so loaded with equipment, he can barely run up and down the field.

Rhodes' senior linesman also carries similar equipment in case the referee is unable to finish a game for any reason.

Rhodes said he used a .22-calibre starter's gun earlier in the season but it wasn't making enough noise for the TV people and it was suggested he buy a heavier gun.

"I bought a .38 Saturday but when I put it in the pocket of my shorts the weight pulled them to my ankles."

National Hockey Legue reeferees, working CBS games, also carry receivers and radar sets to allow them to call stoppages for commercials.

Phantoms defeated the Falcons 2-1 in Sunday's lone league match. In Saturday games, Chicago and Baltimore tied 2-2, Atlanta blanked New York 2-0 and San Francisco shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

Kelly Ends Playing Career; May Pilot Los Angeles Club

RED KELLY
. . . coach for Kings?

TORONTO (CP)—He wasn't supposed to last 20 games in the National Hockey League. But Leonard (Red) Kelly, after 20 years, decided Sunday he was finished as a player.

There is a possibility, however, he will return to the league as a coach with Los Angeles Kings, one of six new members in next year's expanded NHL.

Kelly, 40 in July, announced Sunday he had requested his name be placed on Toronto Maple Leafs' voluntary-retired list and that he will negotiate the coaching job with Los Angeles.

The Kings are owned by former Toronto financier and sportsman Jack Kent Cooke and managed by former Leaf Larry Regan.

Kelly, whose name has been linked to the position for some months despite repeated denials both by himself and Leaf management, said he had consulted with Stafford Smythe, Toronto team president, and Punch Imlach, team general - manager-coach, prior to making the decision.

Under NHL contractual committments, even retired players must receive permission from their last team to negotiate with any other professional team.

One of only 20 players to score more than 250 goals in NHL history, Kelly hit for 162 in 846 games over 13 seasons as a defenceman with Detroit Red Wings and 119 more as a centre-left winger since joining the Leafs in 1959-60.

During that period he played on four Stanley Cup champion teams in each city and won the Lady Byng trophy as the most gentlemanly and sportsmanslike player in the league four times.

In 1953-54, when he won the Lady Byng while with Detroit, he also picked up the James D. Norris trophy as the best defenceman in the league.

SCOUT'S ERROR

One of the most aggressive players in the league, he also was one of the most steady from the time he moved to Detroit from Toronto's St. Michael's College juniors at 19.

Under normal progression, Kelly should have moved from junior hockey at Toronto's St. Michael's College to the Leafs, but the late Squib Walker, then a Toronto scout, manoeuvred the Leafs off him and went so far as to bet the Toronto club's doctor a hat that Kelly wouldn't last 20 games in NHL company.

THRILL IN BLUE

"The doctor got his hat all right," Kelly recalled Sunday when he also spoke of his biggest hockey thrill — the first time he stepped on the ice in a Maple Leaf uniform.

"I was finally where I'd always wanted to be and the people stood up and clapped and cheered when Punch sent me over the board.

"I felt so tight I nearly burst."

Kelly said Sunday that he will be flying to Los Angeles Wednesday to talk with Cooke and Regan, but added that "I am not yet committed."

In retiring, Kelly leaves Gordie Howe of Detroit as the only player still active with 20 years' experience or more. Howe now has played 21 seasons with no visible sign of letting down while Kelly joins Bill Gadsby and Dit Clapper as the only NHL veterans to have survived 20 years.

Luckies Take Pair —Or Was It One?

Luckies scored a sweep Sunday, but it may be a day or two before their second victory is declared official by the Victoria Senior Men's Softball League executive.

Luckies clipped Molsons 5-3 in an afternoon encounter at Central Park and, to all intent, appeared to win the second, 8-7.

However, Molsons have protested the evening decision, claiming their catcher was the victim of interference by the batter when Larry Montgomery stole home for the winning run in the ninth inning.

Glen Langsett gave Luckies their first-game victory, spacing five hits. He also gained credit for the evening decision, coming on in relief of Bob Haldane.

PACED ATTACK

Joe Patterson led Luckies' eight-hit attack with a single, double and triple.

Big blow in the nightcap was a three-run homer by Molsons outfielder Jim Gibson.

MARIO HAS INDY POLE . . . . . . WITH RECORD 168.982 MPH

Andretti Beats Hasty Tune

INIANOPOLIS (AP) — Marvellous Mario Andretti led a five - man assault on Indianapolis Motor Speedway's sprint records Saturday and for the second straight year earned the pole position for the 500-mile race May 30.

The Italian-born U.S. Auto Club champion recovered the 10-mile qualifying record at a fabulous 168.982 miles an hour after his year - old mark of 165.899 had been raised twice.

He also established a new one-lap record of 169.779, a tick off his 170 m.p.h. goal, against his old one of 166.328.

Andretti and his Brawner-Ford will share the front row in the 33-car Memorial Day field with international racer Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, Calif., who averaged 167.224 in his own American Eagle-Ford, and Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., who did 166.559 in a Gerhardt-Ford.

Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., held the record for a while at 166.098.

Foyt, two-time Indianapolis winner who last year had a miserable season that included two wrecks, came back strongly with the fourth - best speed of 166.289 in a Coyote from his Houston garage.

The Speedway never reveals attendance, but veteran observers said the crowd appeared to be the biggest ever for time trials and probably exceeded 200,000.

Parnelli Jones, another former 500 winner from Torrence, Calif., set an automatic record with the first qualification of a turbine car. He gave the big STP-Pratt and Whitney car a magnificent ride at 166.075.

Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., qualified an Indianapolis-built Mongoose with supercharged Offenhauser engine at 165.229 but was disappointed. He said the track was oily when he ran.

Jimmy Clark of Scotland, winner in 1965 and runner-up last year, qualified but was far back in 15th place at 163.213.

Four wrecks delayed the show, which will be followed by additional qualifications Sunday and the following weekend, but nobody was hurt.

Pay Matches Pain For Canadian Pro

George Knudson Tops Nicklaus, Collects $20,000

NEW ORLEANS (CP)—What started out last November as a big golf year for George Knudson when he won individual honors in the Canada Cup competition just seems to be getting bigger all the time.

Despite being plagued by misfortune and ailment, the slight, bespectacled Toronto professional went on to win $11,212.50 March 12 by tying Arnold Palmer for second place in the Citrus Open at Orlando, Fla. To that time it was his biggest single payday as a pro.

But Sunday he topped them all by clipping Jack Nicklaus by a stroke in the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open to win $20,000.

This pushed his official Professional Golfers' Association earnings for the year to $39,971 and his unofficial earnings "to around the $50,000 mark."

FORGES AHEAD

The freckle - faced 29-year-old took the lead to stay when he sank a 2½ foot birdie putt on the 15th hole Sunday after he and Nicklaus, with whom he was tied at the start of the round, exchanged the lead several times.

Knudson was playing a threesome behind Nicklaus and had the advantage of knowing how his opposition was doing before starting each hole.

Third place went to defending champion Frank Beard who shot a 70 for a 279 total, two strokes off Knudson's pace. Billy Casper and Cobie LeGrange fired 67s to tie for fourth with 280.

PERFECT SLICE

Nicklaus, who is still waiting for his first win of the year, had only one one-putt green all day on the 7,020-yard, par-72 Lakewood Country Club course.

The shot on the 15th that won it for Knudson was one "I didn't know I had in my bag."

"I drove it kind of light to the right and I sliced a two-iron to the fringe of the green.

"For me to slice a two-iron with control is very unusual. But I actually had to slice it and it came out just perfect.

"And that was probably the shot that won it for me."

Knudson's rounds of 71 - 66-70-70 included 18 birdies and two eagles. "If you sink that many birdies I think you should win."

AN ARNIE GLOVE

He credits much of his success to an Arnold Palmer glove he's taken to wearing on his left hand to ease a sweat problem that has been allowing his clubs to slip in his grip.

"I guess I'll play with one for a while, now," he laughed after picking up his cheque.

The sweaty palms are only the last of a series of physical problems he's suffered this year, mostly to do with his back.

To ease the problem, a doctor told him earlier to wear a lift in the heel of his golf shoe. Then he won the Canada Cup.

Later he found the lift causing even more severe pain.

So out came the lift.

Then the sweat started causing him to shoot erratically.

Thursday he started using the glove "I couldn't afford as a kid" in Winnipeg and Sunday he had his biggest golfing day.

Now all he has to look for are bigger pains and bigger pays.

Mantle Joins Elite 500 Home Run Club

By Associated Press

MICKEY MANTLE
. . . cracks 500 circle

Mickey Mantle, whose 10-day ordeal has ended with a loud crash, is breathing easy again.

Eddie Stanky, whose 10-game joyride goes on without a wallop, is holding his breath.

"I'm glad it's over . . . it's a relief," Mantle said Sunday after blasting the 500th home run of his American League career to lift New York Yankees past Baltimore Orioles 6-5.

"I have never seen a club go this far on pitching alone," manager Stanky said after his light-hitting Chicago White Sox ran their winning string to 10 games and swept into the league lead with 4-2 and 3-1 victories over California Angels.

MILLER THE VICTIM

Mantle unloaded No. 500 of Stu Miller in the seventh inning Sunday and became the sixth player in history to reach the half-century mark.

The 17-year New York veteran, with his shot into the right-field seats at Yankee Stadium was admitted into the exclusive circle that also includes Babe Ruth, Willie Mays, Jimmy Foxx, Ted Williams and Mel Ott.

"My next goal is 11," Stanky was saying in Chicago after Gary Peters completed the White Sox' sweep by tossing the eighth one-hitter in the majors this spring.

The double victory, coupled with Boston Red Sox' 8-5, 13-9 doubleheader sweep over Detroit, sent the White Sox into first place—1½ games ahead of the Tigers.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City Athletics topped Minnesota Twins 4-2 and Cleveland Indians edged Washington Senators 2-1 in a rain-curtailed five - inning game.

Mantle's homer gave New York a 6-4 lead after Joe Pepitone's two-run pinch-hit blast in the sixth wiped out a 4-3 deficit.

The Orioles closed the gap in the eighth when Mantle, still dazed by the roaring ovation given him by 18,872 stadium fans, dropped a throw at first base and then fired wildly past the plate, enabling Frank Robinson to score.

"I was in a fog," he said. "It sure would have been pretty tough to hit the homer, then make an error that lost the game."

SOX KEEP ROLLING

Tommy John and reliever Bob Locker combined for a five-hitter in the first Chicago-California game and Ken Berry's third hit gave the White Sox their winning margin.

Rico Petrocelli, who drove in five runs, and Carl Yastrzemski each rapped two homers in leading the Red Sox to their sweep over Detroit.

The two clubs set an American League record of 28 extra-base hits in the doubleheader, with Boston accounting for 16. Willie Horton hit two homers in the nightcap for Detroit.

Kansas City struck for four runs in the first inning—two on Mike Hershberger's double—and took their third straight from the Twins behind the strong pitching of Chuck Dobson and Jack Aker.

Cleveland's Sonny Siebert pitched a two-hitter, setting the Senators down in order until the fifth, when Frank Howard homered and Dick Nen beat out an infield single.

In the National League Sunday, precocious, 18 - year - old Gary Nolan, one year out of high school, struck out eight and allowed only five hits as Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 1-0. The Reds took the opener 2-1.

In other games San Francisco took two from Houston, 11-8 and 4-3; Chicago lost 2-1 to Los Angeles and took the nightcap 6-3; New York dropped St. Louis 7-1 and Pittsburgh banged Atlanta 5-2.

'BIGGEST THRILL'

Marlies' Win Delights Gus

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Toronto Marlboros won the Canadian junior hockey championship here Sunday, but the traditional presentation of the Memorial Cup by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had to be performed by a local hockey official.

The Marlboros drubbed Port Arthur Marrs 6-3 to win the best - of - seven series in five games.

In the post - game ceremony at centre ice, G. B. "Bones" McCormack, president of the Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association, presented the cup to the winners.

CAHA vice - president Earl Dawson of Rivers, Man., accepted the blame for not having a national hockey executive present.

He said in a later telephone interview from his home that he was responsible for attending the ceremonies but was incapacitated by a bad tooth.

Arrangements were made, he said, for McCormack to present the trophy Sunday and, if the series was extended to today he had arranged to fly to the Lakehead for the ceremonies.

"It is the biggest thrill of my life . . . more so than winning the rookie award," said Toronto coach Gus Bodnar, winner of the Calder Memorial Trophy in the early 1940s while playing with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

It was the fourth time Toronto has won the cup since 1955.

Marrs led 2-1 after one period and were deadlocked at 2-2 after 40 minutes.

They fell apart under a relentless attack by Toronto in the third frame and were outscored 4-1.

This was a disappointment to Port Arthur coach Ab Cava. Referring to the third-period scoring spree by Toronto, Cava said: "I was disappointed we ended on a sour note."

GOALIE IMPRESSIVE

Cava, impressed with the goaltending of Toronto's Bob Whidden, praised his own players for bringing the team to the finals.

He gave special praise to captain Ray Adduono who scored all three Port Arthur goals Sunday and played steady hockey throughout the series.

For Marlboros, Terry Caffery was Bodnar's choice for special mention. The 21-year-old centre led series' scorers with four goals and 10 assists.

Toronto marksmen Sunday were Richie Bayes, Gerry Meehan and Tom Martin with two goals each.

West German Sets Decathlon Record

HELDELBURG, West Germany (Reuters) — West Germany's Kurt Bendlin established a world decathlon record by scoring 8,319 points at a two-day event which ended Sunday.

He bettered the old record, set by American Russ Hodge in Los Angeles last year, by 89 points.

CRACKS LAP RECORD

Ross Back on Top Of Stock-Car List

Ross Surgenor's long wait has ended.

No. 1 stock car driver at Western Speedway the last two years, Surgenor lived up to the billing Saturday night.

Surgenor surged to a new lap record of 21:23 seconds (dusting off the old mark of 21:31) and took the feature race.

His feats, before 3,180 customers, erased the sting of defeats he suffered earlier in the season.

And they also took the spotlight from two spectacular flips.

Bill Carpenter rolled four times in the second turn of the feature race and still escaped unscathed . . . more or less. Gary Lockridge went over on the 12th lap and walked away from the mess.

A man to watch in future events may be Roy Smith, younger brother of modified speedster Al Smith.

Roy took the B dash and second heat. In the 20-lap B main he spun out on the third lap. Despite being shuffled back five positions, he drove strongly and cleverly to win.

"A" Dash—1. Mel Marshall, 2. Gary Kershaw, 3. Ross Surgenor.

"B" Dash—1. Roy Smith, 2. Larry Polsen, 3. Bill Williams.

First Heat—1. Gerry Patterson, 2. Norm King, 3. Jim Parkins.

Second Heat—1. Roy Smith, 2. Don Carmichael, 3. Jim Caldwell.

Third Heat—1. Rick Stanley, 2. Tom Richards, 3. Murray Nixon.

Fourth Heat—1. Albert Smith, 2. Gary Lockridge, 3. Neil Montgomery, 4. Ross Surgenor.

Non-Winners Race—1. Norm King, 2. Gerry Patterson, 3. Larry Gilbert.

"B" Main Event—1. Roy Smith, 2. Jim Caldwell, 3. Larry Polsen.

Feature Race—1. Ross Surgenor, 2. Murray Nixon, 3. Gary Kershaw.

The final round was scheduled for today.

Bowler-Only Man Enlivens Ladies' Golf

LONDON (Reuters) — Woman golfer Mrs. Alex Rundle was about to putt on the 18th green Sunday when a man stepped out of the bushes — wearing only a bowler hat.

Selecting a No. 8 iron from her golf bag, she asked him:

"Are you a club member?"

"No," he replied — at which Mrs. Rundle struck him on the bowler hat with the club.

The man fled, pausing only to pick up his hat.

Police called in to investigate the incident at the club at Effingtham, south of London, searched with dogs but found nothing.

Mrs. Rundle's partner, Mrs. Dorothy Gibbons, commented: "It was all amusing rather than embarrasing. It certainly brightened up the conversation in the club house."

Mark Lasted Just One Day

FRESNO, Calif. (CP-AP) — The meet record Toronto native George Puce set Friday in the discus was upset Saturday in the West Coast relays.

Ray Silvester hurled the discus 201 feet, 2½ inches in open competition.

Silvester eclipsed the meet record of 197-8½ set Friday night by Puce, a student at the University of Nevada, in the college division. Puce scratched from the open competition.

San Jose State's 800-yard relay team, anchored by Tommie Smith, set a world record of one minute, 22.1 seconds Saturday night. Abilene Christian set the previous mark of 1:22.6 nine years ago.

Wakeham Almost A Double Winner

Professional Bill Wakeham, playing out of Gorge Vale, came within a half stroke of scoring a golfing double at the weekend.

Wakeham won top honors Saturday in Glen Meadows' spring open tournament but had to settle for a share of second place in Victoria's annual Centennial Foursome tournament on Sunday.

Wakeham and Cowichan pro Norm Boden each posted five-over-par 77s at Glen Meadows. Wakeham won out in the sudden-death playoff, scoring a par four on the first hole while Boden took a bogey five.

WIN FOURSOMES

Brian Sluggett of Glen Meadows won low net honors with a 72, one better than clubmate Bob Stewart and Alastair Fulton of Gorge Vale.

Gorge Vale's Norm Lacree and Don Little captured top honors in the foursomes, scoring a net 73½ on their home course Sunday.

Wakeham and partner Bernie Ball were one of four teams to share second place with 74s. Wayne Speidel and Gerry Smith of Cedar Hill, Victoria Club's Bill Newcombe and R. Stokes, and Harold Pelton and Dick Austin of Gorge also had 74s.

The Wakeham-Ball pairing had a gross 82, best in the 48-team field, although there were no gross prizes.

PAYNE GETS 'HAT'

Cowichan Boosts Streak to Three

Cowichan, sparked by the bowling of Don Auld and the batting of Peter Jocelyn, defeated winless Castaways by five wickets Sunday to maintain its perfect record in the Victoria and District Cricket Association.

Castaways were all out of 65 and Cowichan replied with a hasty 66 for the loss of only five wickets in a match played at Beacon Hill.

Oak Bay and Alcos also scored convincing victories at the weekend. The Bays defeated Incogs by seven wickets in another Sunday match while Alcos downed Albion in a game played Saturday.

Scores were: Incogs 41, Oak Bay 42 for 3; Albion 60, Alcos 64 for two.

HAT TRICK

Martin Richards, scoring 26 not out, led Oak Bay's bats while Jack Sparks (5 for six runs) and John Brazier (4 for 17) were the bowling standouts.

A rare "hat trick" by veteran George Payne featured Alcos' victory Saturday. The left-hander dismissed Peter Davies, Allan Carter and Chris Odgers on three consecutive balls while taking eight wickets for just 18 runs.

COQUITLAM — A man who wasn't here and a man who was contributed to Victoria Shamrocks' first Inter-City Lacrosse League defeat Saturday night.

Missing the steadiness of veteran defenceman Ed Kowalyk and encumbered by the unsteady officiating of referee Bev Groves, Shamrocks went down 11-8 before Coquitlam Adanacs.

Without playmaker Kowalyk, missing his third game because of a leg injury, Shamrocks had difficulty getting their offence in gear.

Outscored 3-2 and 5-2 in the first two periods, they didn't get rolling until the final 20 minutes. Then they outscored Adanacs 4-3, but a combination of questionable and ill-timed penalties prevented them from sustaining their momentum.

Referee Groves nailed them with what Victoria coach Dave Unwin described as "several borderline" assessments.

REVERSED DECISIONS

Worse still Groves goofed three times technically. He reversed his decisions after Victoria submissions but those boo-boos did little for the Rocks' peace of mind.

Coquitlam capitalized on Rocks' 49 minutes in penalties, scoring eight of their 11 goals on power plays.

Jim Watson, not previously noted for his scoring feats, pumped in five goals for the winners.

Bill Munroe was Victoria's top marksman with three goals.

FOUR ASSISTS

Ranjit Dillon added to his league-leading points status with four assists. He has 24 points in five games. Ron Jay was one-and-three.

With the Jaycee Fair occupying Memorial Arena this week, Shamrocks are on the road. They travel to New Westminster Thursday and play in Vancouver on Tuesday, May 23.

Kowalyk will return to action Thursday but work commitments may prevent the valuable Jack Showers from dressing.

Shot by Cannon Sinks North Shore

VANCOUVER (CP) — A goal with eight minutes left to play enabled Vancouver Firefighters to defeat North Shore Luckies 1-0 here Sunday, to capture the Province Cup for the provincial soccer championship.

When it looked as though the game would go into overtime, Firefighters' left winger Ed Cannon got up smartly to head in a pass from halfback Steve Djorich.

Until then, the two teams had fought on equal terms in a game played in rain and muddy conditions.

All that is left on the local soccer scene now is the two-game playoff for the Top Star Trophy, emblematic of the Pacific Coast League playoff championship, between Columbus and North Shore.

The games will be played next Sunday and Monday.

Fediw set records in the 100 (10.1 seconds) and 220-yard (24.3) sprints, the long jump and the triple jump.

His record-breaking spree made Fediw an easy winner of the junior boys' aggregate. Terry Scott and D. Johnston shared the junior girls' title, while Bob Rimmer and Grace Hendy were senior winners.

Nelson House won the meet with 78 points, followed by Fraser House (70), Douglas House (64) and Skeena House (61).

English Teacher Sets Women's Mile Record

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) Anne Smith, 25-year-old English school teacher, set a world women's record for the mile run Saturday in 4:39.2.

The previous mark was 4:39.4, set by Maurice Stephens of New Zealand.

The mile is not among the women's records officially listed by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

Miss Smith, normally a half-miler, had run the mile only four times previously.

She set her record in the Surrey championships. Her lap times were 70.0, 70.4, 70.0 and 68.8.

She said afterwards:

"I'm aiming at 4:30 for the mile. I'm sure the women's record will come down to that eventually."

WITHERS MILE WINNER . . . . . . WANTS BUCKPASSER

Dr. Fager to Pass Preakness

Times News Services

Dr. Fager tossed aside the challenge of previously-unbeaten Tumiga a quarter-mile from home and went on Saturday to a six-length victory in the 92nd running of the $58,300 Withers Mile at Aqueduct.

With tremendous stretch power, the three-year-old from W. L. McKnight's Tartan Stable came within one-fifth second of the track record as he stepped the distance under Braulio Baeza in 1:33 4-5.

Trainer Johnny Nerud said Sunday Dr. Fager will not start in next Saturday's Preakness because the second leg of the Triple Crown is too close to the Withers.

Nerud disclosed that he is thinking in terms not only of the $150,000-added Jersey Derby May 30 at Garden State Park but also of the $100,000 Metropolitan Handicap at Aqueduct on the same day in which he would clash with Buckpasser, 1966 horse of the year and holder of the world record for one mile.

For his second victory in two starts this year and a sixth in seven career outings, Dr. Fager earned $37,895.

Dr. Fager paid $3.60, $2.20 and $2.20. Tumiga finished five lengths in front of Reason to Hail and return $2.80 and $2.60. Reason to Hail paid $2.80 to show.

Elcam Stable's Royal Malabar came from far back to win the 12th running of the $68,950 Illinois Derby by 1½ lengths on the final day of the Sportsman's Park meeting in Chicago Saturday.

Pointmenow edged Gentleman James for second money in the 1⅛ mile race for three-year-olds.

Two of the 12 horses stumbled and tossed their riders on the first turn. One of them was the 5-to-1 favorite, Son Jack, ridden by Arthur Anderson. The other was Nehoc's Bullet, ridden by Richard Winant. Anderson suffered a broken collarbone and Winant multiple fractured ribs.

Royal Malabar was timed in 1:51 1-5 and earned $37,922. Royal Malabar paid $14, $8.60 and $4.20. Pointmenow paid $8.80 and Gentleman James returned $3.

At Baltimore's Pimlico track, War Censor easily won the 1½-mile $59,600-added Dixie Handicap in 2:36 3-5.

Westbury Road Wins Feature

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Nebraska-bred Westbury Road, B.C.'s horse of the year in 1966, came home in front in the second running of the $5,000 added Johnny Longden 6,000 Saturday before 7,921 fans at Exhibition Park.

Westbury Road, ridden by Frank Inda, was close on the pace all the way in the mile and 70 yards event. Inda took his mount into the lead with three-eighths of a mile to go to win by 1½ lengths over Wayne Harris aboard Reply Mail, and Gene Salas on Hanko.

Costa Rica won the inaugural running of the 6,000 last year. The jockey reached the mark Aug. 16, 1965, at Exhibition Park. An illness in the family in California prevented Longden from being on hand for this year's running.

The mutuels handle was $331,200 for the eight races.

GRAVE NEGLECT

No Totem for Mungo And Many Ask Why

Something should be done by various groups to provide a suitable memorial for the grave of Chief Mungo Martin, famous Indian carver, who died in August, 1962, George Moore, B.C. museum advisor, said today.

The Kwakiutl chief who did much towards reviving the arts and crafts of his people, and his wife Sarah, are buried in the Indian cemetery at Alert Bay.

Simple wooden crosses mark their graves which are somewhat neglected, according to Mr. Moore.

In contrast the graves of other chiefs are all marked with family totems.

"People who visit Alert Bay during the summer months are surprised to find that nothing has been done to erect an appropriate memorial to the famous chief," he said. "The grave has to be pointed out to them."

Mr. Moore suggested that the Indian Arts and Welfare Society, the museum, the Martin family and interested individuals, jointly undertake to provide a memorial for the graves of the couple.

"Mungo Martin is now a well-known Canadian," said Mr. Moore. 'We should not allow his grave to be neglected. It also should be adequately marked for people to see."

CANADIAN NAVY MADE IN JAPAN?

NANAIMO (CP) — The crew of the HMCS Saskatchewan were called on to do a little repainting during the weekend to restore the vessel to its made-in-Canada status.

Apparently someone in a tall yacht had drifted quietly up to the warship during the night and with bright yellow paint sprayed 10-foot-high letters that said the Saskatchewan was "Made in Japan".

The lettering was painted on the seaward side of the vessel, docked here on a goodwill visit, and well above the waterline.

The crew restored the Saskatchewan to her battleship grey.

Duncan Man Killed In Head-On Crash

CHEMAINUS — William Kenneth Deller, 27, of Herd Road, Duncan, died in a two-car crash near here Sunday night.

Deller was apparently headed home after visiting friends at Nanaimo when he collided almost head-on with a north-bound car being driven by William Beggs, 50, of Chemainus.

The accident occured at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Henry Road.

Deller was assistant meat department manager of Safeway store, Duncan.

He was single and shared bachelor accommodation on Herd Road with a number of the other store employees. His parents live in New Westminster.

Chemainus RCMP said this morning they are still investigating cause of the accident which left both cars virtual write-offs.

Deller was pronounced dead on arrival at Chemainus General Hospital.

Beggs was admitted to hospital with head inuries but his condition this morning was satisfactory.

GANGES — Gulf Islands school trustees have been informed that their $300 annual indemnity will be subject to income tax and the Canada Pension Plan.

Infant Drowns At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Toddler Jimmy Einarson drowned Saturday after falling into the river behind the motel where his parents were staying.

The 23-month-old child's body was found on the bank of the Somass River a short distance below where he apparently fell in.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Einarson, of Burnaby, were staying in the Cedargrove Motel here while Mr. Einarson worked in the area.

Jimmy apparently wandered too close to the river and slipped in.

He was found by Alberni Valley Rescue Squad.

A Volkswagen Custom costs $1,798. (Maximum Suggested Retail Price). F.O.B. Port of Entry

Charles Haws keeps the Volkswagen just for the fun of it.

Charlie Haws lives in Toronto at 7292 Topping. He's in the real estate business. And obviously, he's good at it.

One day we passed his garage and this is what we saw. We were curious as to why a man who could afford a Rolls would have a Volkswagen. Instead of just guessing, we went right up and rang Charlie's door bell.

"Sir," we said, "would you mind telling us why you own a Volkswagen as well as a Rolls Royce?"

"No. I don't mind." Charlie didn't leave us out in the cold.

In fact, he invited us inside. He made us a cup of coffee. From here on we'll quote Charlie.

"I bought a Volkswagen when I started in business several years ago, and I have nothing but good things to say about it. I guess I bought it for economical reasons, but after a while, I found it was really fun to drive...well anyway, I got lucky and started making more money than I ever dreamed I'd make, and I figured that everybody is entitled to one big luxury in his life. Mine was the Rolls Royce. I'll admit I got a big kick seeing people stare at it, and wondering who I was...and it was kinda nice parking it some place, and then come back to see a lot of people ogling it".

"But I never did get rid of the Volkswagen. And I'll tell you why. I still get a lot of fun out of driving it...you might say it keeps me young".

"Besides, these two cars make a great balance in my life. The Rolls reminds me how far I've come, and just as important, the Volkswagen reminds me of how I got there. And I really think that's healthy..."

That's Charlie Haws' story.

Moral: Buy a Volkswagen. It will help you save up for a Rolls Royce.

MAKING TURN in mile race is host crew Mount Prevost, who took second place in canoe event. Solemn religious rites (above, right) were feature of Corpus Christi festivities Sunday.

Mermaid Paddlers Win Top War Canoe Event

DUNCAN — Traditional teepees were erected on the grounds of Somenos Reserve at the weekend as Indian visitors from th U.S. and the prairies came to Cowichan Indians Corpus Christi celebrations.

These were the 78th annual sports held in conjunction with the religious festival of Corpus Christi.

Highlight of the celebrations is the congregational procession, after Sunday morning mass at St. Ann's, where Chief Dennis Alphonse acted as commentator explaining part of the service in the native tongue.

CHOIR LEADER

Abel Joe, chairman of the Cowichan Band Centennial Committee, was choir leader — some of the hymns being sung in the Indian language.

Rev. John Massell celebrated the mass and, as missionary priest to the Cowichan Indians, acted as treasurer of the sports committee.

Chief sports attraction of the weekend was the Sunday war canoe races which drew several thousand spectators to the shores of Quamichan Lake.

Mermaid crew from Shell Beach, Ladysmith, swept the major trophies by winning the B.C. championship and the one-mile dash.

Most thrilling race of the afternoon was the four-mile B.C. championship.

After lapping the shores of the lake four times in the gruelling contest of stamina as well as skill, Mermaid paddled past the winning post only feet ahead of the fighting Seven Sisters crew from Point Grey, Vancouver.

Mermaid won the one-mile dash comfortably with the Mount Prevost crew of Duncan several lengths behind and the Seven Sisters boat third.

Pictures And Story By Don Dingwall

The double-paddle event was won by Norman Charlie and Lester Edwards of Chemainus Bay.

Lester Edwards won the single-paddle race.

In field sports Mike Gabriel, of Brentweed, was overall champion. He won the Joseph Joe Memorial Thophy by placing first in the open mile event.

Maritime Museum Claims Ship's Relic From Manor

A hand-forged iron relic found on Craigflower Manor property may cause a tug-of-war.

The relic, which Mrs. G. A. Thompson, operator of the 114-year-old Manor museum, 110 Island Highway, thought might have been a piece of the saw or grist mill built by Kenneth MacKenzie, the first owner of the house, has been identified as part of an old sailing ship.

Thus, says Col. J. W. D. Symons, director of the Maritime Museum, it should belong to the museum.

At present the relic comes under the jurisdiction of L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, who is in charge of provincial historic sites.

"We haven't had any formal request for it as yet,' said Mr. Wallace. "If we do, I'd like to have other people study it before a decision is made. It might have to go to the Provincial Secretary for decision, but we can't say until we know more about it."

Col. Symons said he phoned Willard Ireland, provincial librarian and archivist, Thursday to place his request for the relic.

The relic, found by Esquimalt High School student Larry Townsend, 18, of 29 Brigadoon Place, is designed to hold the lower main yard or topmast yard on to the mast, so that the yard could be turned into the wind allowing the boat to sail.

It was used on all sailing ships down to brigantine size, said Col. Symons.

IRON CROSS

About four feet long, the relic consists of an iron cross piece or span to which are attached two iron bands like barrel staves. At the centre of the cross-piece a short iron post with a ring through the top extends parallel to the bands about 18 inches.

James Robertson, 2431 Alpine Crescent, a marine engineer with B.C. Ferries, explained that the yard goes through the bands, called slings, which are attached to a coupling on the mast known as a truss by means of the short iron post mounted on the span.

This post acts as a pivot around which the spar turns, he said.

PIECE OF METAL

"I don't know how it ever got to Craigflower," Col. Symons said. "A ship that size would never sail into Portage Inlet.

"I would think somebody probably thought here was a piece of metal that would hold down his garbage," and carried it there he said.

HOME GARDEN

Frequent Spraying Needed for Shrubs

By HILDA BEASTALL

Any time now, the weather may turn warm enough to require giving special attention when new plants are put in the garden.

Hilda

If I sound over-optimistic, just remember we are going into the second half of May. A really warm spell often has occurred in this period.

Various shrubs, both summer-blooming and spring-blooming, can still be planted if their roots are not being disturbed.

The practice of setting the smaller sizes of these plants in containers makes it possible to add them to the garden at almost any season of the year.

The container must be removed. It may seem foolish to mention this, but I have occasionally come across shrubs which were not doing too well in the border because the tin can had been buried in the soil.

For a year or so this may not be disastrous, but the roots will soon fill the can so that growth will be limited. There is also a chance of it becoming waterlogged during winter.

Composition garden pots of brown fibre should also be removed, for they often prevent moisture from reaching the roots of the shrubs after they are planted into the garden.

If the weather turns warm, frequent light spraying with water over the branches and leaves is one of the surest ways to assist keeping a shrub in good shape while it becomes established.

Moisture at the roots is also necessary, and this should be achieved by adding plenty of humus material to the planting hole soil.

As the hole is filled, moisten each lot of soil. Peat moss, if added, must be thoroughly moistened in a pail or wheelbarrow before it is added to the soil.

Student Wins Scholarship To Boys' School

Andrew Penn, 13, of 4045 Rainbow, has been awarded a scholarship to Shawnigan Lake Boys' School.

Andrew is attending St. Michael's in Oak Bay, a preparatory school for grades three to nine.

The St. Michael's scholarship is awarded by Shawnigan Lake school for three years and is worth $1,500.

Three other boys from the Oak Bay school wrote the scholarship exam which was set by Shawnigan Lake.

Andrew will attend Shawnigan Lake in September.

Garbage Work Again Sought By Private Firm

A private company which unsuccessfully sought the garbage collection contract in Saanich is requesting reconsideration.

A letter from Prairie Enterprises Limited, Victoria, will be read to council tonight.

Two weeks ago council voted to throw out the Prairie tender, only one received, thus paving the way for a municipally-run system to start next year.

Hearings End Into Layoffs At Laundry

A two-day arbitration hearing into the layoff of six employees of Economy Steam Laundry last December ended Friday.

There was no indication when the three-man arbitration board will hand down its decision to the two sides, the laundry and the Victoria Laundry Workers Union, Local 6.

The union claimed the six employees, including a deaf-mute with 20 years' service, were laid off while junior employees were kept on. The board was composed of chairman W. G. Stone, E. E. Pearlman for the company and Harry Anderson for the union.

MEMORY DRUG WITHIN NEXT DECADE

TORONTO (CP) — School children in the near future will be injected with a memory drug to help them learn, says Dr. Glen McDonald of the University of Toronto.

He told a meeting of the suburban North York Home and School Council the drug will allow children to remember almost everything they are told in school and will dramatically increase their learning power.

Dr. McDonald, who says he has already developed a drug to increase the memory of chickens, says the serum for humans may be ready in 10 years.

HINT BY CAMPBELL

Housing Next Job for Regional Board?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell says housing could well be the second function to be undertaken by the newly-formed lower mainland regional hospital district.

The district's prime purpose is to plan and finance regional hospitals.

Mr. Campbell said the program could be used to control such functions as planning, recreation, garbage disposal, water systems, sewer systems, regional parks, housing, health, welfare and urban transit.

"But this would be up to the decision of the individual regional districts," he said.

He declined to speculate on prospects of education eventually being included under a district umbrella program, saying the new regional boards have plenty of work and responsibility without trying to administer education.

The minister was speaking to a community planning meeting at the University of British Columbia.

Bombed Negro Won't Leave White Area

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—J. Newton Hill, a Negro educationist, says he won't leave his home in a predominantly-white section of Cleveland Heights even though the house was torn open by dynamite early Sunday.

"I am the only Negro on this street," Hill said. "I knew that when I moved in. And no matter what happens, I will stay."

Mr. and Mrs. Hill were asleep on the second floor almost over the point near the front door where the bomb exploded. Neither Hill, 61, nor his wife, Louise, 60, was hurt.

The blast extensively damaged the front wall of the home and smashed 12 windows on two sides of the house. Heavy damage resulted to the basement and to a collection of African sculpture there. There was no fire.

Fourteen windows were knocked out of a house across the street.

Police Chief Edward F. Gaffney estimated damages at $3,000.

Hill is director of Ceveland's Karamu House, an inter-racial cultural group.

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—Gerald R. Ottenheimer, 32-year-old leader of the three-man Progressive Conservative opposition in the Newfoundland legislature, Sunday won the provincial party leadership by acclamation.

MASSEY ARCHITECTURAL MEDAL

Observatory Building Wins Award

The housing of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory 16-inch telescope has won a Massey Medal, one of Canada's top architecture awards.

Designed by the Vancouver architectural firm of Kemble-Webber, the predominantly plywood building was completed last year at a cost of $23,000. It uses a roll-back flat roof with hoistable windscreens to house an automatic telescope free from the obstruction of a revolving dome and free from wind vibration.

The roof rolls back on steel tracks powered by a motor-driven chain.

Project's chief designer Roger Kemble said that aside from accomplishing its functional purpose, the building's design and color blends aesthetically with the surrounding landscape.

The exterior is silver with a white roof to deflect as much heat as possible, while the beams are black to give contrast and definition. The inside of the windscreens is bright red to complement the greenery of the landscape.

Also awarded the medal were Moshe Safdie and David of Montreal for phase one of Habitat 67 and Irving Grossman of Toronto for the administration and news pavilion at Expo 67.

Medals for the Canadian Pavilion for the international trade fair in Tokyo, a house in West Vancouver, and Simon Fraser University in Burnaby were won by Erikson, Massey of Vancouver.

The contest, which aims at encouraging professionals and in boosting public interest in architecture, was judged this year by a panel of three Canadian and two U.S. architects, presided over by Thomas Howarth of Toronto.

Brentwood Hears Special Concert By Black Watch

Six Black Watch pipers and two drummers played a special Sunday concert at Brentwood's Centennial Park, Wallace Drive, and featured the pipe tune, "Brentwood Bay."

A crowd of about 300 gathered for the 45-minute concert of Scottish music.

The concert was arranged through Roy Henley of the local Black Watch Association to let people of the area hear "Brentwood Bay," a pipe tune composed by an Irish Fusilliers' pipe-major a few years ago.

The Black Watch Pipe band, here for the Centennial Tattoo May 25-27, included the piece on its record, Pipes and Drums.

FLOATING CLINIC BURNS

HONG KONG (AP)—Fire today destroyed a floating medical clinic which provided treatment for more than 250,000 needy people in Hong Kong since it began operation in 1963.

The clinic was operated by Project Concern, a non-profit medical relief organization headed by Dr. James Turpin.

Firemen said the fire started on the boat while it was undergoing its annual bottom-cleaning at a shipyard. No one was on board at the time.

CROWD OF YOUNG PEOPLE listen to one of six bands which kept rock music going continuously for Sunday's five-hour love-in. Many older persons came to see the hippies in their bright colored outfits and long hair. Sponsors claimed the love-in was a great success. More than 3,000 attended Beacon Hill Park affair. (Photos by William E. John.)

YOUTHFUL HIPPIES Sarah Harvey and Jerry Silver appear turned on by music at love-in. The button on the sheaf says "Give the grass a chance". Old-fashioned granny glasses were worn by many.

IT WAS GOOD, CLEAN FUN BUT . . .

Saanich Needs Love-In, Says Mayor

WAY-OUT STYLES, beards and long hair prevailed at the happening. Here two unidentified "mod" onlookers give photographers the once-over. Sunglasses weren't really necessary as skies were gloomy.

By DERYK THOMPSON

Mayor Hugh Stephen tuned in to Sunday's love-in in Beacon Hill Park — but he wasn't turned on.

After a two-hour visit with the local hippies he said he was satisfied there was no misbehavior, that those engaged in the love-in enjoyed themselves — and that by way of a favor, the next session should be held in Saanich.

More than 3,000 attended Victoria's second love-in despite gloomy clouds and a cool ocean breeze.

●

"I saw no misbehaving," said the mayor. "Although I saw a lot of things I'm afraid I can't come to terms with in my experience. It did not try to drive underground some extraordinary forms of expression and how much better to have it in the park and out in the open.

"This is their (the hippies) way of enjoying themselves, but not mine especially."

Asked if he would permit a third session in the park the mayor replied that possibly the next should be held in Saanich.

During the five-hour event the large crowd milled around the Cameron Bandshell area talking and listening to six different groups who provided continuous rock and jug band music.

John Hill, a 22-year-old unemployed heating specialist and organizer of the love-in, said he really enjoyed the afternoon.

He described the love-in as a sort of "people in" to mix age groups and people in general.

"People are out of touch with what we're doing and we're out of touch with what they're doing," he said.

"We want to build up communication again.

"The love-in would bring the public's attention to the fact that these people may look weird but they're certainly not up to harming anybody."

●

Officials became worried when a large group of local motorcyclists arrived and two members climbed to the roof of the bandshell. Nothing came of the event and they left shortly.

The hippies arrived dressed in bright, colored outfits. Most carried burning insense sticks and wore strange jewelry.

Some of the young people danced to the music or sang along with the bands which could be heard over most of the park. Many old persons attended and watched the proceedings curiously.

Cameras clicked endlessly as amateur and professional photographers recorded the event which organizers claim is the first "city-sponsored" happening in Canada.

●

Two energetic "go-go" dancers performed with one of the bands, catching the eye of many of the male onlookers.

Midway through the proceedings a round of applause, encouraged from the stage, was given to Mayor Stephen, who last week gave permission for the park to be used as a love-in site.

The love-in cost the sponsoring "hippies or. long hairs whatever you want to call us," between $50 and $60, which paid for the posters, jelly beans, apples and oranges. Mr. Hill said. The money was raised among themselves although most are unemployed.

HIPPIES IN THE PARK

They Love Little Children

By PAUL WILLIAMSON

How can people communicate when they all face the same way?

This was my first reaction when I walked into the love-in Sunday.

For despite the fact the organizers label love-ins an attempt at communication, the gathered thousands were standing in great semi-circles facing the bandshell.

Perhaps the dancing go-go girls were the cause of this circular concentration.

* * *

But it is more likely the park benches, arranged for the usual Sunday afternoon concert, dictated the design of the observers.

The real love-in was behind the benches.

Freed from the restrictions of ordered seating, the hippies lounged on the lawns, laughed, and chatted with the curious Victoria citizenry who had risked an encounter with a Scotch mist to witness the happening.

Here, the love-in was a success . . . and quite different from the event two weeks ago.

There were the same hippies and the same pensioners. But more important, there were dozens of people in their 30s and 40s, couples whose offspring might well have been there also, hidden beneath the wild hair, the outlandish costumes and the flowers.

* * *

Even Mayor Stephen was there — the mayor, parents, ministers, and dozens of children under the age of 10.

It was the children who made me understand why the hippies are called gentle, why one can't help but like them.

Watching a smiling long-hair hand a fascinated eight-year-old girl a flower, seeing her face light up, I realized the hippies are the only group of aging adolescents who love little children.

And that IS communication.

Girl, 11, Dies After Fall In Playground

She Walked Home; Died 10 Days Later

By DON VIPOND

An 11-year-old girl died in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday night, 10 days after she suffered head injuries in a tumble from a playground slide, police said today.

Bonnie Lynn Bandoian of 3001 Quadra walked home after the fall at Topaz Park but was driven to hospital later in the day when she complained of a sore wrist.

She was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a broken wrist, scrapes on her head and a gash where her teeth punctured her lip in the accident and admitted for observation.

SKULL FRACTURE

Doctors found she had suffered a skull fracture and brain damage. The cause of her death Friday evening was bronchial pneumonia.

Police were informed of the fatal accident Sunday afternoon.

Indications were that Coroner Edmond St. Jorre, concerned with the question of unsupervised playground equipment, will call an inquest but he was not immediately available for comment.

Bonnie was apparently sliding down the 10-foot-high metal chute on her stomach when her foot caught in a guard rail and she toppled over the side to drop on the hard macadam surface.

Gassing Inquiry Possible

Civic authorities will decide this afternoon whether to hold a full investigation of the near-tragedy which sent deadly chlorine gas billowing through the Crystal Gardens on Saturday.

Mayor Hugh Stephen was to preside at a meeting attended by city manager Dennis Young, recreation manager Jack Morgan and Fire Chief Eric Simmons.

They will seek an answer to the question of what went wrong to allow the gas to seep throughout the swimming pool area where 25 youngsters were taking lessons.

First reports indicate a faulty valve was to blame.

While workmen inspected the damage at the weekend, 14 persons who had been detained in hospital overnight Saturday were released.

PLANTS RUINED

Although all persons are reported in good condition, hundreds of plants in the Gardens did not fare so well.

At least 300 pots were destroyed, including three dozen hanging baskets.

In addition, ferns shrivelled up and will not bloom again for some time.

However, the gas does not appear to have affected the famous palms which are virtually irreplaceable.

Said nursery supervisor Horace Lindsey: "The gas damaged all the succulents. Most of them won't recover. And the ferns will look sick for a month or so."

The escaping gas sent 34 to hospital Saturday morning, including firemen and policemen.

ALDERMEN ARGUE

The class of boys, members of Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, were passed out of a window to rescue workers after being cut off from the exit by escaping gas.

Following a statement by Ald. Robert Baird that city ownership of the ambulance had saved the children, Ald. Percy Frampton replied:

"It wasn't the ownership that did it. It was the men themselves.

"No matter what type of ambulance service we had, they would have been there and done exactly the same thing."

Fish Smoked, House Burned

Fire which started in a fish smokehouse caused damage estimated at $1,000 at the home of Richard Lapp, 1325 Lang Street, Sunday afternoon.

Fire spread from the smokehouse and caused damage to part of the porch and to shingles on the side of the house.

The smokehouse is located under the porch of the Lapp home.

Safety Honor Goes to Hydro

One million man hours worked without one lost-time accident, has brought a B.C. Safety Council Award to B.C. Hydro Transportation department.

Roy Elfstrom, B.C. Hydro protective services manager, presented the council's award of merit to H. R. Halls, Victoria transportation manager of Hydro.

VIEW ROYAL TO METCHOSIN

Special Meeting Called On Sewer Finance Plan

A special meeting will be held to determine how sewers can be financed for the View Royal to Metchosin area.

William Reader, who represents Colwood on the Capital Region Board, today said the trustees of local improvement districts and CRB representatives will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school board office at Colwood.

Trustees involved represent the View Royal, Colwood, Langford and Metchosin improvement districts which chiefly are concerned with operating volunteer fire departments but have undertaken other civic services such as street lighting.

The provincial government will not give financial assistance towards the sewer costs which face the unorganized territory despite warnings of medical health officer Dr. John Whitbread of a typhoid threat.

"They told us the province would not help financially at all," Mr. Reader reported after a meeting between CRB representatives and deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown at which provision of sewer latterals to individual properties was discussed.

"So now it's up to the improvement districts involved to find some method of financing them. This is the only way it can be done although it is not the most satisfactory," Mr. Reader said.

SEWER NETWORK

"If we were municipalities, we would qualify for more than $250,000 of provincial aid but as we are we can't get any help."

He said that if Wednesday's meeting results in agreement by the improvement district boards to levy the taxes necessary to provide a sewer network, Mr. Brown has undertaken to see that the letters patent of the regional district board are amended to enable it to administer sewers as a regional board function.

Austria Eyes B.C. As Investment Site

Premier Andreas Maurer of Lower Austria, who began a visit to B.C. Sunday, says he will hold talks with Premier Bennett on possible investment of Austrian capital in B.C.

Premier Maurer said an Austrian trade delegation met Mr. Bennett last week.

"I am looking forward to discussing possible investment here with your premier," Mr. Maurer said. "But it is not up to me to give details. That is up to your premier, Mr. Bennett."

Premier Maurer was to plant an iris in Government House's gardens here today.

He also is to accompany Lieutenant - Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at tonight's opening ceremony of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Fair in Memorial Arena.

After an overnight stay at Government House, Premier Maurer will fly to the Portage Mountain damsite on the Peace River at 9 a.m. Tuesday and return at night to Vancouver, where the following day he will attend the opening of the B.C. International Trade Fair.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the difference between a Roman Catholic and a catholic. Can an Anglican be called a catholic? S.G.G.

A. Local church authorities say that Roman Catholics come under the authority of the Pope in Rome. Non-Roman Catholics, including Anglicans recite in the Creed that they believe in the Holy Catholic Church. Anglicans can be called Anglican Catholics or Anglo-Catholics.

Q. What is the name of the ship, and the owners, which was lying off Dallas Road March 19? S.M.

A. The ship was the Oriana, owned by the United Steam Ships in New Zealand. The ship would have been waiting to pick up a pilot prior to going to Vancouver.

PETITION CALLS FOR VOTE

View Royal Talks Merger Again

A new bid to amalgamate the View Royal panhandle with the municipality of Esquimalt is under way, it was learned today.

Two votes on amalgamation were defeated last year and at that time Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said a third vote wouldn't be initiated from his office.

A petition asking the minister to act is now circulating in the area.

Although the minister has called for votes in past he is not obligated to do so.

According to the Municipal Act, the minister may call a referendum if he feels the vote is necessary.

The minister could, however, refer the matter to the Esquimalt council for action.

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant said "any action is up to Mr. Campbell."

"If the people of the panhandle want action and if the minister refers it to council, we will give it every consideration."

Mrs. Ethel Rankin, prime mover behind former attempts at amalgamation, refused to comment on the current petition.

Beat Summer Sizzle— Try a 'Cotton Kick'

By Penny Saver

If you're dreaming of summer afternoons sunning at the beach, or lazing on the patio, you're not alone. The other day I dozed in the garden for an hour, trying to get a head-start on that summer tan I'm determined to have. I'll have to wait awhile. I spent an hour huddled in the deck chair, teeth chattering, trying to wish away a frost-nipped breeze. The man of the house says I just want to show off my warm-weather wardrobe—and he's right.

This year I went "all out" on beach wear. I bought a tent-shaped beach jacket in a shocking pink Paisley design. Buttoning to the neck, it is made from a fine terry cloth fabric, and promises to be a real hit at the beach. This jacket also comes in a jazzy blue Paisley pattern. The toppers are priced at $8.

If you're like me, you want to live in cotton shifts during the bikini season. There's a whole rack of mad-patterned shifts at a store I visited recently. They come in heat-wave shades of pink and blue or orange and gold, and are fashioned in an A-line design with scoop neckline and above-the-elbow sleeves. Fabulous holiday wear, they are priced at $9.98.

Also crisp and cool-looking are floor-length muu-muus. The perfect hostess gown for casual entertaining is the pretty and practical muu-muu. Hawaiian-bright shades of pink and gold, or pink and blue, are used to fashion these full-skirted gowns. They come in two styles, choose either a sleeveless muu, styled with a high cowl neckline, or a short-sleeved design with scoop neckline. Price is $10.98.

If you'd like to know where I went on my summer fashion fling, give me a call at 382-3131. The heat-wave hasn't hit yet, but this store will help you prepare for it.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

How can you study to get an "A" in appearance but never a "D" in daintiness? Control is the password — control over perspiration and superfluous hair.

Some aspects of daintiness require daily doing; others simply need weekly attention. Here are to do's and don't for handling these delicate situations fastidiously:

For Perspiration Problems: Learn the dull, dry facts: deodorants mask perspiration odors; anti-perspirants, on the other hand, temporarily halt perspiration, thereby keeping the area dry as well as odor-free.

For ultimate protection, do use an anti-perspirant at night, after bathing; follow with deodorant in the morning. Or, use a combined anti-perspirant-deodorant at night. For routine problems, a morning application of deodorant should do the trick.

Do apply deodorant or anti-perspirant before using a depiliatory or shaving. If your skin is extra-sensitive, a deodorant powder or even an anti-bacterial soap may work for you.

Do be sure the scent of your preferred product doesn't conflict with your favorite fragrance.

Do consult your doctor if you perspire excessively.

To make the least of most superfluous hair, these are effective methods:

Electrolysis — Most permanent type of hair removal with least regrowth. Do go to an experienced, reputable professional. Electrolysis is expensive and often a long-range project.

Waxing — An ideal routine, but comparatively expensive. Qualified experts apply warm wax to the area, let it cool and then pull — hair roots et al. Waxing generally lasts five or six weeks. If you do-it-yourself, read directions carefully.

Shaving — Most popular and least expensive hair removal method. Do shave one of three ways: Electric razor (feminine models are most desireable); dry (bathe or shower first to open pores, then dry area thoroughly before shaving; wet (use soap or shaving cream after wetting).

Incidentally, beware of shaving cream with masculine scent — it stays with you all day. Instead, investigate the special shaving lotions for women.

Do shave underarms downward, legs upward "against the grain." Do use a sharp blade — you'll have less chance of injury.

Depilatories — Melt the hair below the surface of the skin. Smooth on solution, wait specified time, then wipe or rinse off thoroughly. Do use a depilatory before showering — removing cream can be messy. Results last longer than shaving.

Plucking or tweezing — Standard procedure for removing facial hairs and shaping eyebrows.

Caution, don't ever tweeze hairs from moles (let your doctor handle them).

Do soften hair first with a hot compress, then pluck a hair in the direction the hair grows. Finish with a soothing antiseptic or lotion to prevent infection.

Bleaching — Effective for camouflaging unwanted hair on upper lip, chin, arms or legs. Use a prepared mixture or make your own with an oil bleach mixed with twice the amount of bleacing peroxide (20 per cent). Apply to area and leave on until it begins to dry. It may sting a bit. Then sponge off, finish with a bit of cold cream or lanolin.

Do choose your own "weapon" for dealing with these delicate dilemmas to be assured of a daintily delightful NEW YOU.

Just for you: If your skin is sensitive after hair removal, pat on mixture of one heaping teaspoon of baking soda dissolved in one cup of warm water. It acts as an effective deodorant and is soothing, too.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

A baby is always a miracle, and especially when it is yours. This feeling of awe is particularly strong when you have your first child. It seems almost unbelievable that you could have produced such a wonder!

Fortunately, the danger has been taken out of pregnancy and delivery if a woman will take advantage of the splendid prenatal care now available. However, even in this enlightened day, some women fail to do this. If they are in good health, they may feel that it is unnecessary to check in with their doctor during the early months of pregnancy.

Nothing could be further from the truth! Most of the serious conditions which sometimes develop during the later months could have been avoided or controlled had the physician had the opportunity to do so during earlier stages. So, take measures which will safeguard you and your child and make those important nine months comfortable as well as exciting.

Here are some things to remember. Get in touch with your physician as soon as you suspect that you may be pregnant. Follow his advice about everything. If you feel that you cannot afford a doctor of your own, go to a clinic. One is available to almost everyone, and these are staffed with well-trained people.

This is very important Report any unusual symptoms to your doctor immediately. Some women make the mistake of disregarding these, thinking, "Oh this is just to be expected when I am pregnant." Many women do the same thing when they are going through menopause years. They think, "It's just menopause." The result of such thinking may be tragic and unnecessary.

These are some of the things you should report when pregnant: Persistent nausea, dizziness, swelling of the feet or ankles, in fact any swelling, less output of urine, blurred vision or spots before the eyes, any fever, fainting spells, any unusual discharge, abdominal cramps, persistent headaches and failure to feel the baby move after you have felt this for a while.

And don't blame that bundle of joy for loss of your figure! There is no reason for a woman to become overweight during pregnancy.

If you would like to have my booklet "Don't Blame Your Baby," which gives you lots of information you will want to help you preserve your figure, about clothes, exercises to recondition after the baby arrives, and help with some of the minor discomforts which may occur, send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

More than 900 Guides and Rangers took part in a Centennial rally, held on the Gordon Head campus of the University of Victoria. Seen here is the 15th Victoria Company, of the Lady Douglas Division, which is sponsored by the Salvation Army. It won the Woodward Shield, awarded to the best company in ceremonials and marching. In addition to competing for the shield, Guides and Rangers of all six divisions in the Greater Victoria area gave displays of tent pitching, handicrafts, first aid and camp routines. A living flag, composed of 288 Guides, represented the blue world flag with the well-known centre trefoil. Musical directors of the local Guide movement, the Misses Rosalie Frampton and Gillian Clark, led the Guides in a special Centennial song, "Something To Sing About." (Irving Strickland.)

DEAR ABBY . . .

'Wrecking Crew' Price Of Boys' Early Life

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Everyone calls my three sons "the wrecking crew." They are 9, 11, and 13, and believe me they are "all boy." I hate to take them anywhere because they don't get along with each other. Wherever we happen to be, a fight breaks out. (In the dentist's office, a shoe store, or the barber shop.) I've had friends and relatives tell me that if I come over to please leave the boys home. Neighbors have chased them out of their yards, and there are several kids their age who are forbidden to play with them. My boys aren't monsters, Abby, they are just rough and tough and hard to handle. It hurts me to see them treated this way although at times I could knock their heads together. They are too big for me to hit now. What should I do?

MOTHER OF THE WRECKING CREW

DEAR MOTHER: Your boys are paying the price for what you failed to teach them earlier. Now you must explain that unless they control their tempers and learn to get along with each other (and others) they will not be welcome anywhere. And keep them separated until they learn to get along with each other. And keep them home until they shape up.

DEAR ABBY: About TV commercials: I hate to tune in on a TV program and be subjected to a commercial which brings a bunch of screaming kids into my living room. I have a houseful of my own, and I certainly don't need any more. No one will ever sell me a headache remedy by giving me a headache!

ANTI-NOISE

DEAR ABBY: Re: TV commercials: Most of them are offensive in that they insult the intelligence of anyone more than 10 years old. But some are delightful! I show my appreciation for the good ones by buying the product.

SIOUX CITY SUE

DEAR ABBY: A male's way of retaliating to TV advertisers who treat their viewers as morons is as follows:

In all fairness I carefully observe all commercials — once. If the message abuses my sensitivity or mature understanding, I carefully note the product being advertised, and in this way I decide which product not to buy.

My theory: Why should I reward insult?

'JUST THAT AND NOTHING MORE'

Studio Play Interesting, Amusing

By TED GASKELL

Bastion Theatre Studio's Barbecuing an Indian presents an amusing and interesting evening's entertainment.

Just that and nothing more.

Patrick O'Neill's theatre of the absurd comedy at the Government Street studio brings amusement through a series of wisecracks, witticisms and puns and provides interest through pertinent social comments.

But like much theatre of the absurd, characterization is lacking and the story is hard to find, if indeed there is a story.

Outstanding in this production is the rapid-fire delivery of lines.

This is a feature which should be basic in theatre, but is frequently lacking in local productions For this reason, if no other, Victoria actors should see the production and learn a badly needed lesson.

Another impressive feature is the acting of Ed Fordham. Here is a man whose style and soft, clear voice makes him ideal for theatre in the round, where actors are often treading on the toes of the audience. While others were sometimes over-acting, over-playing and generally being much too big for the tiny theatre, Mr. Fordham never was.

The same unfortunately cannot be said for Joan Fordham. Here we have a very talented actress who spoiled what would have other wise been a fine performance with too much voice and gesture on occasion.

Theatre in the round is rather like television in the living room. With proper volume control it is pleasant and intimate. Too much sound encourages retreat.

Jim Cotten did well. Usually we see him in the light romantic role but in this play his old man, silent and stubborn, is most creditable.

Glenn Macdonald's talents were rather wasted as the Indian who did little and said less. The program notes tell us that the studio's purpose is to provide opportunities for young directors, writers and students, to try out ideas and talents. It might have fulfilled its obligations better in this role.

Dan Christian, Bronwen Palfrey and Barry Flatman all acted well and made their contributions toward keeping the play brisk.

Barbecuing an Indian is worth tasting. It's something for the gourmet rather than the average healthy appetite. Like other theatre of the absurd, it is far from being the stuff of theatrical life but it should not be rejected on the basis of "I don't like it. I've never tried it."

The play will be presented again Friday and Saturday.

AT THE MOVIES

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

CASINO ROYALE
David Niven
Capitol Theatre

Victoria's younger generation screamed and howled with delight during the final sequences of this crazy spy comedy Saturday afternoon — and many adults had fun, too.

But, after more than two hours of spy spoofery, I had a yen for the great outdoors and staggered over to the public library in search of something more coherent.

Spy spoofery is fine up to a point, but two hours and 15 minutes of it is too much.

The film gets off to a fine start with the premise that Sean Connery (James Bond) is an imposter. The real 007 is David Niven, now Sir James Bond, who has retired to a country mansion to play Debussy on the rosewood piano and raise geraniums.

He is visited by an all-star team of secret agents seeking his return to Her Majesty's Service. Sir James is lured back into a nightmare world of plot and counter-plot in which every conceivable type of death-dealing gadget is used.

The incoherent story is enlivened with a whole harem of under-dressed women including the lovely Ursula Andress, Joanna Pettet and Deborah Kerr (what a waste of great dramatic talent!)

There is lots of ingenious slapstick but little true comedy. The movie is too busy kidding earlier Bond movies to achieve any individuality of its own.

The final scenes are hilarious, yet too wacky for farce and too superficial for satire.

OH DAD, POOR DAD, MAMMA'S HUNG YOU IN THE CLOSET AND I'M FEELING' SO SAD
Royal Theatre

Dad in the person of Jonathan Winters is dead, but he can't get over what his former wife (Rosalind Russell) is doing to their simpleton son (Robert Morse).

Wherever she travels, Mother Russell takes the stuffed body of her husband in a coffin. As the publicity men say, it's "weird, wacky and way-out; a funny-bone tickler, a teaser and a Technicolor treat."

It is also loud, blatant and ridiculous and a poor successor to Charlie Chaplin's "Countess from Hong Kong," which so many enjoyed last week.

CANADIAN-born John Hanson, musical comedy idol of the British provinces, stars in a slicked-up revival of the 1927 hit, The Desert Song. He was born in Oshawa, Ont., but left Canada 39 years ago at the age of five. (CP Wirephoto.)

CATHEDRAL CONSECRATED

LIVERPOOL (Reuters) — A new cathedral that looks like a spaceship was consecrated Saturday as a centre for 500,000 Roman Catholics in the Liverpool archdiocese. The 90-minute ceremony took place in steady drizzle at the Metropolitan Cathedral of Christ the King, a £4,000,000 building whose circular shape resembles a Mercury space capsule.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

Uvic Students Still Hunting Summer Work

The Canada Manpower Centre is still seeking summer jobs for many university students who are available for work.

Manager George Bevis asked employers who can use the services of university students during the summer to contact the manpower campus office at 388-4014.

He said 785 vacancies were listed by employers this year, up 35 per cent over last year, but student enrolment was also up "making it necessary to continue the search for more jobs suitable for their experience and ability."

Agents Nab Pair Carrying Cocaine

NEW YORK (UPI)—A man and woman, allegedly carrying $1 million in cocaine in pink panty girdles they were wearing, were arrested Friday at Kennedy International Airport by Federal Bureau of Narcotics agents.

Two men accompanying the couple were also picked up as were two others a short time later in New York.

All six were described as members of an international drug ring under investigation by the bureau for the last two months. The ring operated between Ecuador and its headquarters in New York, agents said.

VOTERS DECIDE TWO ISSUES AT ONCE

Council Stand Vindicated at Polls

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant today took a good-natured poke at the Greater Victoria School Board and praised his own constituents.

Commenting on the successful vote on both the school referendums and the regional parks question in Esquimalt on Saturday, the reeve said:

"We always had confidence that the people of Esquimalt were capable of making up their minds on two issues on one ballot."

The school board had been critical of Esquimalt council's action in including both questions on the same ballot.

The school referendums passed with over a 68 per cent affirmative vote.

The vote to include Esquimalt in the regional parks acquisition program passed with 67.4 per cent of the voters in favor.

Reeve Bryant said he "was pleased the voters have allowed the municipality to join the rest of Greater Victoria in a constructive support of regional parks."

The cost of participation to Esquimalt taxpayers will be half a mill, but this sum has already been included in the 1967 budget.

Arsenic Hunted

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A tin containing two pounds of pure arsenic powder, enough to kill half of Sydney's 2,400,000 citizens, has been lost between the suburbs of Hurstville and Glebe. Police said the tin is believed to have fallen out of a station wagon of a pest control company.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "I see that there is a new book called 'Bridge for Women' edited by Dick Grey and written by five of the best women players in the world."

"Oswald: "I am not going to get myself in trouble by saying that the authors are the five best women players, but they are five of the best. The four Americans have one other thing in common. They are all happily married. Rixi Markus, the Englishwoman, has long been considered Europe's No. 1 player. The Americans, in alphabetical order, are Mary Jane Farrell, Bea Gale Schenken, Helen Sobel Smith and Peggy Solomon."

Jim: "How about quoting from Rixi Markus today?"

Oswald: "The game was an English team of four tournament with International Match Point scoring. At the table where Rixi sat East, she overcalled North's opening diamond bid with two clubs. She wasn't at all proud of her bid, but as she pointed out she wanted to deprive her opponents of the chance to bid spades easily. The best South could do was to try two diamonds. North passed and proceeded to make four odd for a score of 130. At the other table East merely overcalled with one heart. This did not bother South at all. He bid one spade and the bidding proceeded quickly to four spades. South made 10 tricks for plus 620 and a net gain of 490 points or 10 IMPs."

Jim: "I agree that East's one heart overcall was pointless. It couldn't bother his opponents and might cause his partner to make a bad lead or bad bid based on idea that maybe East would have something worthwhile in hearts. As for Mrs. Markus' two-club bid, it succeeded so it had to be good."

Oswald: "I don't think it would have done her much good in this country. If North and South were using the negative double, South would double and they would reach four spades with North as declarer and even if South bid only two diamonds a good American player would pull himself together and try two spades."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The producers of the Colgate Comedy Hour took a big chance in letting the audience do its own laughing on the NBC-TV special. The applause cues were eliminated and the crowd was on its own.

Stephen

For the record, they laughed long and loud.

Also for the record, the viewers in my household rolled around in fits of laughter.

The hour-long color program moved quickly with such comic talents a Bob Newhart, Shelley Berman, Carl Reiner and Mel Brooks, Phyllis Diller, Nipsey Russell, Allan Sherman, Rowan and Martin, Edie Adams, Kay Ballard and Nanette Fabray. Jack Benny and Bob Hope showed up in walk-ins just for good measure.

Each of the comedians did one of their better routines from over the past 10 years. The material still sounded good even on the second bounce.

It was a good idea to offer a package of laughs at this stage of the television season. It helped dispell the sour mood created by the many reruns dotting the program schedules.

CBS-TV, by the way, is to really concentrate on variety shows during the doldrum period.

Two series have already been announced. They are The Steve Allen Show and Away We Go.

The network has also reached an agreement with Red Skelton's Van Bernard Productions for a 26-week series consisting of music and comedy hours. It, too, will begin next month.

The series, titled Spotlight, will begin in the slot now occupied by Skelton's show. It will be seen for 10 weeks, during the summer period, then it will be seen as a series of specials during the '67-'68 season. The program will use both British and U.S. talent.

Each show will also have two co-hosts. Already signed for work are such people as Bob Goulet, Eddie Fisher, Liza Minelli, Milton Berle and Phil Silvers.

A unique aspect of their signing is that each of the hosts will have to perform for 20 minutes, not just be a standup master of ceremonies.

CEDAR HILL ROAD

Light and Airy in a Staid old Tudor — Steep roof pitch and battened gables surrounded by big old oak trees give the demure setting an Olde English charm. Manicured gardens sweep from the road to the fish pooled rockeries and to the fully fenced rear yard where fruit trees and flowers adorn a secluded sanctuary. Home is a delight. Built approximately 27 years ago the home gives an age deception from without while the interior floor plan is one you might find in a new home today. The construction was most certainly done when labour and material were cheap for quality craftsmanship abounds. Main floor plan includes large family room and dining room with sundeck off large bright kitchen with lots of cabinets and bar overlooking garden. Living room-parlour with matched granite hearth, large bedroom with walk-in closets and charming 4-piece bath. "A HOME FOR THE PERFECTIONIST!" V.L.A.

Few homes in the Victoria area could match this secluded family residence finished to challenge the most critical buyer. Just one of the many features is a sunken living room with the finest Roman tile fireplace you've seen! 3 bedrooms, (one with built-in twin beds). No expense has been spared in construction as evidenced by the 10" cement basement walls — mahogany baseboards — rock walls — double garage and paved drive. Set in 1.65 acres of natural wooded beauty, complemented by a variety of shrubs, flowers and berries. I could spend all day describing this home (a paragraph to describe the bathroom planter alone) — YOU can enjoy it for the rest of your life IF you act quickly! I take great pleasure in offering this home for the first time since it was built (to rigid VLA specifications) in 1959. You could not begin to duplicate this outstanding home for the asking price of $27,500. For further details phone 385-6741 or 384-8243.

SCHOOLS' CONCERT SHOWS

It Takes Time For Talented To Be Developed

By BERYL PROUDMAN

Thomas Tucker, who conducted the Greater Victoria Schools' Junior Orchestra in a concert in the MacPherson on Sunday afternoon, was not far off when he said "it takes about five years for the students to reach a stage where they begin to make music."

That time as well as talent is needed to produce orchestral players was illustrated to those who attended the combined orchestras concert.

GOOD START

We listened with interest and admiration to the playing of the Elementary Schools' Orchestra under Bernard Rain. These students, still of elementary school age, have made a good beginning.

It was interesting to note that while their sense of rhythm and co-ordination was excellent and they had, generally, gained control of their instruments, their intonation in several of the pieces needed more time and study to reach the standard attained by their older colleagues.

Their tendency to play a little off-pitch was more noticeable in the lower parts and the violins deserve special congratulation for avoiding this tendency most of the time.

VARIED PROGRAM

Their concert was varied, ranging from Martin Luther's broad Chorale "A Mighty Fortress" to the thin rather Siamese-Cat-sounding tones of Noah Krauss' "Oriental Prelude."

A Tielman "Susato" and a simplified arrangement of "An English Country Garden" were played with a strong rhythmic sense and a lively air.

"Tale of a Rocket" which began and ended with a traditional "fiddlers scrape-up" was fun, but Schubert's "Death and the Maiden," because of its melancholy close harmonies, accentuated their lack of perfect intonation in the inner parts.

Of the players from Kelowna led by Ruby McLean-Angus, the Centennial Strings group was more successful than the Grade 9 Ensemble.

PLAYING IMPAIRED

These players strove valiantly to render a concert performance but they were suffering from three disadvantages which sadly impaired their playing.

One was that they were so few in number, a maximum of 15, that no one could hide indifferent playing behind that of a more competent player. The second count against them was that some of the music chosen for them, particularly their most ambitious number, the Bach Prelude, Passcaglia and Fugue, was far too difficult.

The third disadvantage is far more serious. Whereas children in local schools start their orchestral program in Grade five or six, and so have reached a reasonable standard by the time they reach Grade 8, these students from Kelowna are unable to start their training until Grade 8.

With these three counts against them, particularly the last, that they have achieved so much in so short a time is worthy of the highest praise but they are at a grave disadvantage when they perform on a concert platform.

WELL-TRAINED

The students in the Junior Symphony Orchestra must feel a great sense of satisfaction. They have each passed through the years in which their intonation was not completely reliable and their tone a little harsher and thinner; now they have arrrived.

This orchestra, led by Thomas Tucker, played extremely well and, unless all the students are beguiled away to other towns, the Victoria Symphony will probably be delighted to inherit some of these well-trained apprentices.

John Rigby's playing of Fiocco's "Allegro" showed the quiet confident competence of a promising young soloist. In their playing of two movements of Handel's "Sonata in G Minor," both Geoff Cragg and Rod Booth played with pleasing tone, excellent intonation and sympathetic, co-operation.

While Bizet's "Farandole" was played with a great deal of liveliness, Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre" was the most exciting piece of all.

This demanding piece was played with almost-professional skill. There was great variety in the sections and the mood was skilfully interpreted. Where a group of players plays so well that one is aware of mood and interpretation of the music and unaware of technical difficulties, that group has indeed won the right to be named a Junior "Orchestra."

BROWN DENIES 'HUGGING' MARGARET

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary George Brown said Sunday it isn't true that he gave Princess Margaret an "affectionate hug" at a Buckingham Palace reception.

A report in the Sunday Telegraph depicts Brown as the life of the party at an official palace reception last Tuesday for visiting King Faisal of Saudi Arabia.

"Mr. Brown was plainly in one of his 'don't care for protocal moods' — in fact quite himself," the story says, adding that courtiers were startled when the foreign secretary put his arm affectionately round the waist of Princess Margaret.

ANGLICAN SWINGERS made their debut at St. George the Martyr Church in Cadboro Bay before start of morning service Sunday. Rev. N. S. Noel, rector, said the reaction of the congregation was favorable, "But," he added, "we won't do this every Sunday." Members of the 20th Century Sextet were asked to perform when they told the rector they did not think church people appreciated their kind of music.

AGAINST ISRAEL

Syrians Ready To Seek Help

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters) Syria today was reported by official sources here to be ready to invoke its joint defence agreement with Egypt to strike back at any "Zionist aggression' from Israel.

The sources said all Arabs were ready to participate in what they said would be a popular liberation war.

At the same time, reports from Cairo said the United Arab Republic has taken necessary steps to implement the defence ageement, signed last November in the Egyptian capital.

The U.A.R. chief of staff, Gen. Mohammed Fawzy, flew here Sunday night and met Syrian military leaders to discuss matters concerning the defence agreement.

The Syrian-U.A.R. steps follow indications that feeling was running high in Israel over alleged Syrian-inspired sabotage attacks there.

Sunday, the eve of Israels 19th independence day, observers in Tel Aviv said recent statements by Premier Levi Eshkol and other Israeli leaders showed that Israel was ready to strike a military blow against Syria if incursions by terrorists bands continued.

Israeli officials said these statements were not "war talk" but were intended to serve notice on Syria that Israel will not hesitate to strike back if saboteurs did not stop entering the country.

In New York, a spokesman for U Thant said the UN secretary-general was concerned at reports that Israel was contemplating using force against Syria.

Last month Israeli and Syrian ground forces and aircraft were involved in one of the worst clashes in the Middle East since the 1956 Suez campaign.

Milk To Feed Indian Poor Used by Army

OTTAWA (CP) — The Indian high commission Friday confirmed reports that 300 tons of Canadian milk powder sent to India for famine relief was lent to Indian army units stationed on the Chinese border.

A high commission statement said the loan, made in March with replacement guaranteed in May, was approved by the Canadian high commission in New Delhi.

"This temporary loan was agreed to only after it was verified that the program of distribution in the scarcity areas would not be affected," it added.

"This program is phased over a number of months."

The statement also denied press reports that up to 10 per cent of bags containing Canadian milk powder were reaching India in damaged condition.

Cannes Award For Banned Film

CANNES, France (CP-Reuters) — Warrendale, a Canadian film which the CBC ruled unsuitable for telecast, has been named co-winner of the award of the French Federation of Art Cinemas at the Cannes Film Festival.

One of two official Canadian entries, Warrendale is a documentary on emotionally disturbed children and their reaction to a cook's death at a treatment centre for disturbed children near Toronto.

MILLIONTH VISITOR ON HISTORIC TRAIN

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — The 1,000,000th visitor to the Confederation Train passed through the six-car display of Canada's history here Sunday after Premier John Robarts welcomed the train to Ontario.

Ken Wai, 36-year-old television repairman, was named the visitor with the magic number and, with his wife, Jennifer, son Donald, 5, and daughter Sisie, 7, was presented with an expense-paid weekend trip to Expo 67.

Federal Public Works Minister George McIlraith presented Mr. Wai with a framed reproduction of the original proclamation of Confederation signed in 1867 by Queen Victoria.

IT PLEASED CONSERVATIVES

Papal Pilgrimage Out of the Past

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul's pilgrimage to Fatima Saturday was a gesture of encouragement to Roman Catholic conservatives smarting from the thrust of church progressives in an era of rapid change.

All men could agree on his major appeal for peace. But most other aspects of his trip to Portugal held special appeal for Catholics who are traditional in church practice and conservative in politics.

Observers of the Vatican considered the trip a swing to the opposite pole after the criticism of capitalism in the Pope's encyclical, Development of Peoples.

The Pope went to a shrine linked in Catholic minds with fear of communism. The apparitions of the Virgin Mary reported at Fatima in 1917 by three shepherd children are associated with prayer for Russia's conversion and preoccupation over Communist peril.

Pope Paul emphasized this when he spoke about lands where religion is oppressed. That was in contrast with the Vatican's steadily - growing effort to get along with the Communist governments of Eastern Europe.

The Pope's trip paid special homage to the Virgin Mary, whom all Catholics venerate.

The Pope's presence at Fatima also implied the church's highest blessing on the cult surrounding a "miraculous" happening which many progressive Catholics do not accept

The Fatima apparitions have ecclesiastical approval but are not a mandatory article of faith, meaning that Catholics are free to accept or reject them. Several leading Catholic theolograns question the authenticity of the apparitions at Fatima.

None of the Pope's speeches to Portugal's leaders praised Premier Antonio de Oliveria Salazar's dictatorship. Instead they were filled with references to the Portuguese people. But Salazar is bound to have gained from being seen with the Pope and spending 10 minutes alone with him in private conversation.

SEARCH HOPES DIM FOR MISSING BOYS

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI) — Hope dwindled today in the search for three adventuresome readers of Mark Twain who have been missing from their Mississippi River bluff home since last Wednesday.

As searchers said they had searched nearly all the known caves in this Tom Sawyer country around this resort community.

The parents of two of the boys noted the possibility they may have taken off on an adventure other than cave exploring.

The parents went before television cameras Sunday night in the hope that Joseph Hoag, 13; his brother William, 11, and Edwin Craig Dowell, 14, could hear and would respond.

Because of competition... the price control that works best for you.

Imperial sells Esso gasoline to dealers, who in turn sell it to you. Back in 1951, just before price controls on gasoline were removed by the B.C. government, what Imperial received for Esso gasoline sold to dealers in Vancouver was 19.9 cents, less tax. Today, Imperial gets 19.5 cents a gallon, less tax.

Allowing for transportation and distribution costs, it's the same story throughout British Columbia.

And, since 1951, Esso quality has been steadily improved.

In the same period prices of things in general have gone up 26 per cent, and wages and salaries have gone up more than 92 per cent.

Keep this in mind the next time you hear someone sound off about the need for a return to gasoline price control in British Columbia. So far as gasoline is concerned, people in B.C. have, right now, the best kind of price control ... competition.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Cindy and Sandy Wulff, age 11, of Panama Heights, Ohio, for their question:

What use are ultraviolet rays?

In small quantities, ultraviolet rays are healing and healthful and able to perform dozens of useful industrial duties. In large quantities, they are killers. Of course, water also can be either healthful or fatal. Enough is enough and, as with everything, too much is too much.

Seething, searing ultraviolet rays come from the sun. They arrive in a dynamic package along with ordinary light, radio and several other forms of electromagnetic energy. Most of the sunlight gets through the atmosphere, but most of the ultraviolet is filtered out by the air and its dusty particles. Above the atmopshere, an unprotected spaceman would be sizzled by the full force of solar ultraviolet rays. Down on earth, the ultraviolet in summer sunshine tans our skins and adorns our cheeks and noses with artistic freckles. But an overdose causes blistering sunburns.

The energy of ultraviolet has many uses—but it must be used sparingly. We can separate small quantities from ordinary sunlight. And we can produce small quantities with chemicals and electric current. But when we deal with even such small doses of ultraviolet, the watchword is caution. The rays are invisible.

Ordinary glass blocks off untraviolet rays, but quartz crystal and glass made of quartz let them through. A lamp using quartz or quartz glass directs an untraviolet beam of invisible ultraviolet, or black light. Its rays are strong enough to kill germs and ultraviolet beams are used to purify foods and drugs. It may be used to enrich milk with extra vitamin D. It may be used to sterilize water and the air in an operating room.

Ultraviolet from an ordinary sunlamp is used to speed the healing of wounds or perhaps to treat certain skin diseases and sickness caused by poor diet. But remember, even weak ultraviolet is dangerously destructive to sensitive eye tissues. No sensible person goes near a sunlamp without the protection of proper goggles.

Rays Invisible

Ultraviolet rays make certain substances glow with fluorescent colors. Some glow under the beam, others give off their telltale colors after periods of exposure to ultraviolet. Prospectors and rock hounds use little portable quartz lamps to identify minerals and to test ores.

The most common use of ultraviolet is in fluorescent light bulbs. It is created by chemicals and electric current. The glass tube contains mercury vapor and when current passes through this sensitive gas, it gives off invisible rays of ultraviolet. The inside of the glass tube is coated with chemicals that convert ultraviolet into visible light. Different chemicals convert the ultraviolet to different colors. Fluorescent lamps are useful because they use a small amount of electric current to shed a large amoung of very bright light.

The wave lengths of ultraviolet energy are shorter than the shortest wave lengths of ordinary light. They come after the blue bands of the rainbow colored spectrum. The shortest visible rays of violet have wave lengths of about 16 millionths of an inch. Ultraviolet rays have wave lenghts ranging from this size down to .16 millionths of an inch. At the other end of the visible spectrum is a band of invisible infrared. These rays are longer than the longest red rays of visible light.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Lori Jones, age 10, of St. Catharines, Ont., for her question:

What is rubber made from?

The first rubber balls in the world were bounced by Indian children of South America. Their parents made rubber water bags and used rubber to waterproof their feet. The Spanish explorers were told that the stretchy, bouncy, waterproof material came from the cahuchu—meaning the weeping tree. When its bark is stripped, it weeps liquid tears of sap called latex. And this latex is the main ingredient in natural rubber.

Nowadays, however, we use more synthetic rubber than natural rubber. The synthetic rubber, of course, is man-made from simple chemicals. One of the most useful recipes is called SBR—short for styrene-butadiene-rubber. The styrene is a liquid chemical taken from coal tar. The butadiene is a liquid gas taken from petroleum. Both ingredients are left behind when oil from the ground is changed into gasoline.

YOUR HEALTH

Mental Peace Will Often Cure Ulcer

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Alvarez

As many people know, most stomach ulcers are not in the stomach; they are in the duodenum (a 12-inch segment fo small bowel just beyond the stomach). We have no idea why so many ulcers form there.

As I have said here before, I rarely let any patient of mine with an ulcer have an operation for it. Why? Because in my half century of talking to men with ulcers (there are perhaps four men to one woman with an ulcer), I have been greatly impressed with the fact that usually the ulcer comes with some nervous strain, or anxiety, and the pain stops the day the strain lets up.

A few hundred times a man with a very painful ulcer, who came to me from a far distant city, has said, "You know, doctor, for months I walked the floor every night with pain, and then, the day I left my office to take a plane and came to see you, I was perfectly comfortable, and I have been comfortable ever since." What is sad is that a man like that, when he gets back to his desk and faces a number of difficult decisions can get his pain right back.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most instructive case I ever had was that of the owner of a big factory who came some 500 miles to the Mayo Clinic to see me. He said that every night for weeks he had been walking the floor with the severe pain of a bad ulcer. When I asked him what had gone wrong with his business, he said that he had a nasty strike on his hands, and he had been terribly upset over that.

Because he was so ill, I sent him to a hospital. But soon the manager telephoned to say that the man was so irritable that he had promptly gotten into a heated argument with the floor nurse and had left in anger. Because he did not drop in to see me, I concluded that he had gone back home.

★ ★ ★

Three weeks later, when I got on a train leaving Robhester for Chicago, there he was with his wife. I asked, "Where have you been all this time?" And he said, "At the hotel; you had told me that I would be well if I could get someone to settle the strike for me, so I phoned my manager to settle it, and not to call, even if the factory burned down.

"Then my wife and I read to each other and drowsed and rested and walked around town, and ate what we like, and as you said, since the first day I haven't had a minute's pain or indigestion."

This one case report should tell us most of what we need to know about the treatment of ulcer: The cure is not necessarily dependent on strict dieting or medicine, or an operation. In most cases, the pain will go away the day the patient finds mental peace.

Dief Accuses Gordon Of Encouraging Reds

'Reveals Enmity Toward the U.S.'

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker attempted without success today to obtain an emergency debate in the Commons on Privy Council President Walter Gordon's weekend speech critical of United States policy on Vietnam.

He accused Mr. Gordon of damaging international confidence, encouraging the Communists in Vietnam, stirring up trouble between Canada and the U.S. and opposing official government policy.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux rejected Mr. Diefenbaker's motion, saying the current throne speech debate provided ample opportunity for MPs to discuss Vietnam.

Spokesmen for all opposition parties backed the Conservative leader's appeal for a special debate.

Mr. Gordon's speech, delivered Saturday in Toronto, called for the full withdrawal of Canadian support for U.S. policies in Vietnam.

The speech, Mr. Diefenbaker said, created a crisis in international affairs "of greatest national and international significance," because it reveals a deep enmity towards the U.S.

The Opposition leader also criticized Mr. Gordon for making the speech outside Parliament while the House is sitting, thus creating a travesty of the principle that ministers' policy statements should be made in the Commons.

WANTS TOP VIEWS

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was of the utmost importance to hear the views of Prime Minister Pearson or External Affairs Minister Martin — "whichever one is directing the foreign affairs of this country."

"The expurgated brushoffs we have been receiving" would no longer suffice.

"I take it that what he (Mr. Gordon) enunciated was government policy," the Conservative leader said.

The wording of Mr. Gordon's speech indicated that it was written elsewhere, "by those close to the external affairs department." It obviously was inspired by the government to create a smokescreen around Canadian policy on Vietnam.

Neither Mr. Pearson nor Mr. Martin was in the House when Mr. Diefenbaker presented his motion. Mr. Gordon was in his front-row seat and smiled when the Opposition leader began his attack.

T. C. Douglas, New Democrat Leader, said that while the NDP opposed the terms of the Diefenbaker motion it thought there should be a debate.

Mr. Diefenbaker, reading excerpts from the Gordon speech, called it a denial of Parliament.

Mr. Gordon's reference to "the weakness and corruption" of "the Nationalist Chinese regime was a slap in the face to an ally—Nationalist China.

AIDS COMMUNISTS

His attitude on the U.S. involvement in Vietnam "brings hope to Communists in every part of the world," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The Gordon speech made a debate urgent because no minister could sit in the cabinet and make policy statements that were contrary to cabinet views.

The matter couldn't be effectively raised by the opposition in the throne speech debate.

China Backs Rioters

Hong Kong Curfew Lifted

HONG KONG (AP) — China put pressure on Britain today to meet tough Communist demands in Hong Kong, and Communist newspapers in the British colony urged Chinese residents to renew anti-British fighting.

But Hong Kong was generally quiet. The British government lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday in the six-square-mile industrial district on the outskirts of Kowloon where three days of violence resulted in 118 reported injuries and the death of an 18-year-old Chinese youth, hit by a rock thrown from a rooftop.

Of the 389 persons arrested since the outbreak of violence Thursday, 115 have been sentenced from one to 18 months in jail after waiving trial and pleading guilty to such charges as breaking curfew, unlawful assembly and rioting.

The Communist campaign against Hong Kong unfolded similarly to that in the neighboring colony of Macao.

After anti-Portuguese rioting in Macao and ominous patrols by Chinese gunboats, the colonial administration capitulated to demands for admissions of guilt and compensation to victims.

CALLS FOR REPRIMANDS

A Chinese foreign ministry statement handed to D. C. Hopson, the British charge d'affaires in Peking, accused the British of "fascist atrocities against Chinese workers and residents" and demanded punishment of "all those responsible."

Both major Communist newspapers in Hong Kong, Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Pao, said in front page red-ink stories:

"We are not afraid of their concentration camps. They are not big enough to imprison all our Chinese compatriots. We must dare to fight at any time and any place."

The stories were addressed to the colony's 4,000,000 Chinese—98 per cent of its population.

The Chinese note told the British: "The Chinese government and the 700,000,000 Chinese people firmly support their compatriots in Hong Kong in their heroic and just struggle and resolutely stand behind them."

ITEMS FROM STRIKE

he anti-British demonstrations resulted from a strike by Chinese workers in factories that make artificial flowers.

The Communist New China news agency said British authorities had a factory foreman beat up the workers and then sent in five carloads of police in a "premeditated sanguinary suppression of workers."

The statement handed to Hopson demanded that the British government "instruct British authorities in Hong Kong that they must accept all the just demands put forward by Chinese workers and residents in Hong Kong."

HANDLING OF UNREST CONDEMNED

PEKING (Reuters) — Chinese demonstrators marched to the office of the British charge d'affaires here tonight shouting slogans condemning the British authorities' handling of unrest among Chinese workers in Hong Kong.

The demonstration came after China dramatically entered the troubled Hong Kong situation today with a tough demand that Britain meet all the claims of Chinese workers there

British sources said about 50 demonstrators with flags and placards marched up and down in the street outside the British office and the neighboring residence of the charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson.

The demonstration lasted a few minutes, the sources added.

TEEN-AGED CHINESE SMASH BANK WINDOWS

HONG KONG (UPI) — Apparently inflamed by Red Chinese intervention in a local leftist labor dispute, teen-age Chinese youths staged another riot today in the Kowloon district.

The youths smashed windows in an American Express Bank and a post office, smashed traffic signs and lights and put up "wall posters" denouncing the British and praised Communist Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

NEGOTIATORS WORK ALL NIGHT

Expect Agreement Tonight In Tariff Round Haggling

By HAROLD MORRISON

GENEVA (CP)—Amid alternating hope and gloom, key negotiators in the world's most crucial tariff bargaining continued today to search for compromises to ward off the collapse of four years of effort to trim restrictions affecting billions of dollars in trade and millions of jobs.

Canadian officials said the big struggle has narrowed to a straight fight between the United States and the European Common Market with most other world trading countries sitting on the sidelines praying for a final compromise.

The big four of the Kennedy round—the U.S., the Common Market, Britain and Japan—made a brief attempt at a four-way settlement early today, following an all-night session that failed to overcome transatlantic difficulties. They came out of the conference grim-faced without responding to reporters' questions.

Canadian and other negotiators were waiting today for a call to another wider round of talks under the chairmanship of Eric Wyndham White, British-born expert presiding at the tariff talks, but the expected noon call did not arrive. Wyndham White's office said a time for such a meeting could not as yet be fixed.

Canadian Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene, standing by for a decision, commented in an interview that the new wheat pact, hammered out by the Kennedy round negotiators, could fall to the ground if the over-all tariff bargaining collapsed.

He was still hopeful, but made clear that if no agreement could be reached here, efforts would be made elsewhere to put a new higher-priced wheat pact into operation.

The wheat agreement worked out here and awaiting final approval is tied to an international grain pool, financed by industrialized countries to supply needy nations from available commercial stocks. Some of the agreed participants had been enticed by other tariff concessions.

But Japan still held out as a donor participant despite reported high-level direct consultations between Washington and Tokyo.

GENEVA (Reuters) — The European Common Market's chief negotiator said today agreement would be reached tonight on the four-year Kennedy Round talks to liberalize world trade.

Asked at the end of a negotiating session here whether agreement was in sight, Jean Rey replied:

"Soon—this evening."

Rey made his brief comment after emerging from a 40-minute talk with negotiators from the United States, Britain and Japan.

Rousing Welcome For Queen Juliana

MONTREAL (CP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard arrived Saturday night in Montreal aboard a KLM Royal Dutch Airline aircraft on a flight from Amsterdam. They are making a two-week visit to Canada.

The royal couple was met at Montreal's international airport by W. F. Bull, Canadian ambassador to the Netherlands, Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal and a group of other officials.

The Queen and the Prince — in Montreal on a private visit before visiting Ottawa — received a rousing welcome from about 200 spectators on the airport observation roof as they walked across the tarmac to the VIP reception lounge.

Highlight of the visit will be the Queen's unveiling of a memorial in Ottawa commemorating her stay there during the German occupation of Holland in the Second World War.

U.S. MID-EAST POLICY CONDEMNED BY NASSER

LONDON (AP) — Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser charged Sunday that the United States is leading a counter-revolution in the Middle East and trying to inherit British imperialism in the area.

In a message to a Palestine Day conference organized by Arab students in Britain, Nasser said "our other enemies are nothing but subordinates moving in her (America's) orbit and following in her footsteps; they are weak without her, helpless when deprived of her counsel and leadership."

"Britain," he added, "would never remain an hour on Arab soil without American support. Israel could not exist a day without American and military aid."

School Shifts Still Threaten

Two Referendums Pass Easily But Time Short for Work

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

Greater Victoria schools still face the possibility of a shift system in September.

School board chairman Peter Bunn said today that although "everything possible will be done to avoid that situation, we are now in the hands of contractors and manufacturers."

Mr. Bunn sounded the warning in the afterglow of general rejoicing following the solid approval of $14 million in school construction referendums Saturday.

"We shall call for tenders immediately for 26 portable classrooms to solve the pressing problem," he said. "We hope contractors can come up with satisfactory tenders and that the manufacturers of portable classrooms can fill our needs before September."

CLASSROOMS

The classrooms are needed to take care of increased student registration in September.

Without them — and the possibility is real that delivery could be delayed — many schools will be forced to teach in shifts until the prefabricated portable rooms can be erected.

"But we are hopeful that such will not be the case," Mr. Bunn said. "We optimistically did all the preparatory work prior to Saturday's vote and we are all set to go. It's just a matteer of getting the tenders in and then hoping that the manufacturers can supply our needs in time."

In the meantime the board isn't losing any time in establishing a list of construction priorities.

A special board meeting will be held tonight at 8 p.m. to decide which schools get the favored spot at the top of the list.

"It's a matter of sorting out which needs are the most urgent," said schools superintendent Joseph Chell. "The entire list is composed of priorities. Now we have to decide which priorities take precedent over others."

Tonight's meeting will probably be the first in a series of special meeting to hammer our construction schedules.

TECHNICIANS

"There are many things to consider," said Mr. Chell. "Not the least of which is the limited number of skilled technicians in the community.

"There are only so many architects, so many construction firms, so many skilled workmen. We have to plan the work so that the program can move smoothly."

Mr. Bunn and Mr. Chell agreed that whatever problems

Manhunt in Calgary For Girl's Killer

CALGARY (CP) — Police searched today for the murderer of Christine Cullen, 7½, whose partly-clad body was found early Sunday on a hill across the Elbow River from the Exhibition and Stampede Grounds.

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine cause of death but a police official said it appeared the girl had been sexually assaulted and strangled, possibly by a skipping rope.

The girl, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cullen, was reported missing late Saturday night after she and four girl friends went for a walk during the afternoon.

The girls told police they went to a parking lot and then attempted to climb a steep path which leads to what is known as Scotsman's Hill. Half way up they met a young man who stopped to talk to them. At this point, one of the girls fell. The man picked her up and told the others to return home.

The girls said the man asked Christine to stay behind for fear of slipping on the steep muddy path, and he would see that she reached home safely. Christine and the man were still on the hill when the other girls reached the road below.

New Battle Building Up Near Viet Zone

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy ground fighting and severe Communist barrages continued to cause sharply increasing American casualties as a new battle appeared to be building up between the U.S. marines and North Vietnamese regulars just south of the demilitarized zone.

The marines reported 12 dead and 92 wounded in attacks Sunday, and that did not include casualty reports from one of the day's sharpest battles with the North Vietnamese.

Only 27 Communists were reported killed.

In the air, the U.S. command announced the loss of three planes Sunday — matching the number of Soviet-built Mig jets downed by American airmen in dogfights over the North.

One U.S. jet was lost to ground fire in the South, making 179 combat planes downed there since the war began. In the North, one jet was lost to ground fire and one to unknown causes, making 541 combat planes lost over North Vietnam.

HANOI CLAIMS 7

Hanoi claimed seven U.S. jets were downed Sunday.

The three MiGs reported downed brought the American score for the weekend to 10 kills and two probables. The air force announced seven MiG jets were downed Saturday and two probably were brought down.

The three MiGs were downed Sunday during raids four miles from the heart of Hanoi.

SHOWS FLAIR FOR FASHION

Alexandra Arrives, Scores Hit

TORONTO (CP) — Princess Alexandra, stylishly-dressed and thrilling children and adults by talking to members of the welcoming crowd, arrived by plane Sunday to start a 25-day royal tour of Canada.

Accompanied by her husband, financier Angus Ogilvy, the Queen's cousin was met at Toronto International Airport by federal Trade Minister Robert Winters and Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe of Ontario.

She showed her flair for fashion with a tangerine-pink woolen coat. The hemline showed her kneecaps. She wore a matching turban.

After inspecting a 100-man guard of honor of the 3rd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, the princess asked Mrs. William James, a spectator, if she had any relatives in the guard.

"We have—my brother, Staff Sgt. John Martin," said Mrs. James.

Nine-year-old Gweneth Crook of Oakville could hardly wait to get to school to tell her mates "how pretty Princess Alexandra is."

The couple made a private visit to the home of Col. J. G. K. Strathroy, of the Queen's Own, in King, Ont., 21 miles north of Toronto. The princess is the regiment's colonel-in-chief.

Tuesday, the princess will visit the Toronto Public Library with its collection of 47 children's books formerly belonging to members of the Royal Family.

Later, the royal visitor is scheduled to be met by Metro Chairman William Allen and Mayor William Dennison at city hall with a tour to follow presentation ceremonies.

Other stops include a tour of the 57-storey Toronto-Dominion Centre, the Royal Ontario Museum and Maple Leaf Gardens to attend an Ontario folk art festival.

Wednesday, the princess and her husband are scheduled to visit Ryerson Polytechnical Institute to attend a Canadian Red Cross youth concert featuring a choir, orchestra and folksingers.

The couple will leave Thursday, May 18, for Vancouver.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most grain prices were holding to a narrow range in late trading except in oilseeds where hedging sales produced an easier tone.

There were no reports of export business in oilseeds although there were indications that transactions may be developing.

Oats and barley traded along domestic lines. Spain was reported to have purchased a cargo lot of barley.

Rye prices were irregular with May contracts taking on a firmer tone, indicating there was some covering due in this commodity before the contracts close.

The new bonds, to be dated June 1, 1967, were offered in short,-medium- and long-term issues as follows:

The amounts to be issued in the three issues, and the overall tota, will be decided by the finance ministry when allotments are made after the books of the loan close at 4 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

The total, however, will be between $337,500,000 and $412,500,000.

Investment Returns Down

TORONTO (CP) — Capital investment returns from Canadian business fell in 1964 to the lowest level in at least eight years, says the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

The after-tax return that year was equal to six per cent of business capital stock, retained compared with eight per cent in 1963.

This was the lowest return since the bank began in 1957 compiling its capital-at-work series, based on the most recent taxation statistics by the national revenue department.

The series indicates that profit on capital employed had not responded to the economic boom which began in 1961 The average return on capital of 7.3 per cent in the years 1961 to 1964 was less than the 8.4 per cent average for the years 1957 to 1960, a recession period.

Compared with 1957, the profitability decline focused on manufacturing and construction. Mines and oil wells also suffered a downward trend in returns. Capital returns rose, however, in forestry, agriculture and in transportation and communication.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Trading Sluggish

Prices were generally lower in sluggish pre-noon trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

Adera was the heaviest trader again and lost .02 to .80.

Highmont fell .10 to $3.70 and Western Mines was off .05 at $3.90.

However, Grandue was .10 stronger at $4.70 and TC explorations remained active and improved .02 to .70 on 30,000 shares.

In the oils Bata lost 2 cents to $1.48 and Share slipped .03 to .46.

Ocean Cement posted a 62-cent gain to $20.50 in the industrials.

AT NEW YORK the market retreated again late today. Trading was fairly active.

Losses of about 3 points for Du Pont and more than 2 for Eastman Kodak depressed the industrial average. Other blue chips affecting the popular averages were General Electric and Union Carbide, each down a point or more.

The most active issue was American Motors, up a fraction.

Studebaker, showed early strength on news it is holding merger discussions with Worthington Corp.

Anaconda and General Foods, each up more than a point, were blue chips bucking the trend.

Among Canadians traded, International Nickel gained ½ and Canadian Pacific was up ⅛. McIntyre Porcupine fell a point, Walker Gooderham was off ½, Granby Mining and Hudson Bay Mining ⅝ each and Alcan ⅝.

AT TORONTO profit takers continued to slash prices in light mid-afternoon trading.

Brokers attributed the recent slump to a decline in first-quarter profits by a number of major companies.

They said the market will probably continue to stall until there is a general improvement in the earnings picture.

Oshawa A declined 1½ to 37½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce 1⅜ to 72¾, R. L. Crain 1¼ to 46 and Alcan ⅝ to 31¾.

As a result of the selloff declines outnumbered advances 194 to 175 with 249 issues unchanged.

Trading figures continued their dismal pattern and by 2 p.m. only 1,563,000 shares changed hands compared with 2,186,000 at the same time Friday.

Campbell Chibougamau highlighted base - metal activity, jumping 7.05 to 7.10 after the company announced that nine-months earnings climbed to $3,448,410 compared with $1,601,004 for the similar period last year.

AT MONTREAL the market was depressed in light trading towards 2 p.m. today.

Canadian Imperial Commerce led banks lower with a 1¼ point drop to 72&. Canadienne Nationale and Royal each lost ½ at 61 and 82& respectively, and Provincial ⅜ at 47⅛.

MacMillan-Bloedel diped one point to 28¾ and Consolidated ¼ to 41½ in the papers section.

Imperial Tobacco gained ½ to 14¾ and Du Pont ⅝ to 35⅝.

Despite a two-point win by Interprovincial Pipe Line, to 106, the utilities index showed shaded. B.C. Telephone and Calgary Power each slipped ¼ to 68¼ and 22¾, respectively.

Falconbridge Nickel lost ⅞ to 84⅝ and Noranda ¾ to 53, while International Nickel added ½ to 99¼, and Cominco ⅜ to 37⅞.

AT LONDON the market was unsettled today with Friday's weakness in gilt-edged stocks continuing.

Falls predominated in dollar stocks, although a few went against this trend. General Motors, Ford and Standard Oil of N.J. all lost ground, but New York Central put on a couple points.

Among Canadians, International Nickel was down 1½ points. Others moving lower included Canadian Husky, Alcan and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas.

Noranda was up 3½ points and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Hollinger and Massey-Ferguson improved.

Canadian banks were firm, chiefly Toronto Dominion and Bank of Montreal.

$386 Million Deficit

WASHINGTON (CP) — A trade deficit of $386,000,000 in farm produce was recorded with the U.S. by Canada last year.

The gap was identical a year earlier and about $40,000,00 higher than the average for the period 1960-64.

Canada sold the U.S. $240,100,000 worth of farm items in 1966, including $62,000,000 worth of cattle, $53,000,000 worth of meat, $20,000,000 worth of fruit and vegetables and $13,000,000 worth of feed and fodders.

Canadian purchases from the U.S. were exceeded only by Japan and totalled $626,000,000, a gain of $6,300,000.

As usual, fruit and preparations led at $120,000,000 followed by: corn $85,000,000; soybeans $85,000,000; vegetables and preparations $73,00,000; and cotton 930,000,000. In terms of total farm trade with the Western Hemisphere, Canada took 53 per cent of all U.S. exports and 12 per cent of import .

Prospects for 1967 indicate a larger Canadian deficit because shipments of feeder-class cattle from the West have dropped, owing to lower American prices.

Canadian shipments totalled 475,587 head against 560,105 in 1965 and only 183,300 a year earlier.

French Aircraft Firms Plan Merger

PARIS (Reuters) — France's two leading privately-owned aircraft companies—Breguet-Aviation and Avions Marcel Dassault, have decided in principle on a merger, a spokesman for Breguet has announced.

Dassault will take over Breguet, completing a major shake-up in the French aerospace industry which began earlier this year with the merger of the two big nationalized aircraft and missile manufacturing firms, Sud Aviation and Nord Aviation.

CROWD OF YOUNG PEOPLE listen to one of six bands which kept rock music going continuously for Sunday's five-hour love-in. Many older persons came to see the hippies in their bright colored outfits and long hair. Sponsors claimed the love-in was a great success. More than 3,000 attended Beacon Hill Park affair. (Photos by William E. John.)

IT WAS GOOD, CLEAN FUN BUT . . .

Saanich Needs Love-In, Says Mayor

WAY-OUT STYLES, beards and long hair prevailed at the happening. Here two unidentified "mod" onlookers give photographers the once-over. Sunglasses weren't really necessary as skies were gloomy.

By DERYK THOMPSON

Mayor Hugh Stephen tuned in to Sunday's love-in in Beacon Hill Park — but he wasn't turned on.

After a two-hour visit with the local hippies he said he was satisfied there was no misbehavior, that those engaged in the love-in enjoyed themselves — and that by way of a favor, the next session should be held in Saanich.

More than 3,000 attended Victoria's second love-in despite gloomy clouds and a cool ocean breeze.

●

"I saw no misbehaving," said the mayor. "Although I saw a lot of things I'm afraid I can't come to terms with in my experience. It did not try to drive underground some extraordinary forms of expression and how much better to have it in the park and out in the open.

"This is their (the hippies) way of enjoying themselves, but not mine especially."

Asked if he would permit a third session in the park the mayor replied that possibly the next should be held in Saanich.

During the five-hour event the large crowd milled around the Cameron Bandshell area talking and listening to six different groups who provided continuous rock and jug band music.

John Hill, a 22-year-old unemployed heating specialist and organizer of the love-in, said he really enjoyed the afternoon.

He described the love-in as a sort of "people in" to mix age groups and people in general.

"People are out of touch with what we're doing and we're out of touch with what they're doing," he said.

"We want to build up communication again.

"The love-in would bring the public's attention to the fact that these people may look weird but they're certainly not up to harming anybody."

●

Officials became worried when a large group of local motorcyclists arrived and two members climbed to the roof of the bandshell. Nothing came of the event and they left shortly.

The hippies arrived dressed in bright, colored outfits. Most carried burning insense sticks and wore strange jewelry.

Some of the young people danced to the music or sang along with the bands which could be heard over most of the park. Many old persons attended and watched the proceedings curiously.

Cameras clicked endlessly as amateur and professional photographers recorded the event which organizers claim is the first "city-sponsored" happening in Canada.

●

Two energetic "go-go" dancers performed with one of the bands, catching the eye of many of the male onlookers.

Midway through the proceedings a round of applause, encouraged from the stage, was given to Mayor Stephen, who last week gave permission for the park to be used as a love-in site.

The love-in cost the sponsoring "hippies or long hairs whatever you want to call us," between $50 and $60, which paid for the posters, jelly beans, apples and oranges. Mr. Hill said. The money was raised among themselves although most are unemployed.

HIPPIES IN THE PARK

They Love Little Children

By PAUL WILLIAMSON

How can people communicate when they all face the same way?

This was my first reaction when I walked into the love-in Sunday.

For despite the fact the organizers label love-ins an attempt at communication, the gathered thousands were standing in great semi-circles facing the bandshell.

Perhaps the dancing go-go girls were the cause of this circular concentration.

★ ★ ★

But it is more likely the park benches, arranged for the usual Sunday afternoon concert, dictated the design of the observers.

The real love-in was behind the benches.

Freed from the restrictions of ordered seating, the hippies lounged on the lawns, laughed, and chatted with the curious Victoria citizenry who had risked an encounter with a Scotch mist to witness the happening.

Here, the love-in was a success . . . and quite different from the event two weeks ago.

There were the same hippies and the same pensioners. But more important, there were dozens of people in their 30s and 40s, couples whose offspring might well have been there also, hidden beneath the wild hair, the outlandish costumes and the flowers.

★ ★ ★

Even Mayor Stephen was there — the mayor, parents, ministers, and dozens of children under the age of 10.

It was the children who made me understand why the hippies are called gentle, why one can't help but like them.

Watching a smiling long-hair hand a fascinated eight-year-old girl a flower, seeing her face light up, I realized the hippies are the only group of aging adolescents who love little children.

And that IS communication.

YOUTHFUL HIPPIES Sarah Harvey and Jerry Silver appear turned on by music at love-in. The button on the sheaf says "Give the grass a chance". Old-fashioned granny glasses were worn by many.

Girl, 11, Dies After Fall In Playground

She Walked Home; Died 10 Days Later

By DON VIPOND

An 11-year-old girl died in St. Joseph's Hospital Friday night, 10 days after she suffered head injuries in a tumble from a playground slide, police said today.

Bonnie Lynn Bandoian of 3001 Quadra walked home after the fall at Topaz Park but was driven to hospital later in the day when she complained of a sore wrist.

She was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a broken wrist, scrapes on her head and a gash where her teeth punctured her lip in the accident and admitted for observation.

SKULL FRACTURE

Doctors found she had suffered a skull fracture and brain damage. The cause of her death Friday evening was bronchial pneumonia.

Police were informed of the fatal accident Sunday afternoon.

Indications were that Coroner Edmond St. Jorre, concerned with the question of unsupervised playground equipment, will call an inquest but he was not immediately available for comment.

Bonnie was apparently sliding down the 10-foot-high metal chute on her stomach when her foot caught in a guard rail and she toppled over the side to drop on the hard macadam surface.

Gassing Inquiry Possible

Civic authorities will decide this afternoon whether to hold a full investigation of the near-tragedy which sent deadly chlorine gas billowing through the Crystal Gardens on Saturday.

Mayor Hugh Stephen was to preside at a meeting attended by city manager Dennis Young, recreation manager Jack Morgan and Fire Chief Eric Simmons.

They will seek an answer to the question of what went wrong to allow the gas to seep throughout the swimming pool area where 25 youngsters were taking lessons.

First reports indicate a faulty valve was to blame.

While workmen inspected the damage at the weekend, 14 persons who had been detained in hospital overnight Saturday were released.

PLANTS RUINED

Although all persons are reported in good condition, hundreds of plants in the Gardens did not fare so well.

At least 300 pots were destroyed, including three dozen hanging baskets.

In addition, ferns shrivelled up and will not bloom again for some time.

However, the gas does not appear to have affected the famous palms which are virtually irreplaceable.

Said nursery supervisor Horace Lindsey: "The gas damaged all the succulents. Most of them won't recover. And the ferns will look sick for a month or so."

The escaping gas sent 34 to hospital Saturday morning, including firemen and policemen.

ALDERMEN ARGUE

The class of boys, members of Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, were passed out of a window to rescue workers after being cut off from the exit by escaping gas.

Following a statement by Ald. Robert Baird that city ownership of the ambulance had saved the children, Ald. Percy Frampton replied:

"It wasn't the ownership that did it. It was the men themselves.

"No matter what type of ambulance service we had, they would have been there and done exactly the same thing."

Fish Smoked, House Burned

Fire which started in a fish smokehouse caused damage estimated at $1,000 at the home of Richard Lapp, 1325 Lang Street, Sunday afternoon.

Fire spread from the smokehouse and caused damage to part of the porch and to shingles on the side of the house.

The smokehouse is located under the porch of the Lapp home.

VIEW ROYAL TO METCHOSIN

Special Meeting Called On Sewer Finance Plan

A special meeting will be held to determine how sewers can be financed for the View Royal to Metchosin area.

William Reader, who represents Colwood on the Capital Region Board, today said the trustees of local improvement districts and CRB representatives will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school board office at Colwood.

Trustees involved represent the View Royal, Colwood, Langford and Metchosin improvement districts which chiefly are concerned with operating volunteer fire departments but have undertaken other civic services such as street lighting.

The provincial government will not give financial assistance towards the sewer costs which face the unorganized territory despite warnings of medical health officer Dr. John Whitbread of a typhoid threat.

"They told us the province would not help financially at all," Mr. Reader reported after a meeting between CRB representatives and deputy municipal affairs minister J. Everett Brown at which provision of sewer latterals to individual properties was discussed.

"So now it's up to the improvement districts involved to find some method of financing them. This is the only way it can be done although it is not the most satisfactory," Mr. Reader said.

SEWER NETWORK

"If we were municipalities, we would qualify for more than $250,000 of provincial aid but as we are we can't get any help."

He said that if Wednesday's meeting results in agreement by the improvement district boards to levy the taxes necessary to provide a sewer network, Mr. Brown has undertaken to see that the letters patent of the regional district board are amended to enable it to administer sewers as a regional board function.

Austria Eyes B.C. As Investment Site

Premier Andreas Maurer of Lower Austria, who began a visit to B.C. Sunday, says he will hold talks with Premier Bennett on possible investment of Austrian capital in B.C.

Premier Maurer said an Austrian trade delegation met Mr. Bennett last week.

"I am looking forward to discussing possible investment here with your premier," Mr. Maurer said. "But it is not up to me to give details. That is up to your premier, Mr. Bennett."

Premier Maurer was to plant an iris in Government House's gardens here today.

He also is to accompany Lieutenant - Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at tonight's opening ceremony of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Fair in Memorial Arena.

After an overnight stay at Government House, Premier Maurer will fly to the Portage Mountain damsite on the Peace River at 9 a.m. Tuesday and return at night to Vancouver, where the following day he will attend the opening of the B.C. International Trade Fair.

PETITION CALLS FOR VOTE

View Royal Talks Merger Again

A new bid to amalgamate the View Royal panhandle with the municipality of Esquimalt is under way, it was learned today.

Two votes on amalgamation were defeated last year and at that time Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell said a third vote wouldn't be initiated from his office.

A petition asking the minister to act is now circulating in the area.

Although the minister has called for votes in past he is not obligated to do so.

According to the Municipal Act, the minister may call a referendum if he feels the vote is necessary.

The minister could, however, refer the matter to the Esquimalt council for action.

Esquimalt Reeve Ray Bryant said "any action is up to Mr. Campbell."

"If the people of the panhandle want action and if the minister refers it to council, we will give it every consideration."

Mrs. Ethel Rankin, prime mover behind former attempts at amalgamation, refused to comment on the current petition.

China Backs Rioters

HONG KONG (AP) — China put pressure on Britain today to meet tough Communist demands in Hong Kong, and Communist newspapers in the British colony urged Chinese residents to renew anti-British fighting.

But Hong Kong was generally quiet. The British government lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew Sunday in the six - square-mile industrial district on the outskirts of Kowloon where three days of violence resulted in 118 reported injuries and the death of an 18-year-old Chinese youth, hit by a rock thrown from a rooftop.

Of the 389 persons arrested since the outbreak of violence Thursday, 115 have been sentenced from one to 18 months in jail after waiving trial and pleading guilty to such charges as breaking curfew, unlawful assembly and rioting.

The Communist campaign against Hong Kong unfolded similarly to that in the neighboring colony of Macao.

After anti - Portuguese rioting in Macao and ominous patrols by Chinese gunboats, the colonial administration capitulated to demands for admissions of guilt and compensation to victims.

CALLS FOR REPRIMANDS

A Chinese foreign ministry statement handed to D. C. Hopson, the British charge d'affaires in Peking, accused the British of "fascist atrocities against Chinese workers and residents" and demanded punishment of "all those responsible."

Both major Communist newspapers in Hong Kong, Ta Kung Pao and Wen Wei Pao, said in front page red-ink stories:

"We are not afraid of their concentration camps. They are not big enough to imprison all our Chinese compatriots. We must dare to fight at any time and any place."

The stories were addressed to the colony's 4,000,000 Chinese—98 per cent of its population.

The Chinese note told the British: "The Chinese government and the 700,000,000 Chinese people firmly support their compatriots in Hong Kong in their heroic and just struggle and resolutely stand behind them."

ITEMS FROM STRIKE

The anti - British demonstrations resulted from a strike by Chinese workers in factories that make artificial flowers.

The Communist New China news agency said British authorities had a factory foreman beat up the workers and then sent in five carloads of police in a "premeditated sanguinary suppression of workers."

The statement handed to Hopson demanded that the British government "instruct British authorities in Hong Kong that they must accept all the just demands put forward by Chinese workers and residents in Hong Kong."

HANDLING OF UNREST CONDEMNED

PEKING (Reuters) — Chinese demonstrators marched to the office of the British charge d'affaires here tonight shouting slogans condemning the British authorities' handling of unrest among Chinese workers in Hong Kong.

The demonstration came after China dramatically entered the troubled Hong Kong situation today with a tough demand that Britain meet all the claims of Chinese workers there

British sources said about 50 demonstrators with flags and placards marched up and down in the street outside the British office and the neighboring residence of the charge d'affaires, Donald Hopson.

TEEN-AGED CHINESE SMASH BANK WINDOWS

HONG KONG (UPI) — Apparently inflamed by Red Chinese intervention in a local leftist labor dispute, teen-age Chinese youths staged another riot today in the Kowloon district.

The youths smashed windows in an American Express Bank and a post office, smashed traffic signs and lights and put up "wall posters" denouncing the British and praised Communist Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

NEGOTIATORS WORK ALL NIGHT

Expect Agreement Tonight In Tariff Round Haggling

GENEVA (Reuters) — The European Common Market's chief negotiator said today agreement would be reached tonight on the four-year Kennedy Round talks to liberalize world trade.

Asked at the end of a negotiating session here whether agreement was in sight, Jean Rey replied:

"Soon—this evening."

Rey made his brief comment after emerging from a 40-minute talk with negotiators from the United States, Britain and Japan.

By HAROLD MORRISON

GENEVA (CP)—Amid alternating hope and gloom, key negotiators in the world's most crucial tariff bargaining continued today to search for compromises to ward off the collapse of four years of effort to trim restrictions affecting billions of dollars in trade and millions of jobs.

Canadian officials said the big struggle has narrowed to a straight fight between the United States and the European Common Market with most other world trading countries sitting on the sidelines praying for a final compromise.

The big four of the Kennedy round—the U.S., the Common Market, Britain and Japan—made a brief attempt at a four-way settlement early today following an all-night session that failed to overcome transatlantic difficulties. They came out of the conference grim-faced without responding to reporters' questions.

Canadian and other negotiators were waiting today for a call to another wider round of talks under the chairmanship of Eric Wyndham White, British-born expert presiding at the tariff talks, but the expected noon call did not arrive. Wyndham White's office said a time for such a meeting could not as yet be fixed.

Canadian Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene, standing by for a decision, commented in an interview that the new wheat pact, hammered out by the Kennedy round negotiators, could fall to the ground if the over-all tariff bargaining collapsed.

He was still hopeful, but made clear that if no agreement could be reached here, efforts would be made elsewhere to put a new higher-priced wheat pact into operation.

The wheat agreement worked out here and awaiting final approval is tied to an international grain pool, financed by industrialized countries to supply needy nations from available commercial stocks. Some of the agreed participants had been enticed by other tariff concessions.

But Japan still held out as a donor participant despite reported high-level direct consultations between Washington and Tokyo.

Both guards were taken to hospital with head injuries.

The raid was the biggest in London since crooks hijacked a van carrying £750,000 ($2,250,000) in gold bullion two weeks ago.

School Shifts Still Threaten

Two Referendums Pass Easily But Time Short for Work

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

Greater Victoria schools still face the possibility of a shift system in September.

School board chairman Peter Bunn said today that although "everything possible will be done to avoid that situation, we are now in the hands of contractors and manufacturers."

Mr. Bunn sounded the warning in the afterglow of general rejoicing following the solid approval of $14 million in school construction referendums Saturday.

"We shall call for tenders immediately for 26 portable classrooms to solve the pressing problem," he said. "We hope contractors can come up with satisfactory tenders and that the manufacturers of portable classrooms can fill our needs before September."

CLASSROOMS

The classrooms are needed to take care of increased student registration in September.

Without them — and the possibility is real that delivery could be delayed — many schools will be forced to teach in shifts until the prefabricated portable rooms can be erected.

"But we are hopeful that such will not be the case," Mr. Bunn said. "We optimistically did all the preparatory work prior to Saturday's vote and we are all set to go. It's just a matter of getting the tenders in and then hoping that the manufacturers can supply our needs in time."

In the meantime the board isn't losing any time in establishing a list of construction priorities.

A special board meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to decide which schools get the favored spot at the top of the list.

"It's a matter of sorting out which needs are the most urgent," said schools superintendent Joseph Chell. "The entire list is composed of priorities. Now we have to decide which priorities take precedent over others."

Tonight's meeting will probably be the first in a series of special meeting to hammer out construction schedules.

"There are many things to consider," said Mr. Chell. "Not the least of which is the limited number of skilled technicians in the community.

"There are only so many architects, so many construction firms, so many skilled workmen. We have to plan the work so that the program can move smoothly."

Mr. Bunn and Mr. Chell agreed that whatever problems

Manhunt in Calgary For Girl's Killer

CALGARY (CP) — Police searched today for the murderer of Christine Cullen, 7½, whose partly-clad body was found early Sunday on a hill across the Elbow River from the Exhibition and Stampede Grounds.

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine cause of death but a police official said it appeared the girl had been sexually assaulted and strangled, possibly by a skipping rope.

The girl, one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cullen, was reported missing late Saturday night after she and four girl friends went for a walk during the afternoon.

The girls told police they went to a parking lot and then attempted to climb a steep path which leads to what is known as Scotsman's Hill. Half way up they met a young man who stopped to talk to them. At this point, one of the girls fell. The man picked her up and told the others to return home.

The girls said the man asked Christine to stay behind for fear of slipping on the steep muddy path, and he would see that she reached home safely. Christine and the man were still on the hill when the other girls reached the road below.

Dief Blasts Gordon View On Vietnam

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker attempted without success today to obtain an emergency debate in the Commons on Privy Council President Walter Gordon's weekend speech critical of United States policy on Vietnam.

He accused Mr. Gordon of damaging international confidence, encouraging the Communists in Vietnam, stirring up trouble between Canada and the U.S. and opposing official government policy.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux rejected Mr. Diefenbaker's motion, saying the current throne speech debate provided ample opportunity for MPs to discuss Vietnam.

Spokesmen for all opposition parties backed the Conservative leader's appeal for a special debate.

Mr. Gordon's speech, delivered Saturday in Toronto, called for the full withdrawal of Canadian support for U.S. policies in Vietnam.

The speech, Mr. Diefenbaker said, created a crisis in international affairs "of greatest national and international significance," because it reveals a deep enmity towards the U.S.

The Opposition leader also criticized Mr. Gordon for making the speech outside Parliament while the House is sitting, thus creating a travesty of the principle that ministers' policy statements should be made in the Commons.

WANTS TOP VIEWS

Mr. Diefenbaker said it was of the utmost importance to hear the views of Prime Minister Pearson or External Affairs Minister Martin — "whichever one is directing the foreign affairs of this country."

"The expurgated brushoffs we have been receiving" would no longer suffice.

"I take it that what he (Mr. Gordon) enunciated was government policy," the Conservative leader said.

The wording of Mr. Gordon's speech indicated that it was written elsewhere, "by those close to the external affairs department." It obviously was inspired by the government to create a smokescreen around Canadian policy on Vietnam.

Neither Mr. Pearson nor Mr. Martin was in the House when Mr. Diefenbaker presented his motion. Mr. Gordon was in his front-row seat and smiled when the Opposition leader began his attack.

T. C. Douglas, New Democrat Leader, said that while the NDP opposed the terms of the Diefenbaker motion it thought there should be a debate.

Mr. Diefenbaker, reading excerpts from the Gordon speech, called it a denial of Parliament.

Mr. Gordon's reference to "the weakness and corruption" of the Nationalist Chinese regime was a slap in the face to an ally—Nationalist China.

AIDS COMMUNISTS

His attitude on the U.S. involvement in Vietnam "brings hope to Communists in every part of the world," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

The Gordon speech made a debate urgent because no minister could sit in the cabinet and make policy statements that were contrary to cabinet views.

The matter couldn't be effectively raised by the opposition in the throne speech debate.

New Battle Building Up Near Viet Zone

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy ground fighting and severe Communist barrages continued to cause sharply increasing American casualties as a new battle appeared to be building up between the U.S. marines and North Vietnamese regulars just south of the demilitarized zone.

The marines reported 12 dead and 92 wounded in attacks Sunday, and that did not include casualty reports from one of the day's sharpest battles with the North Vietnamese.

Only 27 Communists were reported killed.

In the air, the U.S. command announced the loss of three planes Sunday — matching the number of Soviet-built Mig jets downed by American airmen in dogfights over the North.

One U.S. jet was lost to ground fire in the South, making 179 combat planes downed there since the war began. In the North, one jet was lost to ground fire and one to unknown causes, making 541 combat planes lost over North Vietnam.

HANOI CLAIMS 7

Hanoi claimed seven U.S. jets were downed Sunday.

The three MiGs reported downed brought the American score for the weekend to 10 kills and two probables. The air force announced seven MiG jets were downed Saturday and two probably were brought down.

The three MiGs were downed Sunday during raids four miles from the heart of Hanoi.

Truscott Bill Introduced

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill to grant Steven Truscott an immediate parole without expressing a Parliamentary view on his guilt or innocence, was introduced in the Commons today by Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre). Mr. Knowles said the bill would let Parliament express its will on whether or not Truscott should be paroled immediately.

SHOWS FLAIR FOR FASHION

Alexandra Arrives, Scores Hit

TORONTO (CP) — Princess Alexandra, stylishly - dressed and thrilling children and adults by talking to members of the welcoming crowd, arrived by plane Sunday to start a 25-day royal tour of Canada.

Accompanied by her husband, financier Angus Ogilvy, the Queen's cousin was met at Toronto International Airport by federal Trade Minister Robert Winters and Lt.-Gov. Earl Rowe of Ontario.

She showed her flair for fashion with a tangerine-pink woollen coat. The hemline showed her kneecaps. She wore a matching turban.

After inspecting a 100-man guard of honor of the 3rd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, the princess asked Mrs. William James, a spectator, if she had any relatives in the guard.

"We have—my brother, Staff Sgt. John Martin," said Mrs. James.

Nine - year - old Gweneth Crook of Oakville could hardly wait to get to school to tell her mates "how pretty Princess Alexandra is."

The couple made a private visit to the home of Col. J. G. K. Strathroy, of the Queen's Own, in King, Ont., 21 miles north of Toronto. The princess is the regiment's colonel-in-chief.

Tuesday, the princess will visit the Toronto Public Library with its collection of 47 children's books formerly belonging to members of the Royal Family.

Later, the royal visitor is scheduled to be met by Metro Chairman William Allen and Mayor William Dennison at city hall with a tour to follow presentation ceremonies.

Other stops include a tour of the 57-storey Toronto-Dominion Centre, the Royal Ontario Museum and Maple Leaf Gardens to attend an Ontario folk art festival.

Wednesday, the princess and her husband are scheduled to visit Ryerson Polytechnical Institute to attend a Canadian Red Cross youth concert featuring a choir, orchestra and folksingers.

The couple will leave Thursday, May 18, for Vancouver.

Mister Diefenbaker don't like Mister Gordon meddlin' in United States gov'mint affairs. But he don't like him meddlin' in Canadian gov'mint affairs either.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Trading Sluggish

Prices were generally lower in sluggish pre-noon trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

Adera was the heaviest trader again and lost .02 to .80.

Highmont fell .10 to $3.70 and Western Mines was off .05 at $3.90.

However, Granduc was .10 stronger at $4.70 and TC explorations remained active and improved .02 to 70 on 30,000 shares.

In the oils Bata lost 2 cents to $1.48 and Share slipped .03 to .46.

Ocean Cement posted a 62-cent gain to $20.50 in the industrials.

AT NEW YORK the market retreated again late today. Trading was fairly active.

Losses of about 3 points for Du Pont and more than 2 for Eastman Kodak depressed the industrial average. Other blue chips affecting the popular averages were General Electric and Union Carbide, each down a point or more.

The most active issue was American Motors, up a fraction.

Studebaker showed early strength on news it is holding merger discussions with Worthington Corp.

Anaconda and General Foods, each up more than a point, were blue chips bucking the trend.

Among Canadians traded, International Nickel gained ½ and Canadian Pacific was up ⅛. McIntyre Porcupine fell a point, Walker Gooderham was off ½, Granby Mining and Hudson Bay Mining ¾ each and Alcan ⅝.

AT TORONTO profit takers continued to slash prices in light mid-afternoon trading.

Brokers attributed the recent slump to a decline in first-quarter profits by a number of major companies.

They said the market will probably continue to stall until there is a general improvement in the earnings picture.

Oshawa A declined 1½ to 37½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce 1⅝ to 72¼, R. L. Crain 1¼ to 46 and Alcan ⅝ to 31⅝.

As a result of the selloff declines outnumbered advances 194 to 175 with 249 issues unchanged.

Trading figures continued their dismal pattern and by 2 p.m. only 1,563,000 shares changed hands compared with 2,186,000 at the same time Friday.

Campbell Chibougamau highlighted base-metal activity, jumping 7.05 to 7.10 after the company announced that nine-months earnings climbed to $3,448,410 compared with $1,601,004 for the similar period last year.

AT MONTREAL the market was depressed in light trading towards 2 p.m. today.

Canadian Imperial Commerce led banks lower with a 1¼ point drop to 72½. Canadienne Nationale and Royal each lost ½ at 61 and 82½ respectively, and Provincial ⅜ at 47⅛.

MacMillant-Bloedel dipped one point to 28¾ and Consolidated ¼ to 41½ in the papers section.

Imperial Tobacco gained ½ to 14⅝ and Du Pont ⅝ to 35⅝.

Despite a two-point win by Interprovincial Pipe Line, to 106, the utilities index showed shaded. B.C. Telephone and Calgary Power each slipped ¼ to 68¼ and 22¾, respectively.

Falconbridge Nickel lost ⅞ to 84⅝ and Noranda ¾ to 53, while International Nickel added ½ to 99¼, and Cominco ⅝ to 37⅞.

AT LONDON the market was unsettled today with Friday's weakness in gilt-edged stocks continuing.

Falls predominated in dollar stocks, although a few went against this trend. General Motors, Ford and Standard Oil of N.J. all lost ground, but New York Central put on a couple points.

Among Canadians, International Nickel was down 1½ points. Others moving lower included Canadian Husky, Alcan and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas.

Noranda was up 3½ points and Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Hollinger and Massey-Ferguson improved.

Canadian banks were firm, chiefly Toronto Dominion and Bank of Montreal.

$386 Million Deficit

WASHINGTON (CP) — A trade deficit of $386,000,000 in farm produce was recorded with the U.S. by Canada last year.

The gap was identical a year earlier and about $40,000,00 higher than the average for the period 1960-64.

Canada sold the U.S. $240,100,000 worth of farm items in 1966, including $62,000,000 worth of cattle, $53,000,000 worth of meat, $20,000,000 worth of fruit and vegetables and $13,000,000 worth of feed and fodders.

Canadian purchases from the U.S. were exceeded only by Japan and totalled $626,000,000, a gain of $6,300,000.

As usual, fruit and preparations led at $120,000,000 followed by: corn $85,000,000; soybeans $85,000,000; vegetables and preparations $73,00,000; and cotton 930,000,000. In terms of total farm trade with the Western Hemisphere, Canada took 53 per cent of all U.S. exports and 12 per cent of imports.

Prospects for 1967 indicate a larger Canadian deficit because shipments of feeder-class cattle from the West have dropped, owing to lower American prices.

Canadian shipments totalled 475,587 head against 560,105 in 1965 and only 183,300 a year earlier.

French Aircraft Firms Plan Merger

PARIS (Reuters) — France's two leading privately-owned aircraft companies—Breguet-Aviation and Avions Marcel Dassault, have decided in principle on a merger, a spokesman for Breguet has announced.

Dassault will take over Breguet, completing a major shake-up in the French aerospace industry which began earlier this year with the merger of the two big nationalized aircraft and missile manufacturing firms, Sud Aviation and Nord Aviation.

GRAVE NEGLECT

No Totem for Mungo And Many Ask Why

Something should be done by various groups to provide a suitable memorial for the grave of Chief Mungo Martin, famous Indian carver, who died in August, 1962, George Moore, B.C. museum advisor, said today.

The Kwakiutl chief who did much towards reviving the arts and crafts of his people, and his wife Sarah, are buried in the Indian cemetery at Alert Bay.

Simple wooden crosses mark their graves which are somewhat neglected, according to Mr. Moore.

In contrast the graves of other chiefs are all marked with family totems.

"People who visit Alert Bay during the summer months are surprised to find that nothing has been done to erect an appropriate memorial to the famous chief," he said. "The grave has to be pointed out to them."

Mr. Moore suggested that the Indian Arts and Welfare Society, the museum, the Martin family and interested individuals, jointly undertake to provide a memorial for the graves of the couple.

"Mungo Martin is now a well-known Canadian," said Mr. Moore. 'We should not allow his grave to be neglected. It also should be adequately marked for people to see."

Infant Drowns At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Toddler Jimmy Einarson drowned Saturday after falling into the river behind the motel where his parents were staying.

The 23-month-old child's body was found on the bank of the Somass River a short distance below where he apparently fell in.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Einarson, of Burnaby, were staying in the Cedargrove Motel here while Mr. Einarson worked in the area.

Jimmy apparently wandered too close to the river and slipped in.

He was found by Alberni Valley Rescue Squad.

A Volkswagen Custom costs $1,798. (Maximum Suggested Retail Price)..F.O.B. Port of Entry

Charles Haws keeps the Volkswagen just for the fun of it.

Charlie Haws lives in Toronto at 7292 Topping. He's in the real estate business. And obviously, he's good at it.

One day we passed his garage and this is what we saw. We were curious as to why a man who could afford a Rolls would have a Volkswagen. Instead of just guessing, we went right up and rang Charlie's door bell.

"Sir," we said, "would you mind telling us why you own a Volkswagen as well as a Rolls Royce?"

"No, I don't mind." Charlie didn't leave us out in the cold.

In fact, he invited us inside. He made us a cup of coffee. From here on we'll quote Charlie.

"I bought a Volkswagen when I started in business several years ago, and I have nothing but good things to say about it. I guess I bought it for economical reasons, but after a while, I found it was really fun to drive…well anyway, I got lucky and started making more money than I ever dreamed I'd make, and I figured that everybody is entitled to one big luxury in his life. Mine was the Rolls Royce. I'll admit I got a big kick seeing people stare at it, and wondering who I was…and it was kinda nice parking it some place, and then come back to see a lot of people ogling it".

"But I never did get rid of the Volkswagen. And I'll tell you why. I still get a lot of fun out of driving it…you might say it keeps me young".

"Besides, these two cars make a great balance in my life. The Rolls reminds me how far I've come, and just as important, the Volkswagen reminds me of how I got there. And I really think that's healthy…"

That's Charlie Haws' story.

Moral: Buy a Volkswagen. It will help you save up for a Rolls Royce.
